The Ministerial Association

by Jason Carpintero, Carlisle Methodist Church

Becoming a doer of the Word. So many Christians are content to sit on the sidelines, listening, watching, experiencing the fullness of the Christian life vicariously through others. What I am about to say is going to get me in trouble, but it won't be the first time. One of the growing trends in today's churches is to be more entertained by flamboyant preachers. Listen, I am in no way trying to minimize, judge, or criticize what other ministries are doing. My Bible says that we need to be united, support one another, and God is working through many different types of instruments. The point I want to make is that the people of God have gotten very fat and lazy with all of the Christian celebrities, the Christian entertainment that our culture has produced. Again, there is nothing wrong with producing the finest quality radio, television, movie, and stage productions to help share the message of Christ. The point I am trying to get across is that it has made too many of God's people lazy and more comfortable sitting on the sidelines watching, which was never God's plan.

I am a big believer in education. In listening to God's anointed teachers of the Word to learn all we can. But while we are hearing the Word, we also must be doing the Word. All of the commands in the Gospels, the Book of Acts, Paul's letters, and the other New Testament writings were to be active participants in our faith. Helping others, witnessing, teaching new believers. But God gave grace to His people to be active DOERS of the Word, not idle bystanders. He has called each of us to follow him.

That does not mean you have to quit your job and become a missionary to a third-world country, or sell everything to start a ministry. God may call you to do that. However, for most of His children, He has called you to serve Him exactly where you are today. It is no accident you live where you live, go to school where you do, work where you do, recreate and shop where you do. God has placed you there strategically to be a light to others. The most effective way we can serve God is in our normal day to day life. Letting our Godly-lifestyle be a living testimony to those we come in contact with. Helping those around us in a time of need. Getting involved in projects and ministries through your local church, which ever one that may be..

I will be praying for you today, that these words will cause you to stop and reflect on your life. Ask yourself if you are on the sidelines, or are actively living the Christian life God has called you to live. Take inventory today of whether you are not only hearing the Word, but DOING the Word.
