Democratic Ticket.

For President:
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
Of Nebraska.

For Vice-President:
ARTHUR SEWALL,
Of Maine.

Ex-Governor Buckner comes out against the Democratic nominees. He wants a third ticket.

Dr. J. D. Clardy will be nominated for Congress in the Second District. He is the present Congressman.

The Republicans say Bryan is a Populist because the Populist are for him. How about McKinley and the colored folks?

Chairman Hannah and candidate McKinley are urging Republicans to bring the tariff to the front and thus kill the money question. It wont work.

The Democrats carried the State of Alabama last Monday about 50,000 majority, and elected two-thirds of the Legislature. This is the first gun of the coming conflict.

Republican County Committee is respectfully requested to meet at Court House, Carlisle, Monday, Aug. 10th, at 2 o'clock. Very important that every member should be present.
J. S. Huff, District Committeeman.

One of the most beautiful things of the campaign is the brotherly love and unanimity exhibited by the four Louisville daily papers. If Bryan does no other good on earth, the peace he has wrought in this instance is enough to entitle him to a crown of silver.

The gentlemen calling themselves "Honest Money" men do not seem to think that they are calling those who disagree with them are "Dishonest Mon-...

THE STATE FINANCES.

Some months ago we published an article on the State finances, but it seems that our suggestions were overlooked or purposely ignored, so we shall try it again.

The State of Kentucky is about two million dollars in debt.

We admit for the purpose of cutting off argument that it was contracted during a Democratic administration.

It must be paid.

How shall it be done?

Our suggestion is:

Submit the question of issuing two or three millions of dollars worth of bonds to the people.

These bonds can be paid off without an additional cent of taxation

By using the five cents on the $100 worth of property subject to taxation and now levied by the Constitution.

We claim that the people of Kentucky will vote for the issuing of the bonds.

If they don't, let the debt go unpaid,

And let those who work for the State go without their pay.

The Legislators, irrespective of party, should vote for this at the promised called session.

If they don't, every grand and petit juror, every witness for the Commonwealth, every man who serves the State in any capacity, can know why they do not get their money,

And who is responsible for the continued disgrace.

Sauce for the Goose is Sauce for the Gander.

In 1892 the Atlanta Constitution edited by Clark Howell, Esq., fiercely opposed the nomination of Mr. Cleveland upon the ground that he favored a single gold standard, but after Mr. Cleveland was nominated, Mr. Howell wrote him a letter in which he pledged to him his personal support and the support of his paper, saying "We accept the arbitrament of the national convention." In response to that letter, Mr. Cleveland wrote as follows:

Gray Gables, Buzzard's Bay, Mass.
July 16, 1892.

Clark Howell, Esq.,—My Dear Sir: The receipt of your recent letter has gratified me exceedingly. It has a tone of true democracy about it, and is pervaded with the sort of democratic frankness which is very pleasing. I think the underlying principles of party organization is what you so admirably express as an acceptance of the arbitrament of the national convention. On the other hand it is as fully the duty of one opposed to shut his mind and heart to any feeling of irritation or resentment that might be allowed to grow out of opposition based upon honest judgment and a conscientious desire for party success. I am not surprised, though I am gratified, by the ...

The Open Air Concert.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church are grateful to the public for their liberal patronage of the open air concert, &c. The number who assembled was but a prophecy of the large crowd which would have been present but for the untimely and unexpected rain. The parsonage proved capacious enough to feed all around well-arranged tables, located in different rooms. The provision of ices and cakes was so abundant ...

The assets are represented by an elegant residence in Elmarch suburb, a good, two story brick business house on Main steet, below Pike, and an interest that is subject to sale in a residence on Main street."
