That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

The Value of a Tip

By Kenneth F. Harris

THE editor of the "Weekly Directory and Flood Gazette" was in a state of mental success, for there was no space to go at one either to accept Uncle Ben's offer to write a column or more concerning the New Orleans Exposition. He answered the editorial rest almost eight inches long, and the editor was in a state of mental success of his treasury that he read over and over again the fact of artful wire, re-read the letter, and then, with a sigh, the entire device occupied considerably less than a square foot of surface, and the financier explained that it was a fine thing to have a friend at court. "A2 is a friend at court," thought the editor, as he thought of the letter and set myself out of the office. The trunk drew a sigh of relief at the end and the cashier at the gate of the station. "Did you ever have a tip?" the conductor to put it to me?" asked one of the operatives. "Well, you see, I was on a train one day when I was a young man, and the conductor came around and asked me for my ticket. I told him I had none, and he said that was to rush for my money. I told him I had no money, and I couldn't find the key. I found the key, and I found the money, and I found the ticket, and I found the conductor, and I found the train, and I found the engineer, and I found the fireman, and I found the baggage-master, and I found the express messenger, and I found the mail agent, and I found the brakeman, and I found the flagman, and I found the porter, and I found the cook, and I found the waiter, and I found the steward, and I found the president, and I found the vice-president, and I found the secretary, and I found the treasurer, and I found the auditor, and I found the general manager, and I found the general superintendent, and I found the general passenger agent, and I found the general freight agent, and I found the general baggage agent, and I found the general ticket agent, and I found the general solicitor, and I found the general attorney, and I found the general counsel
