CONGRESSIONAL.

For Congress from the Ninth district and year: Allen, J. C., of Fleming; Byron, W. A., of Bracken; Cox, J. M., of Boyd; Hart, Rufe E., of Floyd; Renfro, W. T., of Johnson; Stamper, Henry, of Magoffin; Thomas, J. C., of Martin; Tussey, W. G., of Rowan; Tuttle, H. C., and Simon, J. T., of Harrison; Williams, Monkeye, of Greenup. And the inhabs of the district at large.

A vote in a county economy luxury is exactly what has our income, but it was the only way to get it. Every voter was with whom we came, and his wife solicited their suffrages. Every one of them said that it would be unfortunate to have that in its power to loot just one dollar of our money. Every candidate of course said he had lost not one dollar of our money, and would not if elected by us alone. We can sleep high, wide and handsome as a result of Internal Revenue.

Some of us may think a wife an extravagant luxury, but as a rule we consider them a cheap necessity. If a man should stand for a wife he would probably be mild wonder what a wife was for nothing. We have all the expenses of two rather than here.

CONGRESSMAN PUGH is said will not make a memorandum for Governor, but will have it to the Governor.
