Jackets rally, trip St. Pat 82 - 73

by Pat Conley

Nicholas County put together a furious fourth quarter rush to storm from a 17 point deficit, defeating Maysville St. Patrick in what proved to be the most exciting game of this early season.

St. Pat came out running and worked a nifty fast break time after time to near perfection. The Jackets could not come up with any offensive rebounding and when Coach Bill Anderson called his second time out with one minute left in the quarter, his team was trailing, by eleven at 17-6. 13 of the Saints' 18 first frame points resulted from fast breaks or fouls committed during fast breaks.

Nicholas County began to roll behind some nice effort on the defensive boards and the ball handling wizardry of Gerald Hatton, whose free throw with 4:54 left in the half knotted the score at 20 all. Just when it looked like the St. Pat fast break was being held in check, the Saints exploded, outscoring the Jackets 8-0 in a one minute span as the ball ended with the Saints in command at 36-28.

St. Pat was able to cash in two "free" points late in the half before Coach Anderson received an official's time-out when he confiscated a whistle from a spectator. The whistle produced a sound remarkably similar to that made by the referee's whistle. The entire Jacket team took a break on one occasion, mistakingly hearing the "cheap imitation" as a SI, Pat ballplayer flipped in a basket for two "legal" points.

The Saints had five ballplayers who could shoot and threatened to break the game wide open with "more fast breaks" and the outside shooting of J.D. Case, Jeff Stahl, and Tim Purdon. St. Pat had amassed a 17 point spread and the game was turning into a real yawner when Bill Anderson sent in a rarely used press.

The press visibly shook the Saints and Doug Fryman and Doug Jones led the Jackets in forcing numerous turnovers as the Jackets closed out the third quarter trailing by only five.

The Sints lost the valuable services of Tim Purdon at a very critical stage of the game and their running game was literally snuffed out when center Jim Shoemaker acquired his fourth foul, forcing him to play a much more conservative game. When Shoemaker's rebounding was restricted the Saints could not "run and gun."

Meanwhile Kurt Kelley and Victor Bromagen were eating Gerald Hatton's assists and converting for scores until with 1:33 left in the game the Jackets had pulled off a minor miracle, leading by seven at 74-67. The Jackets held on to win, 82-73.

Nicholas County offset a nice example of running basketball put on by St. Pat, as the Jackets put together a blistering 75% from the field in the second half. The Jackets were unstoppable in the 4th quarter, sinking a brilliant 12 of 14.

Victor Bromagen and Kurt Kelley combined equally for 18 fourth quarter points. Bromagen was very impressive turning in a 9 for 11 from the floor for the night. The Jackets as a team scored 31 last quarter points and came up with their best game field goal percentage this year with a hot 52%.

Jackets rally

Coach Anderson gave a lot of credit to senior Gerald Hatton who played a magnificent floor game with an incredible 11 assists. Once again it was Hatton and Fryman leading the rebounding with 13 and 11 rebounds respectively.

Coach Anderson summed it all up stating that this was "the first time this year that they have shot well."

Earlier last week the Jackets fell to Mt. Olivet as 26 fourth quarter points weren't good enough to prevent a 67-56 defeat.

The Jacket "B" team won two more, a 43-33 decision over Mt. Olivet and a 38-36 squeaker over St. Pat. Gerald Thompson led with 12 over Mt. Olivet and Ricky Hicks was high scorer with 12 against St. Pat.

BEWARE THESE CHRISTMAS SWINDLES!

For most of us, Christmas is that jolly time when we overspend our budget's bit buying presents for the kids, family and friends. But for a group of slick gyp-artists, Christmas is the best time of the year to work their swindles. According to the National Better Business Bureau, these gypsters extract millions of dollars from an unsuspecting public with fraudulent schemes like these:

* THE CHARITY RACKET. They approach you by mail or phone, sometimes by personal solicitation, asking for contributions to some charity or other. If you've never heard of the organization, check with your local Better Business Bureau or Office of Consumer Frauds. You may find you're being asked to contribute to the bank account of a swindler.

* UNORDERED MERCHANDISE. Something you never ordered appears in your mail box and the company pressures you for payment. This is the easiest racket to fight. Most state laws say you don't have to return or pay for unordered items. In states without unordered-merchandise laws, you don't have to pay for the item unless you use it, and if someone calls for the item in person, you can charge storage for the time you kept it. The best way to handle the problem is simply to mark the package "Return to Sender" and drop it in the mailbox. If everyone did that the gypsters would soon be out of business.

* THE C.O.D. GYP. The swindler appears at your door with a C.O.D. package addressed to a neighbor. The neighbor isn't home, of course, and you're asked to pay for it. Think twice before you hand over any money. The package may contain unordered merchandise, junk or shredded newspapers.

* STREETCORNER BARGAINS. These crooks usually work from little portable stands on the street, and they offer you incredible bargains -- a nationally advertised watch that sell for $100, or a well-known brand of perfume, very expensive. All yours for maybe 80 per cent off. Beware! The watch looks great and may be worth three dollars. The perfume may be cheap cologne, rebottled and with a counterfeit label.

FASHION 'N FABRICS

By FANNIE GLEESON

FAKING IT WITH FUN FUR

You don't need to be Mrs. Midas to enjoy sinking your fingers knuckle-deep into soft coating with the texture of fur. The Fabulous fakes are budget-minded, simple to sew, and beautiful to behold.

They have been artfully created to provide a variety of aining looks. But there's more to them than surface sensuality. Man-made fibers, such as polyester, acrylic and modacrylic, provide long-wearing quality in the face of the fabric. Knit backing is the type of under-construction you want. It provides a more supple, huggable, deep-pile fabric than the tightly woven kind.

The pattern, illustrated is ideal. There are no buttonholes. The raglan sleeves are a cinch. The huge notched collar turns up to frame the face and ward off winds, while you cheer your favorite team. It is equally dashing over a party dress.

As for any successful sewing project, follow the rules. Make necessary alterations in the pattern. Trim pattern margins to facilitate cutting an even edge on bulky fabric. Pin the pattern on the back of a single thickness of fabric. Outline pieces to be cut double or on a fold with chalk or ballpoint pen. Reverse for the other half.

After removing the pattern pieces, cut through the backing only. This can be done deftly with a single-edge razor, electric scissors or an X-acto knife. Do not cut the deep pile surface. This will pull apart neatly.

The next step is particularly recommended for deep-pile fabric, as it reduces bulk in the seams. Called "skiving," it means cutting away. Carefully trim away the pile within the five-eighths inch seam allowances with a small, sharp scissors before sewing.

Next, pin the seam allowances with right sides together using long corsage pins with bright-colored heads. Withdraw each pin as you sew, using it to smooth the pile away from the seam allowance. Use a slightly longer stitch than usual, making it approximately 10 stitches to the inch. Test on a scrap before starting construction.

On strategic seams, such as the shoulder and neckline, stitch pre-shrunk, one-quarter inch twill tape into the seam line for stability and reinforcement.

After stitching, finger press the seams. To make the seams lie flat, catch the edges to the backing of the garment with loose hand stitches.

And here's a tip that will give your handsome fur-like coat the professional touch. Prevent front edges from rolling by loosely hand-basting the backing of the facing fabric and the backing of the outside coat fabric together one-half inch from the edge.

To avoid a bulky hem, face it with a three-inch-wide satin strip or grosgrain ribbon in a color that matches the lining fabric. Satin or cotton sateen are suggested for lining.
