TIM'S AUTO TIPS

Spring is here and it's time to spruce up your car. Try to avoid commercial car washers. They might scratch the paint of your car and take the luster off the finish. Do it yourself and save.

Common sense best tractor safety device says UK expert

Common sense and courtesy are the keys to tractor safety, says an Extension safety specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Larry Piercy believes that safety education is "telling people what they should already know, but making them more conscious about it."

Tractor safety is a high priority of Piercy's at this time of year because of stepped up farm activity. He urges caution in highway movement of tractors as well as on-farm use.

Kentuckians average 30 fatal tractor accidents each year on the farm alone, reports Piercy.

"Anytime a tractor pulls onto a highway, a potentially hazardous situation is created," he says.

Kentucky law requires that farm equipment on public roads have a slow moving vehicle (SMV) emblem, a red tail light or reflector, a light revealing the left side of the vehicle and head lights.

"These rules enforce the main rule of highway safety: to see and to be seen," says Piercy.

He notes that the reflector material on SMV emblems may become dull and should be replaced periodically. Replacements are available at most hardware and farm equipment stores.

If a tractor is towing equipment that is wider than the tractor, a reflector on the left side of the equipment, showing amber to the front and red to the rear, is needed, says Piercy.

He mentions that an especially hazardous situation arises when a wide load is being towed since the operator often cannot be seen giving a turn signal.

"It's ideal if someone can follow a big load, but it may not always be practical," says Piercy, adding, "At any rate, common sense and courtesy when you realize people are backing up behind you. Pull off and let traffic pass."

In general operation of tractors, Piercy stresses the potential for accidents from overturning. A roll-over protective system, either cab or frame, offers protection "even if you do make a mistake," he says.

Over half of fatal tractor accidents result from overturned tractors, according to the agricultural engineer.

General safety tips include:

— Make sure a tractor operator has adequate training before allowing him or her to operate a tractor or other equipment on the road or farm. Only licensed drivers should be on the road.

— Make sure children who operate a tractor are physically big enough to reach all controls. "They need to be mature enough to handle responsibility and emergency situations," notes Piercy.

— Do not allow children to ride the tractor as passengers. "It's so nice to let them ride on the tractor with you, but one slip can mean death," says Piercy. Several children die in tractor accidents in Kentucky each year.

— Use special caution when operating on slopes.

— Keep wheel spacing as wide as possible.

— Always hitch from the draw bar.

— Take cover away from the tractor in lightning or storms.

— Stay away from ditches and washed out areas.

— Keep shielding in place to avoid power take-off accidents.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, forwards, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then strike it off the list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: How does moss start up between flagstones on a terrace? Any way to plant it there?

A: You can plant moss between stones by sodding, much as you would a lawn but on a smaller scale. Moss is rather temperamental, however, and you must have just right conditions – cool, damp and shady – or it won't grow at all. Creeping thyme is a more enthusiastic grower and doesn't need such exacting conditions; it is also lovely and unusual.

Q: What's the best prevention for brown rot on fruit trees?

A: You can use any good fungicide on fruit trees to keep brown rot away, but the timing is important. Spray it on when the trees blossom to be sure the fungicide is working while the spores are airborne.

Q: I am planning to start melons in my vegetable patch this summer. When is the best time to plant?

A: In the case of melons, you must wait until you are absolutely certain of warm temperatures. The ground must be warm. Plants should not be exposed to low nighttime temperatures.
