BANK CENTS By Andy Dudley President First National Bank

The people who sit behind the desks at the bank are just people too. The thing that sets them apart from other office workers in the town is they have some specialized training to do their job, either in the form of formal education or from banking or business experience which allowed them a bank job opportunity. A bank officer like anyone else, has a job to do. He, however, has more people to report to than nearly any other office worker. Should he make a mistake he has to answer to the customer, the bank president, the board of directors, and the supervisory authorities.

I would like to take a line or two and say that our bank is fortunate in having the greatest caliber of people in our employ. We are very proud of each one and hope you enjoy doing business with them.

We want you to know more about our business!!!

New Medicare service is available for deaf

The Health Care Finance Administration (HCFA) has installed teletype (TTY) equipment that will enable deaf and hearing-impaired persons to communicate directly with HCFA staff. The new service is in keeping with the objectives of the International Year of Disabled Persons.

Two lines are provided for general inquiries, such as requests for information and referrals. Those numbers are 202-426-6022 or 301-594-1668.

A third line is available for more specific questions, such as questions about who is eligible for Medicare or Medicaid assistance, questions about payments for or coverage of items and questions about Medicare approved charge allowances. The number is 301-594-9016.

The TTY is programmed with automatic response that records messages so that no waiting is necessary. Callers should leave their name, address, area code and telephone number, date and nature of the call. A staff person will either return the call or respond in writing to the questions as soon as possible.

WHAT'S YOUR ANSWER?

A few days ago a survey about your electrical needs may have arrived at your home and at several other residences in your RECC's service area.

It is a brief, easy-to-answer questionnaire that will provide us valuable information in deciding how much electricity you're going to need in the near future.

Many RECC members have returned this very important survey, but there are many who are still being counted on to send in their responses.

If the results are going to help us to continue planning efficiently for future electrical requirements, a high percentage of the surveys must be returned to us as soon as possible.

The survey is easy to mark, extremely important, and will cost you nothing except a little time. This is your chance to help us and yourself in planning for our energy future today.

Grain export outlook is 'rosy'

The future for U.S. grain exports over the next decade is "rosy," according to University of Kentucky agricultural economist Dr. Larry Jones.

Jones addressed the Kentucky Council on Agriculture Monday on the world grain grain marketing outlook, which includes wheat, soybeans and corn.

"Livestock production has increased dramatically worldwide and subsequently expanded the grain market," Jones said. "There are no more huge government grain stores of grains, and the U.S. is controlling the lion's share of that export market."

The U.S. produces 19 percent of the world's grain crop, and it controls almost 60 percent of the export market.

Of the various grain countries, the U.S. has "no peers" when it comes to corn production, according to Jones, and Kentucky is the nation's largest grower of white corn.

Energy and Agriculture Secretary Bill Sturgill told the council Kentucky's export markets are continuing to expand and the commonwealth is fast becoming a "focal point" for potential foreign buyers. Sturgill said negotiations for a substantial long-term white corn sale to Venezuela are proceeding and "look good."

Council member and tobacco industry leader Albert Clay of Mount Sterling reported on the 1981 burley outlook for Kentucky.

"We're looking for a smaller crop than anticipated," Clay said, "due to disease and the sporadic rainfall. We're now expecting a probable crop of 600 million to 650 million pounds and have every reason to expect the demand for it will be strong."

The 1980 Kentucky burley crop was less than 400 million pounds.

Clay said prices for flue-cured tobacco are good, reflecting the "best crop in four years." Prices have averaged $1.92 per pound for foreign markets and $1.85 per pound for domestic, up 36 cents a pound from last year's prices.

Dumont Gouge, vice president of Baldwin United Corp. of Cincinnati, also addressed the council meeting.
