Not Good Documents.

[Lexington Leader.]

Green Keller, the able editor of the CARLISLE MERCURY, and a party wheel horse for a quarter of a century, does not propose to have any one say he jumped out of the Democratic traces simply because the Goebel machine slaughtered him in the late State convention.

He hoists the Goebel ticket to the head of his editorial columns and calls on "every Democrat who believes in fraud and every other form of vice in politics to join in giving the ticket a hearty support."

Keller says he is fully aware THE MERCURY is "committing a sin against all decency and honor," knowing that the result at Louisville was reached by "fraud, lying and treachery," but its party loyalty compels it to submit to the edict of the convention.

The Leader fears that Editor Keller's exhortation to the Democracy will not be used as a campaign document by the Goebel organization.

For Over Fifty Years.

Capt. Stone's Statement.

Capt. Stone's signed statement to the representative of the Cincinnati Post is as follows:

"We met and Goebel stated that he had informed Judge Redwine that the latter was to be the Permanent Chairman of the Convention. He disliked for him to be disappointed. He declared that if I would agree that the temporary organization should become permanent he would agree that every vote of the city of Louisville and all of his vote in the convention should be cast for me, and thus make me the nominee of the convention.

"He said he had votes enough to make either Gen. Hardin or myself the nominee; that he preferred to make me the nominee. He declared that he would not fail to give me the votes. I informed my friends of this agreement and pledge.

"On Saturday, when Gen. Hardin withdrew his name, my friends demanded that Goebel keep his pledge to me. Some of my friends and some of his own friends went to him and demanded that he keep his agreement made Friday. Goebel came across the stage to where I was seated and asked me that if I were nominated and elected, would I allow him to name two persons to fill places that I would have the power to fill. I told him I would.

"Goebel asked me if I would agree to put the pledge in writing. I told him that it was not necessary, as I always kept my word, and would do it in that instance. He asked me to wait until he could consult with his friends. I said: 'No, keep your pledge to me now, and give me the votes that you promised me and thus make me the nominee.' He said: 'I'll do it. Wait until I can walk over to the other side of the stage, and I'll be back immediately.' He left me and never returned."

Will Not Support Goebel.

In a two column article in The Louisville Dispatch, Judge Beckner, of Winchester, says he cannot support Mr. Goebel and concludes as follows:

"I write to avow boldly and openly that there is at least one American citizen who loves his country more than he does party regularity, and who cannot be duped by specious promises or forced by any partisan feeling or personal consideration to do what his conscience and his judgment, reinforced by much reading and experience, persuade him would be in the highest degree detrimental to the loftiest and best interests of the dear old commonwealth. W. M. BECKNER."

Only Thirty and Gray

How is this? Perhaps sleepless nights caused it, or grief, or sickness, or perhaps it was care. No matter what the cause, you cannot wish to look old at thirty. Gray hair is starved hair. The hair bulbs have been deprived of proper food or proper nerve force.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Increases the circulation in the scalp, gives more power to the nerves, supplies missing elements to the hair bulbs. Used according to directions, gray hair begins to show color in a few days. Soon it has all the softness and richness of youth and the color of early life returns. Would you like our book on the Hair? We will gladly send it to you.

Write us!

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the Vigor, write the doctor about it. He may be able to suggest something of value to you. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

It is probable that William Jennings Bryan will be invited to Kentucky this Fall to make a series of speeches in behalf of the Democratic State ticket. Mr. Bryan has always shown a great interest in the welfare of the party in this State, and it is thought that he will consent to come. The invitation will be extended him through the new State Central Committee. Mr. Goebel and the others on the ticket will take the stump this Fall, and many who were leaders of Hardin and Stone in the convention will speak for the nominees.—[Courier-Journal.

THE semi-annual statements of the Paris banks show that there is an abundance of money in that city. The Agricultural bank declared a dividend of 5 per cent; Deposit, 4 per cent; Bourbon 4 per cent; Citizens, 3 per cent. The banking firm of Geo. Alexander & Co. added $3,000 to the bank's surplus account.

Hotel Gossip.

[In Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Mr. Frank H. Adair, of Carlisle, Ky., was at the Emery. He has been making a tour through the hard-wood timber regions of this country, with a view to the problem of supply and demand. He said:

"I have been in touch for some time with the lumber trade, both for home and foreign consumption, and I believe that a remarkable situation confronts the manufacturers of this country to-day, and it turns on this question of supply and demand in lumber, especially that known as hard wood. The demand now is far in excess of the supply, and as one looks into the future and reflects that the demand is hourly increasing, and that the supply cannot be maintained it develops an interesting, if not alarming, situation. The great white pine forests of our Northern States are practically cleaned up. Indiana, once the great hardwood State, is now a back number. The South has been worked for years and shows signs of exhaustion. The best has been taken from the Arkansas and Mississippi regions, and now such woods as oak, ash, poplar, cherry, red birch, hickory, walnut, etc., are largely represented by some three or four favored regions of the South, and it is easy to indicate the several territories that control to-day, and will continue to control to the end the hard-wood industry of this country.

