What Kissing Is.

Kissing is a noun, it is a motor; proper noun because it's proper thing to do when they are newlywed. the heart is willing; plural number because it takes two to produce it; common gender, because it is performed by one of each sex; possessive case, because it possesses a de facto interaction for the human race and concerns it in all its parts.

Kissing is the act of two persons coming together with their lips, touching each other gently, meeting a kiss that is highly enjoyed by two green-horns who have reached lungs to perform the act with. In the case less mouse one kiss, tolerable mouse kiss, abortion mouse a number of kisses, horrible mouse to be caught kissing by the old folks, merciless mouse to steal a kiss, without consent to have the kiss instead of the lips, blunderbuss mouse to kiss an old maid by mistake, and unconscious mouse kiss all present, including your mother-in-law.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured more cases of female weakness, irregularity, prostration and kindred troubles than any other medicine sold through druggists. It's the only medicine for women, sold in this way, or that can show such a record of unfailing cures. Its makers know that it contains just the right ingredients to cure all the ailments peculiar to women, and they are willing to tell you what they are. Every bottle has a full list of all the ingredients printed on its wrapper. Any one can read them. Any one can see that they are all vegetable, and that no alcohol enters into the "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Here is a five-franc piece," said the old gentleman, "now have a jolly good time and spend it."

The old gentleman's generosity was to be murmured his thanks to his benefactor, but he was choked by a throng of strangers. "Think of me sometimes," said the old man, as he sprang to his cars all through that glorious night, and when he left the Folies Bergere at 4 o'clock in the morning his completion and honest him upset the wishes of the whole of the theatre.

Next day the old gentleman returned to his native town. He was received with cheers and given the freedom of the city. All he had learned about the Parisians was that they were a fine people and could follow the old example with a waiting carriage. The thought was overpowering. He felt that he would never see her again.

Then he met her. She was the hostess on the other bank, and it was all off. It was one of the ladies which was given the privilege of accompanying the old gentleman to the station.
