Jailer takes early vacation following an escape last week

PARIS, Ky. (AP) - Bourbon County Sheriff John A. Ransdell has been placed in charge of the county jail temporarily until a deputy sheriff can assume the duties, a shuffling prompted by the recent escape of a jail trusty.

County Jailer Carolyn Scott has gone on vacation and will not return to the jail until at least after the Nov. 7 election, she said Thursday. Deputy Jailer Doug Landon had resigned to take a new job, leaving the jail without its chief deputy and administrator.

Scott's vacation came after Jimmy Warner, a felony offender from Lexington, escaped Monday night. He was captured the next day in Lexington.

Bourbon Circuit Judge David Knox said Warner's trusty status violated a standing order he issued for prisoners in his judicial district. The order prohibits jails from granting trusty status to circuit court prisoners without his permission.

When he learned of the escape, Knox said, he issued an order to begin transferring felony prisoners to the Woodford County Jail. Six inmates were moved before Knox and local officials met to decide what to do.

Bourbon Cnty Judge-Executive Charles R. Hinkle said he and Ransdell proposed putting a sheriff's deputy in charge of administrative security at the jail. Knox said he agreed to the arrangement.

The sheriff will remain in charge of the jail's administration until a deputy sheriff is available, which could come as early as Monday, Hinkle said.

That arrangment will be in effect until the election, he said, when the new jailer presumably would begin working as chief deputy until taking office.

Scott is not running for re-election.

The new jailer will be sworn into office in January. Seeking the office are Democrat Mike Fryman and Republican Jerry Early wine.