"The demand for quartered oak and staves is eating up our oak forests like wildfire. The item of barrels for the Standard Oil Company and the Whisky Trust, aggregating many millions, will alone severely tax the stave producers.

"Poplar has for years been a favorite, and perhaps no timber runs into lumber so rapidly, owing to its great girth and height. Now the demand cannot be met. It was only a few years ago considered inexhaustible, but now mills are being located to work off the inferior poplar trees that were not considered worth sawing a few years ago. The conditions account for the activity ...

No Good to Disguise.

It will do no good to attempt to disguise the fact of the real political situation in Scott county at the present time. There is more than the usual disaffection which follows a heated contest. Outside of the original Goebel following there is but little enthusiasm for the ticket nominated at Louisville. Time may heal the wounds in many instances, and bring the disaffected to the support of the ticket, but the result cannot be brought about by abuse.—[Georgetown Times.

DON'T BE HASTY.

[Winchester Sun.]

Like children crossed at play, some of our good Democratic friends here and elsewhere, are threatening to gather up their doll-rags and quit because the outcome of the Louisville convention does not suit them. This is contrary to the true spirit of devotion to the principles for which we contend, and we earnestly counsel more considerate, more conservative action in the premises. There were three candidates for the nomination for Governor. Themselves and their friends battled for the supremacy of each. It cannot be denied that the course pursued was common to all political conventions—with the contest narrowed down to a delegated representation of the State, the fight waged within the ranks of the delegates, regardless of their instructions. That's politics. The candidates entered with the full knowledge that two of the three must go down in defeat. As a foregone conclusion only one survived. Whether that was a survival of the fittest is a question with which we have nothing now to do. The head of the ticket was named and endorsed by the convention; the whole ticket, which taken altogether is a most excellent one, has the endorsement of the State Democratic Convention behind it, and is one that good Democrats can afford to support. This fight concerns us not only to-day, but for the future; not only in the State of Kentucky, but throughout the nation for the cause of Democracy and the people ...

... a Summer is correspondingly decimated; if a State is lost there is one State less to swell the triumphal column.

The time is at hand when we should buckle on our armor thrice strong and battle for the cause for which true Democracy stands, looking beyond the trifling disappointments of minor conflicts to the great battle for William J. Bryan, free silver and the utter annihilation of all the iniquities for which the Republican party stands.

That Race For Auditor.

[Lexington Leader.]

One very peculiar after rumor of the Louisville convention is that in the event of Democratic success this Fall Mr. June Gale, of Owen county, is to be appointed Insurance Commissioner in return for aiding in the defeat of Mr. John B. Chenault, of Madison, for the Auditorship by Mr. Gus Coulter, of Graves county.

In the beginning of the canvass it is well known that Mr. Gayle and Mr. Chenault formed a combination between themselves and at the same time with Gen. Hardin by which the canvassing of the State was divided between them.

This combination was maintained until the assembling of the convention. Then it became evident that the agreement between Messrs. Gayle and Chenault was rapidly dissolving, and when Madison county cast its solid vote for Judge Redwine for temporary chairman this agreement was a thing of the past.

Then it was understood that Messrs. Coulter and Chenault had joined forces and were to divide the spoils of the Auditorship and Insurance Commissionership.

These two gentlemen in the end were left to fight it out between themselves. Owen's vote was cast for Coulter and Chenault lost.

At the time it was generally supposed that this run-out by Coulter was in the nature of a blind, but a prominent local Goebel follower ...

Destroyed by Fire.

The large poultry house of S. Renaker's near the Cook distillery, together with its contents consisting of about 4,000 bushels of blue grass seed, several hogs, 300 bushels of corn and a road cart, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning about two o'clock.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but owing to the fact that the blue grass seed was not thoroughly cured it is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion. Notwithstanding the building was outside of the city limits the fire company responded promptly to the alarm and did efficient work in preventing the spread of the flames to the adjacent buildings. The fire had gained considerable headway but all of the surrounding buildings were saved except a small buggy shed. The loss is estimated to be between $4,000 and $5,000 and is partially covered by insurance. Mr. Renaker, who is out of the city, has been notified of his loss and will probably arrive home today.

The blue grass seed belonged to Messrs. Renaker, D. B. Veach and Wm. Kendall.—[Cynthiana Times, July 6th.
