Democratic Ticket.

For President
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
Of Nebraska.

For Vice President
ARTHUR SEWALL,
Of Maine.

Hon. Jno. P. Hazen and Judge S. S. Savage, of Ashland, leave the Democratic party and decline to support the nominees.

The Populist and Free Silver papers both held conventions at St. Louis on Wednesday. The outlook is that they will endorse the Democratic nominee.

We do not say it as threat for we care little about it but this is going to be a year when many men will earn a political record that it has taken years to establish.

If the working people the producers of this land want to know why they are so, All the great dailies (except a few) subsisted to nothing if the people want Bryan.

Henry Watterson calls Mr. Hobinson that another ticket should be put in the field. His words are "Another ticket our only hope. No compromise with dishonor. Stand firm."

Mr. Bryan will be formally notified of his nomination in August. The notice for Vice President will be notified at the same time. Conference will take place at Madison Square Garden, New York.

At Lexington last Monday E. E. Settle, John O. Hodges and Jno. B. Carroll opened the campaign for Congress in the 9th district. W. C. Owens was present but refrained from speaking as all Breckinridge failed to put in an appearance.

For years ago when we were hearing Hill, of New York, for President, some folks laughed at us. Now these same folks look upon Hill as the great est Democrat in the nation. Hill will support Bryan and Sewall, as all good Democrats should do. Cleveland will doubtless vote for McKinley.

At a meeting of the Republican County Executive Committee, held at the Court House Monday, C T Watt, of Myers, was elected Chairman of the committee. Mr. Watt is a very deserving party Republican, and the position was an extra good choice

The Democratic Committee of the Fifth district met last week in Maysville to select by the proper method a Democratic candidate for Congress. At the meeting on Monday afternoon we are unable to give much this week.

The old cry that the politicians are running and ruining the country does not apply to the large nominees. The people nominated Bryan and Sewall and it remains to be seen if they will elect them. Bryan served two terms in Congress and Sewall never held any office.

Jesse R McLean of the Cincinnati Enquirer would have been nominated for Vice President had he not declined. He declared himself averse to the idea of holding Cleveland's cabinet and had good reason to be elected on Mr McLean's nomination

The Covington Commonwealth has this sensible advice for the Democrats of Kentucky, and will cease to be an advocate of free silver. It will be an able supporter of Secretary Carlisle and his policy and Arthur Calvert is sound in business manager of the Kentucky Post, will have charge.

It is thought that the campaign lead quarters for the 3 large ticket will be at Chicago. Bryan will make his home at Lincoln Nebraska or Harrison of Indiana. Sewall of Maine. Louisville Courier Journal.

The Star of Empire has taken its westward course, and the people will be brought that all of this country is not in the grip of the trusts. Bryan was nominated from the Nebraska district and who wish to wear the collar of the trusts. Democrats are at liberty to do so. Let them secure to include the great Courier Journal.

It's no use talking about the late Chicago Convention not being the "Democratic" convention. It was controlled by the Democratic National Committee, it was opened by the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, its delegates were chosen by the regular Democratic Conventions, and the ticket it nominated Democratic candidates All the talk about its platform being popular, anti-trust and bombastic will not prevent it from going on record as party ballots under the Democratic emblem, and any third party nominee made by the dissatisfied must go under another name and stand by itself.

The grass and weeds have been cut on the Old Graveyard on North Main street. The weeds were so high and rank that the owner of the cemetery had the laborers cut them recently before observed in daylight. It's a shame to Town.

Which goes to prove the truth of Ex Vice Walker's statement. "How soon we can forget one to our gone." However, it does not matter much. Grass weeds growing over our dust does not disturb them. Evil or secrets to little if the soul is at rest in the heaven. Forgetfulness is a blessing and we are pleased if the immortal spirit is redeemed to the home of the just.

THE NEW CANDIDATE.

Mr. C. O. Stanley, the well-known Washington correspondent of the Courier-Journal, writes of the new candidate as follows:

"Mr. Bryan is an older man than Mr. McKinley. He is better read and better informed upon public questions than the Ohio candidate. On the stump face to face before the people Mckinley would be whipped to death by the Nebraska candidate. The private life of Mr. Bryan is as pure as that of Mr. McKinley. He is a poor man, and it will be a poor man's campaign.

"Bryan will take to the stump. He will speak in every industrial State west of the Alleghenies. He will waste no time in the East. He will fight for the South and West, and expects no electoral votes or assistance from the East. New York, New Jersey and Connecticut and other States find their last of ten gone. Democrats, with the exception, perhaps, of Delaware. He expects to carry the Solid South and the electoral votes from Western States. This would elect him.

Twelve years ago, in the Spring of 1884, Mr. Watterson wrote a series of editorials in the Courier Journal, in which he warned the Eastern wing of the Democratic party for its policy of debasing and controlling everything and not giving the West or a Western man a chance, and he said that some day a split would arise in the party on these lines. Watterson's prophecy is coming to pass, and the nomination of Bryan by the antieastern power of the East

It looks like his prophecy is fulfilled. There is precious little sympathy for the East in New York. Every Democrat is about tired of New York's power. It has forced its men on us every time and by the use of a large amount of money, compelled this party to nominate Cleveland in 1892. The nomination and election of Cleveland in 1892 is the direct cause of the deplorable situation the party is in to-day. Had any character but Cleveland been nominated in 1892, he would have been elected and the Democratic party would not have met the overwhelming defeat it did in 1894.

"Anyhow, his base is a great one. It is the West and South, and it can be expanded by no magnificence. In point of numbers and enthusiasm, it was the greatest political meeting ever held in the United States. What will come out of it, the Lord only knows.

ARTHUR SEWALL.

The vice presidential nominee is not very nearly twice as old as the head of the ticket. He is a man of good business judgment, considerable of physical manhood, carries himself with a soldierly bearing, and is what might be termed a fine looking man. He is a man of medium height, heavy set, with gray, but the wrinkles of age have scarcely made their appearance in his face. He was born at Bath, Me., November 25, 1835. The estate on which he was born, and where he now resides, has been in the possession of the Sewall family since 1750. His grandfather fought in the war of the Revolution.

By occupation Mr Sewall was originally a ship builder and he is now largely interested in shipping interests and in the manufacture of iron. He is also a director in a number of other corporations which position he retained for years. He is a strong Democrat and has been interested in the Bath Iron Works for a number of other commercial enterprises. Although he has for years been interested in large matters of note, he never had any serious labor trouble.

Mr Sewall was married in 1859 to Miss Emma D. Sanford of Bath. They have two children living, both of them married, Harold M and William D. Sewall by name.

He is a thorough Democrat and is in full sympathy with the Chicago platform.

A number of Democrats are going to visit the Chicago convention on the 7th inst. Among the number are Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner who will be sole to be elected Governor of Kentucky if he will accept the honor. He is a perfect gentleman as far as we are personally acquainted with him and we have called Kentucky to the financial legislation of the past thirty years we are willing to trust Gen. Buckner and tried to place the presidency in the hands of the people. We are pleased to see that there is no hope for any man who may differ on one issue or two issues. People who seek to control the affairs of the nation for the multitude, for it. As for it we are going to support Bryan.

SOME OF THE BOLTERS.

The following is a partial list of Democrats who have bolted the Chicago platform and nominees:

The Times, of New York City
The Sun, of New York City
The World, of New York City
The Evening Post, of New York
The News, of Baltimore
The Sun, of Baltimore
The Chronicle, of Chicago
The Evening Post, of Chicago
The Evening Post, of Louisville
The Times, of Louisville
The Courier, of Louisville
The Courier, of Manchester, N H
The Union, of Manchester, N H
The Union, of Richmond, Va.
The Times, of Richmond, Va.

The Democratic Convention of Chicago has put down its platform and declared that the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 is the issue of the campaign. The Democratic party have accomplished their purpose. They have put forth, in the Democratic name, a platform which repudiates almost every cardinal Democratic tenet, and have nominated as the Democratic leader a man whose name will be but recently abandoned the Democratic for the Populist party.

Such foolhardy and lunatic leadership as such a platform and such nominees for the very life principles of Democracy, will open its every Democratic heart and whose conscience by party from a most debasing by their desire to stake in the official seals of party success and whose ability to the views for the advancement of which party is only the instrument. Speaking for these Democrats, the Courier-Journal, whose whole existence has been spent in battle for Democracy, rejects the new faith of fusion, repudiation and anarchy which the Chicago leading class at home and abroad, and refuses to support the candidates of that platform.

We denounce as disorganizers those Democrats who are bent on disorganization. The party is not dead. The party cannot be killed. It is stronger to-day than ever before. It has survived defeat before and will survive defeat again. Democrats who are Democrats in fact and not in name cannot vote for the Democratic party as now organized. Some there are who, confounded by the overwhelming force of the Chicago platform and the platform with which the Democratic party has always stood, will not vote for the Democratic nominees. What are these Democrats to do? Are they to be disfranchised? Are they to be disfranchised? Are they to be disfranchised
