Editorial Correspondence.

FRANKFORT, KY., MAR. 11th, 1902.

Dear Mercury:

We have nothing of interest for our readers this week, but we will try and give an account of the doings of the Legislature in our next issue. Everything is moving along smoothly, except every member wants his pet measure to be brought forward.

The Legislature of 1902 will soon be a thing of the past, with the exception of what has been and what should have been done—and that is a matter of talk and execution. G. R. K.

Legislative.

The Senate has killed the capital removal bill.

The Farris anti-cigarette bill met defeat by a vote of 18 to 12, after several amendments were adopted.

The County-unit local option bill was defeated in the Kentucky Senate Wednesday, Senator Kenton, of this district, voting against the bill.

At Frankfort the House passed the Senate Bill prohibiting employment of children under 14 in mines or factories except by consent of the parents and the County Judge. Children of widows are exempted.

The Senate passed the bill empowering the Auditor to appoint the Assistant Attorney General, which gives Mr. Pratt a Democrat assistant.

The grand jury of Franklin county has indicted Frank Cecil, of Bell county as an accessory to the Goebel murder. He has disappeared from his home and cannot be found.

With one vote to spare, the Revenue Bill passed the House Monday. Under the Constitution it had to receive fifty-one voters, and it received fifty-two while twenty-three voted against it. Nineteen of those were Republicans and four were Democrats.

Ragland Oil Fields.

On Monday afternoon last, A. B. Tilton, Claude M. Campbell, Dr. W. H. Martin and Jno. I. Williamson went to the Ragland Oil Fields to investigate the leases recently made there by the Ragland Oil Company of Carlisle. They went by the way of Owingsville and examined the title to the lands upon which the company has secured a lease, and found the titles in satisfactory condition, and immediately went on to the Ragland Oil Fields. They returned late Tuesday night. The development of this field is being rapidly pushed. Quite a number of wells have been sunk and others are being bored as rapidly as possible. Oil is being pumped day and night from twelve wells into a huge tank, and the wells have for a period of about twenty-four days now yielded an average of upwards of sixty barrels of oil per day.

Wells have been sunk on three sides of the lands leased by the Ragland Oil Company and within a short distance of that Campany's lands, and oil has been found in paying quantities in every instance. The oil experts on the field say that the wells are stronger as they approach the lands of the Ragland Co., and a well is now being sunk within about two hundred and fifty yards of this Company's land with every indication of striking oil. The company feels very much encouraged over the outlook and will push the development of its lands at once. Wells are being put down on an average of three or four to the acre, and even at a very moderate figure the holdings of the Ragland Company will produce a handsome profit on the capitalization.

This Company is incorporated under the laws of this State at a capital stock of $10,000, but we understand it is the purpose of the incorporation to increase the capital stock as soon as oil is struck on their lands. The Company incorporated at only $10,000 in order to avoid the heavy State organization tax which is in proportion to the amount for which the corporation is capitalized. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Tilton are not interested in the Company at present, but went along to investigate for themselves and others.
