Corn production good, tobacco fair

The Kentucky Agricultural Statistics Service forecasts an average yield of 110 bushels per acre for the 1989 corn crop.

This is based on August 1 conditions and if achieved, would exceed the previous high of 104 bushels established in 1987, and far exceed the drought reduced 1988 yield of 73 bushels.

Kentucky's corn production is forecast at 130.9 million bushels, up 63 percent from 1988. The production forecast is 18 percent less than the record high corn for grain production established in 1985. Acres for grain are expected to total 1.19 million compared with 1.10 million in 1988.

Kentucky's corn crop is primarily in the milk and dough stage of development with early fields denting. U.S. corn production is forecast at 7.35 billion bushels, up 49 percent from the 4.92 billion produced last year.

Yield is forecast at 112.8 bushels per acre harvested for grain compared to 84.6 in 1988.

Burley tobacco production for Kentucky as of August 1 is forecast at 361.2 million pounds.

This is 8 percent above 1988, but 8 percent below the basic quota and nearly 12 percent less than the effective quota. Acres expected for harvest at 172,000 are up 15 percent from last year; however, the projected yield at 2,100 pounds is below last year's 2,235. Burley across Kentucky is very irregular in size and many plants bloomed early. Growers are hoping that favorable August an dearly September weather will be conducive to adding weight to this 1989 crop.

Most producers rate the crop fair with cutting and housing underway. For the Eight-State Burley Belt production...is forcast at 521.0 million pounds compared with 477.2 million pounds in 1988. The 1989 effective quota for the Belt is approximately 671 million pounds.

Dark-type tobacco yields for Kentucky are expected to be down from last year, but acreages increased.

Kentucky's soybean production is forecast at 37.4 million bushels and if achieved, would be 55 percent more than 1988's production.

Acres expected to be harvested for bushels is 5.5 bushels higher than 1988. "Single crop or full season beans are generally blooming and podding and are in very good condition.

Many of the double crop soybeans following wheat were planted late and favorable August and September weather, plus a frost-free October will be needed for a good yield. U.S. soybean production is forecast at 1.91 billion bushels, compared with 1.54 billion in 1988. Average yield is forecast at 32.3 compared with 26.8 last year.

Winter wheat harvest is complete in Kentucky and production is estimated at 28.5 million bushels with an average yield of 50.0 bushels per acre.

For the U.S. winter wheat production is forecast at 1.47 billion bushels, down 6 percent from last year; all wheat at 2.04 billion is up 1.3 percent from 1988.

Kentucky farmers are expected to harvest 2.3 million acres of hay. Alfalfa acres for hay are estimated at 350,000 with an average yield of 3.7 tons per acre. Both acreage and yield are up from 1988 for alfalfa hay.
