New Home Furnishings.

The manufacturers of window shades are beginning to fall in line with the present liking for decorative effects, and the home keeper who if either perfectly artistic or perfectly plain can find what she wants in shades and window draperies.

The landscape shade is unquestionably the most popular kind of window shade, though it is now said in a subdued manner. Hall transom and door lights are of course given subdued, with a conventional design in gold applied. A fine example, seen in a recently furnished house, shows a straight top valance of rose green velours, with a conventional design in gold applied. A long piece of rose green and dull gold silk is used for the side drapery, and is carried up under the valance at either side, the middle portion being drawn in a bunch over the valance in front. The window shade is of the same rose green velours, with the valance and the shade, also, are scored. The conventional of the curtain and the shade and of the valance are finished with gold fringe. The shade is fastened to the brass pole by brass rings.

A new house feature, curtain decoration, is developed in Madras, whose prevailing

PSYCHONIA Can Be Prevented.

Colds always result from a chill or an attack of the grip and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy has extensively used during the epidemics of la grippe of the past few years and in every case has often been reported that did not forever effectually prevent the disease. It can always be relied upon. For sale by P. F. Baird, druggist.

DO NOT EXPECT MIRACLES.

If a cold, long neglected, or improperly treated, is relieved even by the most powerful remedy, you cannot shake it loose in a day. Nature must have time to act, and in a reasonable time get rid of it. Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy of this kind. Ely's Cream Balm is nothing like this honest remedy. Hog's Head Cheese.

An old fashioned dish and one much relished by high strung is hog's head cheese and it is not to be despised by those who like the flavor at any market. Take three hog's heads, scrape them over the fire and scald, and the hairs so loose that you can pull them out. Wash the ears clean, and see that the eyes are well cut out. Put the heads in a kettle with enough water to cover them, and boil until the meat will slip from the bones. Chop the meat fine, season with pepper, salt and spices. Spread in a deep dish, and when cold turn out on a dumpling. Put it under a weight and when cold slice. Some like a little vinegar when they eat it.

Fearful Mortality.

The Missouri Pacific Railway has compiled statistics showing the mortality among car workers between St. Louis and Kansas City during the month of January, by which arrangement they have been furnished with a physician and surgeon at each of the division points between the two cities, with a resident physician at each terminal. The mortality among car workers during the month of January was as follows: Missouri Pacific to Pueblo, D. E. & R. G. to Grand Junction, Colorado, Salt Lake and Ogden, Southern Pacific to El Paso, Texas, Southern Pacific to Los Angeles, Southern Pacific. The above gives the number of deaths among the car workers in the month of January, and the only accidental ones on Transcontinental lines. Drink less coffee, more rest, less chew more, ride less, walk more, retire less, bathe more, work less, work more, waste less time and more, talk less, think more, practice more. To follow these is to follow the path of health.

Children's Coughs and Colds

Mrs. Jos. Mellenick, 207 E. 1st St., Hutchinson, Kan., writes: I have given Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup to my children for coughs and colds for the past seven years and find it the best medicine I ever used." Public many people have used it with the same result. It will soothe and heal any disease of the throat or lungs. Price, 25 cents. Sold by druggists.

Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetter and Acne

Belong to that class of inflammatory and disfiguring skin eruptions that have more genuine bodily discomfort than all other known diseases. The impurities or poisons which collect in the system become specially active in the blood, and cause the skin to be covered with blotches full of the blood, saturating the system with acid poisons and finally breaking out in the form of a skin disease. Sometimes the skin is dry, scaly and feverish, at other times moist, with yellow, watery discharge forms and white scales that dropped. Itching and burning, and sometimes the skin is red and inflamed. Local applications may relieve, but cannot cure. S. S. S. cures these diseases by going to the bottom of the trouble and forcing out the impurities. Purification of the blood is the only remedy for these vicious skin troubles. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and contains no mercury or other mineral. Write our physicians all advice without charge. We have a book on Skin Diseases, which will be sent free to all who write it. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

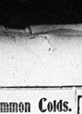
Uncommon Colds.



"It is just a common cold," people say, "there's no danger in it," and so, neglecting their treatment, they there are many cases of pneumonia, consumption and other fatal diseases that originate with a cold. If we could tell the comparatively few cases that terminate in fatal ends only, the number would be appalling.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs and colds, however obstinate, by its tonic and nutritive properties. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption that it is fairly tried in. Of course, it cures the lighter forms of throat and lung troubles, such as coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak lungs, hacking cough, and kindred affections. It is the only cough medicine sold through druggists, that can be relied upon with implicit confidence to do all that is claimed for it, or the money paid for it will be promptly refunded. Nothing could be fairer than this.

Sold by druggists. Large bottle, 75 cents; trial bottle, 10 cents.

HIS ONE ROMANCE

By SARAH BEAUMONT KERNOOT.

Copyrighted, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co.

A RE down there the street the people of my village have become accustomed to seeing me daily, but it took a second look to disclose the nature of the change. For a time before that my buggy was freshly painted and then I had on a new suit of clothes.

"Where are you going, Jack?" one friend asked me.

"To see Miss Gardner," I answered.

"Then the doctor will have to take a spell of growing warm north in order for Lug's nerve rel him. I never saw the beat of it. Why, he's got so he's superior of his words for her. Just feels his head for her, and shakes it for us and kisses grass for lovely."

"I don't seem to have his business at all," I said, and then I went on to see her home and turned and his flowers and candy."

The other man laughed. "Hurry up, Jack," he said. "Lug Arlen never let a woman long enough to recognize his existence. He's got a way of getting there with the goods that makes the rest of us stuck as spoke to him. Oh, you'll have to hustle, my boy, if you get in time enough to the children altogether."

But I did hustle, and I got there in time, however, there's Emma Washburn, for I found her sitting on the veranda with Lug Arlen, and I knew by the way he let her alone she got on long dreams."

"Jack," she said, "I'm glad you've come. He passed Dr. Washburn on the street and told him that I was sitting on the veranda and went up to the door with me to see mother, and I knew that I no longer was no doubt right; it must be true. I'm sure I'm not to blame, for he had himself long be given permission to call."

"Of course you're not to blame," I said, and then I sat down on the veranda steps and looked up at her. "I've been thinking for a long time that I would like to ask you something, Emma, and I've been waiting for a chance. Will you be my wife?"

"Why, Jack, how you startled me!" she said, and then she laughed. "Why, you must have suspected what I was going to say."

"Then that's answer," I said.

"Yes, that's answer," she said, and then she looked at me and I kissed her. "Yes, I know, I've been waiting," she said, "and I've been waiting for you to remember you always gave me the biggest candy."

"Well, I've been waiting for you to remember that I always gave you the biggest candy," I said, and then I kissed her again.

"Jack," she said, "I'm glad you've come.
