WORLD-WIDE MISSIONS

As Set Forth in the New Testament.

And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me (John xii. 32.)

After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands; and cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb (Rev. vii. 9, 10.)

I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise, and to the unwise (Rom. i. 14.)

And he is the propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world (I John ii. 2.)

I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life (John viii. 12.)

And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come (Matt. xxiv. 14.)

God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life (John iii. 16.)

That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Jesus Christ; that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith (Gal. iii. 14.)

Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree (Gal. iii. 13.)

Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him (Acts x. 35.)

To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God (Eph. iii. 10.)

For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

Perhaps you have made up your mind to take this summer. Then look for this picture on the wrapper, a man with a big fish on his back.
Do not let anyone talk to you of something "just as good."
When you want cod liver oil and the hypophosphites you want the very best. You will find them in only one place, Scott's Emulsion.
There is no other emulsion like it; none other does the same work; and no other has the same record of cures.
All Druggists, 50c. and $1.

The Little Curate

Nancy was silent. She was vaguely but sorely disappointed in her lover. He was not exactly the hero she had dreamed of. How white and shaky he had turned!

"You surely did not expect me to take part in a street row, Nancy?" he said, presently, somehow suspecting her thoughts. He knew her romantic ideas. But she made no reply.

"I don't think your cloth is any excuse, anyhow," she blurted out, suddenly and cruelly; the next instant she was filled with shame and regret. Before she could speak again, however, the curate had lifted his hat and was crossing the street. An icy "Good-by" was all he had vouchsafed her.

Mr. St. John was returning from paying a visit of condolence some distance out of the village, and he had taken the short cut across the moor. It was a clear summer afternoon, a week since his parting with Nancy. A parting in earnest it had been, for the days had gone by without meeting or communication between them. The curate was a sad young man, though the anger in his heart still burned fiercely. To have been called a coward by the woman he loved was a thing not lightly to be forgotten. His recent visit, too, had been particularly trying. In his soul he felt that his words of comfort had been unreal; that, for all he had striven, he had failed in his mission to the bereaved mother. So he trudged across the moor with slow step and bent head, giving no heed to the summer beauties around him.

He was about half way home when his somber meditations were suddenly interrupted. A man rose from the heather, where he had been lying and stood in the path, barring the curate's progress.

"Now, Mister Parson," he said, with menace in his thick voice and bloated face.

"Good afternoon, my man," returned St. John, recognizing the brute of a week ago, and turning as red as a turkey cock.

"I'll 'good afternoon' ye, Mister Parson! No! Ye don't pass till I'm done wi' ye," cried the man.

COLON'S CAT DEAD.

Distinguished Feline Taken from Admiral Cervera's Flagship and Named After Him.

Cervera is dead. Not the Spanish admiral, but the cat—one of the cats from the Cristobal Colon, and with it goes the chief pride and glory of the New York cat show. The tug Right Arm, of the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking company, visited the Colon 26 days after the battle of Santiago for the purpose of raising the Spanish cruiser. The only living thing aboard was a black and white cat. The crew of the Right Arm took possession of the cat, adopted it as a mascot, and named it Tomas Cervera. But Cervera brought ill-luck. When Lieut. Hobson raised the Maria Teresa the rescued cat was placed aboard to be brought to America. The Maria Teresa never reached these shores, and when the vessel grounded off the Bahamas the cat fell into the hands of the...

THE BLACK DIAMOND

Is Said to Be a Certainty.

Most of the Black Diamond Railroad officials from five States departed for their homes yesterday delighted with the result of Tuesday's meeting, which was satisfactory to them in every respect. Col. Albert E. Boone and Hon. William Kirkby remained over to close up some matters of detail. Mr. Kirkby, who is President of the Tennessee Construction Company, will be made President of all the construction companies...

Riley Grannan Will Try His Luck Abroad.

New York, March 16.—Riley Grannan has sprung a decided surprise on Eastern horsemen and the outside followers of the sport around the metropolitan circuit. When he was first reported recently through the columns of the Jockey Club there was general rejoicing among the bettors, as they figured that his reappearance would lead to a broadening of the quoted odds which prevailed last year. The class generally described as "pikers" looked forward confidentially...
