Program for the Great Re-union at Richmond June 30.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1st, 1896.
Editor Mercury:
General J. B. Gordon, Commanding United Confederate Veterans, respectfully requests that you will aid the patriotic and benevolent objects of the United Confederate Veterans by publishing in your next issue date Reunion 16 to take place at Richmond, Va., on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 30th and July 1st and 2nd, 1896, with editorial notice of the organization, or please publish this letter. Also to urge ex-Confederate soldiers and sailors everywhere to form themselves into local associations and apply to these headquarters for papers to organize in time to participate in the great Re-union, and thus unite with their comrades in carrying out the laudable and philanthropic objects of the association.

Yours Respectfully,
GEORGE MOORMAN,
Adjutant General and Chief of Staff.

Midway Bank Cases.

The grand jury at Versailles has returned five indictments against ex-cashier Shipp, of the Midway Deposit Bank, for embezzlement, grand larceny, false entries and false swearing. There are also 3 indictments against Chas. Stone, ex-assistant cashier, charging larceny, embezzlement and false entries. Stone was arrested in Versailles last week, and has probably given bond before this. Shipp was also arrested at his home in Midway, and immediately arranged bond, and was released. The friends of the two bank officers said they did not think the grand jury would indict in any of the cases, but they seem to have been mistaken very badly.

The successful farmer has learned by experience that some grains require far different soil than others. He knows that a great deal depends on right planting at the right time. No use complaining in summer that a mistake was made in spring. Decide before seed-time. The best time to treat coughs and colds is before the seeds, or germs, of consumption have begun their destructive work. Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, promptly cures lung and throat troubles. Do not neglect your cold.

THOUGH the law expressly says that the widow of a soldier forfeits her pension when she marries again, Congress passed a number of bills granting pensions to that class of women. The President vetoed them, however, saying that though he had in a number of instances deferred to the judgment of Congress and refrained from interposing objections to bills of certain character, which seemed to be of doubtful merit, he is unwilling to follow such a wide departure from a palpably just pension theory and assent to the establishment of such an unfortunate precedent as this bill involves.

POPULIST COLUMN.

[This column is edited by a member of the Populist Party, who is responsible for what appears herein.]

John Sherman, Senator from Ohio, in a speech delivered in the United States Senate on the 29th day of May, 1886, made use of the following remarkable words:

"I am willing to take that bill as it came to us from the House, and if it is not sufficient to supply the necessary revenues, let us add a tax on tea, a tax on coffee, or a tax on anything, for as I said on a former occasion, I would vote for a tax on anything; I would take the last shirt off the backs of the people of the United States rather than to violate the public faith of the Government."—[See Cong. Record, p.5,950, May 20, 1896.

This is the man who favors the gold standard, which doubles every dollar owed by the people of the United States. This is the man who opposed the taxing of the incomes of the wealthy people of the United States. This is the tool of Rothschild, and the same whose picture graces the walls of the Bank of England. This is the man the Republican farmers and laborers are following to their ruin. This is the man who is aiding McKinley to be President of the United States, and the one who says McKinley is for "sound money." When Sherman speaks of "violating the public faith of the government," he refers to upholding the gold standard, which will eventually tax the poor man's tea and coffee and take the last shirt off his back, and at the same time furnish "purple and fine linen" for such men as Sherman. The followers of this arch enemy of the people will see long awake to a full realization of their mistake. Bankruptcy and ruin are now staring you in the face. A few more turns at the financial screw and your doom is sealed. "Nero fiddled while Rome was burning." You are doing far worse. You continue to add fuel to the flame that is fast consuming your liberties, and why? Prejudice! PREJUDICE! For the sake of the party! You try to believe a high tariff will usher in prosperity; that a high tariff will fill the Treasury with gold. If you will take time to study a little you will learn that we once had what was known as the "McKinley Bill." You will also learn that while it was in force the wail of hard times was going up from all over the land. You will also learn that when Mr. Harrison stepped down and out from under that wonderful ...

... can instantly coerce and convert the most reckless legislators into the willing servants of a conservative sentiment that represents the real interests and safety of the Nation. It will not be necessary to wait for any after effects of silver legislation to remedy its mischief, although that would be a perfectly safe course. The near prospect of the authorization of the free coinage of silver—a counting of heads showing a certainty of a two-thirds vote in the House and Senate for 16 to 1—would evoke in Wall street the kind of conditions that no Congress has ever yet dared to disregard, and the cause of free coinage would be overthrown at the moment when its success seemed most certain. It is this reserved power on which Wall street is now reposing."

Here is the breathing of an anarchist pure and simple. To go into the public press and threaten to thwart the voice of the people is enough to open the eyes of the people to the fate that awaits them. It seems that to be enabled to revel in wealth at the expense of the people they will falter at nothing. This ought to be plain to the people that dark clouds of oppression are still gathering around them, and it may yet require desperate means to rescue our country from the grasp of tyrants.

COMMITTEE MEETING.

At a meeting of the Nicholas County Democratic Committee held at the office of the CARLISLE MERCURY on the 11th day of May, 1896, to provide for the primary election ordered in this Judicial District, and to select officers to conduct the primary election on the 27th day of June to nominate candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, all the members were present, except Chas. McVey, Jr., who was represented by proxy in the hands of Jas. Mitchell.

Upon motion of Thos. M. Sharp, with a second from Abner Henry it was ordered that a poll be opened in each of the respective voting places in the county on the 27th day of June with the following officers acting:
