Letters to the Editor

Congratulations on awards and fine sound, Nicholas County Marching Band!

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to the Nicholas County High School Band. I want to tell them how they sound. The "echo" through our beautiful Cemetery sounds just great! When I'm out in the yard, I'll stop and listen to them doing their practice, your wonderful. Keep up the good practice, Nicholas County should be proud of all of you.

Sincerely,

Vietnam: Won or Lost?

Dear Editor:

While on a recent visit to Vietnam, I was astonished at the friendliness, even affection which the Vietnamese people showed when they learned that I had been there as an American soldier. Why this remarkable friendliness there, while here at home our Vietnam veterans can still expect quite the opposite reaction from our own people?

For years now it's been said that the Vietnam War was lost, that it constituted nothing more than a huge waste of life, time, goods, and that from it sprang nothing but bitter fruit of frustration and despair and endless suffering of mind and spirit. About 57,000 casualties fell during the fighting. In the long years since, it is estimated that between 100,000 and 200,000 suicides must be added to the final body count among American troops who fought there. Why? What has driven these good and worthy men to such an end?

What has driven these good and worthy men to such an end?

My sense of this fragie reaiety is that it stems from a deep and deadly guilt which feeds upon a massive misinterpretation of history, officially sanctioned and accepted for years pretty much without question. These late casualties are convinced that they lost the War for their Country. And given the line of thought which has prevailed, what else has there been to believe?

But it this the true picture that emerges when we take a step back to gain a realistic historic perspective of the event? Was the Vietnam War won or lost? And if so, who won, who lost? It's important to remember that the Vietnamese Regular and the American Soldier were never really fighting the same war. His was a continuation of the war which the Vietnamese had been waging for years against a string of invaders - Chinese Japanese, French, and finally, the Americans. He was fighting for his homeland. And although he failed to win a single decisive battle, for reasons we all know and understand, America chose not to exercise its full power and withdrew.

So what about our war, the war of the American soldier? Ourg was a war of idealism. We were told we were over there to stop Communism from taking over Southeast Asia. Well, how many nations in Asia or in the entire world for that matter, have gone Communist since the Vietnam War? Look at the reality which now prevails in Vietnam itself.

It is long past time for us to end the delusion of a war lost and for a general overhaul of American perception of this watershed event in history. We need to open our eyes and end 25 years of confusion and shame. Today's reality testifies mightily that the American sacrifice in Vietnam accomplished its stated objective and that those who fought so bravely there are true heroes of this nation.

It is now time for the pain to end. Lincoln's words at Gettysburg seem remarkably applicable to Vietnam: "It is for us the living rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us - that from these honored dead we take increased devotion - that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain." In Vietnam today, the seeds of personal freedom, and free enterprise, and a better life for all are taking root and growing. I have seen it with my own eyes.

This, after all, is what the American Soldier's War was all about.

StateTreasurer says "claim your property!"

The following piece was submitted and written by Kentucky State Treasurer John Kennedy Hamilton.

During the week of Nov. 10, this newspaper will publish a list of the names of hundreds of Kentuckians who may be the owners of unclaimed property worth over $60 million. This unclaimed property is currently in the custody of the Kentucky State Treasury in Frankfort.

Under state law, unclaimed property is defined as any property belonging to Kentucky citizens for which there has been no owner contact for a prescribed period of time, in most cases, seven years. The most common forms of unclaimed property are uncashed checks, bank accounts, lost or forgotten stocks, bonds and safety deposit boxes contents, such as jewels, silver, coin collections, etc. These are Kentucky's Hidden Treasures - they may belong to you.

I have made unclaimed property a high priority in my administration. The Treasurer staff and I are committed to identifying, collecting, and returning unclaimed property to the rightful owners, the citizens of Kentucky!

The Treasury has identified some 120,000 Kentuckians who can claim their rightful portion of the $60 million in unclaimed property.

The annual published lists of unclaimed property carry only the names of those Kentuckians which has been added during the past year. To find out if your name is on the cumulative list of 120,000, call the Treasurer toll-free at 800-465-4722. Or write to me at the Kentucky State Treasury, Unclaimed Property Branch, Suite 183, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Wants to inform you

YOU MAY BE RICHER THAN YOU THINK!

The Kentucky Treasury Department is holding approximately $60,000,000.00 in Unclaimed Property (money, deposits, securities, etc.) which may be in your name. If your name appears or you are the legal heir to a name listed below, complete the claim form and return to the Treasurer's Department, 141 Capitol Annex, Frankfort, KY 40601 or fax to 502-564-4200. A State Official Actually Wants To Give $60 Million Back To The People Of Kentucky.

(Is This The End Of Politics As We Know It?)

Unlikely as it seems, the Kentucky Treasury actually wants you to claim your share of the state's $60 million unclaimed property fund. Look for your name on our list in today's paper. How's that for government reform?

Come And Get It.

Judge names Nov. 13 Band Day

Principal

Ky., 1959-63; and Wayland Elementary School 1951-1959.

His most recent employment was as principal of Rowan County Middle School from 1994-96. Before that he worked in federal programs for the Rowan a County Board 1992-94; He was principal at Rowan County High School 1975 to 1993, was a teacher at Clearfield Elementary School 1971-75 and a teacher at Farmers Elementary 1969-1971.

Great Lakes Valley Conference Outstanding Official of the Year, 1992 & 1993; NEKBOA Outstanding Official of the Year 1977 through 1982; Who's Who in Outstanding Educator's 1974; and Jaycees Outstanding Teacher Award 1972.

Academic Improvements

Since the beginning of 1975, he has expanded the curriculum to include:

• All classes in science, language arts, math and social studies; and five honors courses in science and English.

• a tracking system for English classes.

• course sequence modifications in the mathematics dept.

• additional courses in all departments.

• a full-time art program.

• a gifted program.

• a choral program.

• a speech and drama program and a speech team.

• a competitive academic team.

• An additional guidance counselor.

• development of computer labs in the math and business depts.

• a media / school yearbook production class.

• new courses in the vocational program.

• A TMH unit to the special ed. program.

• an alternative Curriculum Training (ACT) program.

• an in-school alternative edcaution program.

• a remedial summer school program.

• the elimination of study halls.

• the implementation of a seven period day.

• the KET Star Channel satellite service.

• more National Merit Schools in 1989 than in any other Seventh Congressional District School.

Community Involvement

Much of Rowan County's growth has been due to the increased involvement of the community. Moore's part in the expansion has been by:

• actively working with the community, faculty, students, administration, and board members in passing a utility tax.

• actively working in the planning and construction of the new high school.

• working in the consolidation of Rowan County High School and Morehead State University's Breckinridge Training School.

• developing stronger links of communication between faculty, students, administration and the community.

• gaining community support for competitive groups in band, chorus, speech and drama, academics and athletics.

• implementing Project Prem through total community effort. Approximately 75 percent of the junior and senior clases have attended each year. Prizes and donations have reached the $45,000 mark each year.

Organizational Improvements

Moore believes people perform better when they know what is expected. In order to be more fair, consistent and effective, he has:

Developed a Student Discipline Code, a Student Handbook, which is updated each year; a Teacher Handbook which is updated each year; a comprehensive Curriculum Guide which is updated each year; implemented computer scheduling, grade reporting and attendance; chaired the steering committee for our Southern Association of Colleges and School accreditation; implemented a drug and alcohol policy; procedures for calling every absent student's home; a centralized collection system, which is paid prior to the beginning of school, and computerized the recordkeeping in the library.

Organizations

Moore is a member of the Kentucky Association of School Administrators, Region 9 Kentucky Association of School Administrators, Kentucky Association of Secondary School Principals, Kentucky Association of Middle School Principals, Region 16 Kentucky Association of Secondary School Principals, Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA) Board of Control Past Chairman, Basketball Committee, Chairman, All Sports, Members, Football Committee and Member of the Executive Committee. He is chairman of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA) Middle School Advisory Committee; Phi Delta Kappa, Great Lakes Valley Conference, Mid-South Conference, Kentucky Intercolleigate Athletic Conference.

Bus Driver

aren't much help at enforcing good behavior. However, according to Nicholas County Elementary School Principal Pam Randolph, it is a privilege to ride a school bus in Kentucky. School districts are supposed to provide transportation, but if students misbehave, a bus driver can enforce the rules.

"What usually happens is the bus driver tells the student not to get on the bus in the morning But to have the student and his parents meet the bus driver at the school and discuss things," Randolph explained.

As for Stone's rules, non-use of profanity heads the top, with loud noise another behavior to go. A sub for 10 years before driving the last three, Stone likes his job.

"I'll try to deal with it."

Stone said he didn't write the three students up, but did take their names. If he'd turned their names in to the school, the students would have had to get other transportation to and from school for a period of time.

Last Season Summary

The War Eagles of Millersburg under first year head coach Stephen Seals won 8 games. This total was 1 more win than the previous 11 years (8-336). Millersburg got off to a decent start 6-8 than had a host of bad luck. Their best player 6'3" Jr. wing Jimmy Johnson (24 pts, 15 rebs) had to leave after Christmas to return home and help his mother recover from a back operation. Two other starters had season-ending injuries; JT Marshall broken arm, Ryan Sloan torn ACL. Coach Seals had to suspend point guard Ryan Rainer for disciplinary reasons. After Christmas the Eagles had only 1 starter in the lineup, 5'11" Jr guard Ronnie Willoughby. Willoughby averaged 22 pts. per game and hit 109 3's (which led state) including 10 against Estill Co. (the third highest ever in one game). Coach Seals feels last year was the laying of a solid foundation and this season in 12 years. "Winning 9 games in our first season was a major accomplishment considering our past and the adversity we went through." "I felt John Keezer, JT Marshall and Dewayne Rickerson really stepped it up at the end and can have a major role in the season ahead."

1997-98 Season Outlook

The upcoming season has Coach Seals feeling very optimistic. He has 6 players back, including Johnson (24 pts, 15 rbs) and Willoughby (22 pts , 109 3's). He also has two really good transfers Jeff Lawrence (6' 1", Jr., point guard) from Bourbon Co. and Degaris Collins (6'3", Sr., wing) from Scott Co. Lawrence hasn't played since his 8th grade year but has suprised Coach Seals on how fast he is picking up on the system. "He will come along and by the end of this year he one of the better guards in the region and by next season he may be the best. He can really score and get people the ball where they can score." Degaris Collins came to Millersburg by way of Scott Co. where he started the last two seasons. "Degaris really knows how to play and the reason is the program he came from. Coach Hicks does as good a job as any coach. Degaris really rebounds the ball well and is probably our best play maker. I am counting on him to show our kids how to carry themselves and step up in a big game, coming from Scott Co. he has played in several big games." Ronnie Willoughby is returning for his senior season at Millersburg. He led unbelieveable work ethic and comes ready every day. With better players around hime he will develop into a very fod wing. He had to cvarry the load last year, especially toward the end, but
