Kentucky Editorial Sayings.

The minister who wants women to solve the servant girl problem by doing the housework themselves must be one of those unfortunate people who never had a chance to know many women well.—[Georgetown News.

A New Jersey girl attempted to commit suicide by eating ice cream. And there will be others this summer.—[Glasgow Times.

A steel horse one hundred and fifty feet tall will be one of the attractions at the St. Louis fair. Many a fellow who goes there next year will ride a high horse without getting on the steel imitation.—[Lexington Democrat.

And now it is claimed that a spring of magnetic water has been discovered in Indiana. It is thought that Senator Beveridge will pipe the entire supply to his own political tank.—[Hawesville Plaindealer.

All that a negro gets out of the Republican party is the distinction of being made an alternate delegate once in four years.—[Breckinridge Democrat.

A woman cutting bread for her children fainted, fell on the knife and killed herself. To the juvenile mind, this can be construed in no other light than as a providential demonstration that children should be fed on pies and cakes.—[Glasgow Times.

Maybe Gen Miles took that ninety mile relay ride in Oklahoma just to make the President turn green. This, together with the Philippine expense, ought to make the General retire avenged.—[Henderson Gleaner.

Mrs Mollie Allen, of South Fork, Ky., says she has prevented attacks of cholera morbus by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when she felt an attack coming on. Such attacks are usually caused by indigestion and these Tablets are just what is needed to cleanse the stomach and ward off the approaching attack. Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For sale by John O'Connell & Co.

Kentucky in the Lead.

"The tomatoes of Kentucky are the finest in the world," was the statement made by J. A. Sanders, Jr., at Seelbach's last night. Mr Sanders represents a Cincinnati catsup and preserve manufacturing concern, and surely he ought to know.

"The reason for this," he continued, "is that they thrive here in a limestone soil. Kentucky is rapidly becoming the greatest tomato producing State in the world, and every catsup company is making a bid for its tomato product. The tomatoes produced here are solid, firm and free from acid, something which cannot be said of the crop of the Eastern States.

"The ultimate result of this will be that many catsup factories will finally move into Kentucky in order to be nearer their source of supply."—Herald.

On account of the shortage of the hay crop in Central Kentucky, the Kentucky Supply Company is negotiating for the purchase of 100 car loads of hay in Illinois. ...—Danville Advocate.

Horace Miller Dead.

Mr. Horace Miller died at his country home about 7 o'clock Thursday morning. He ate hearty breakfast, gave orders for work on the farm, and in a few minutes went to his room, where he was found in a short time a corpse. Mr. Miller was at Paris the day before, and Dr. Vansant had warned him that he had a bad affection of the heart, and ought not to go to his farm.

A few months ago Mrs Miller died, leaving him without children, except his two adopted daughters, Mrs. F. P. Clay, Jr., of this county, and Mrs. Fannie Depue, of Robinson, Utah.

He was born in this county, Oct. 17, 1831, and resided here all his life. He was educated at Bethany College, and a firm believer in the Christian church, of which he was an officer. He was a pleasant gentleman and had many friends.—[Paris Democrat.

For Over Sixty Years

This Year's Wheat Harvest.

What will the harvest show? What was it last year? The actual profit of the farmers in 1902 was in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. Not so bad for 5,000,000 farmers one would say—trifle of $100 each, writes a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, from the Western wheat fields. How many professional men, or even store keepers, can say as much. Mind you, that is clear profit above expenses. Since last year 3,000,000 acres of new land have been plowed up in the Southwest and this year is producing its first crops. The crops are not large, by any means ...

Lobbyists Are Out of Fashion.

When the treaty of peace with Spain was being ratified there was an attempt or two to use a cash consideration for votes. A certain Senator from the West, whose agricultural and mining operations had not been so successful as they might, was offered a large sum for his vote for the treaty. The senator kicked the man out of his committee room and then kicked him around the corridor a bit for good measure. That closed the incident.

While there is a general public impression that money is used in large sums by men who desire legislation in Congress, it is true that there are not 25 men out of the 387 in the present House of Representatives, and probably not three in the Senate, who could be approached with a direct offer of money for a vote or influence.

The time was when there was a powerful lobby in Washington. There were men stationed there who were openly in the business of influencing legislation. Most of these men are dead, or out of the business. The lobbyists of the present day are a cheap lot of thieves who make a few $10 bills by pretending to credulous people that they can influence members of Congress or newspaper correspondents. There isn't one of them to whom any man who knows Washington would speak. They occasionally get hold of a few dollars, but they never spend any of the money with members of Congress, and they couldn't if they would.

The old lobby accomplished a great deal of its work with dinners and magnificent entertainments and sorts of that kind. The men who wanted things done would get together a dozen or fifteen of the most powerful men in the House and feed them and wine them and get favors that way. When Nat McKee died the last of the class disappeared.

Origin of the "Irish" Potato.

It was Sir Walter Raleigh who brought potatoes into Ireland, at the same time he brought the other American product—tobacco. Sir Walter was busily engaged in oppressing the people about Cork, so, naturally, when he planted the potato on his estate at Youghal, near Cork, the people were suspicious of it despite its palatableness. Cobbett cursed the root as being the ruin of Ireland, declaring it a device of Saxon ingenuity brought into their midst to tempt and eventually to weaken them. Sir Walter ate quantities of potatoes himself, before he could assure the people of their harmlessness. Now, with commendable gratitude, the tourist is shown the very spot in the garden where Sir Walter planted the potato root. Close by it is another historical bit of ground; there it is claimed Sir Walter rested under the shade of a tree smoking his pipe of tobacco when his servant deluged him with a pail of water, under the impression that he was on fire.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

Mystic Cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents and $1.00. Sold by Tureman & Son druggists.

The government weather bureau has undertaken to supply the farmers with weather warning by telephone. One by one the conoclastic band of modern progress strikes down the old-fashioned pleasures of childhood. No more can be enjoyed the exhilaration of chasing a load of hay clear up from the lower meadow, through the lane and into the big barn just in time to escape a sudden shower, with the hired man holding the swaying load on the rick with two pitchforks, and the kid, who is spending the summer on the farm, lashing the horses into a dead run. Farm life will soon be as prosaic and mechanical as life in the city.

Woman Swims Over Six Miles.

In reply to a challenge, Mrs. David Weis of Avenue F. and East 26th street Brooklyn, swam yesterday from Bergen Beach to a point on the Canarsie shore, a distance estimated by those in attendance on the young women at 6 and one-half miles. The feat was performed at ebb tide, and Robert C. Chambers, a life saver at Bergen Beach, accompanied the swimmer. Following the swimmer was a launch with her husband and a party of friends. Mrs. Weis, who is only eighteen years of age, has performed many swimming feats before. She swam from the Congress street bridge, Troy, to her father's on Lagoon Island, and once swam from the Captain's pier, at Bath Beach, to the Atlantic Yacht Club house at Sea Gate.

Mrs. Weis used the long English overhand stroke in the journey, and kept up a good pace from start to finish. She declined assistance at any portion of the trip, and said she felt so good she could swim back when she reached the shore and was helped into the boat. The time was announced as three hours, thirty minutes and twenty-one seconds.—[New York Tribune.

The Death Penalty

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best Salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sore, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c, at Tureman's Drug Store.

COL. TOM J. LANDRUM, of Louisville, who for years has been prominently identified with Republican politics, expresses his views about the prospects of success for his party in Kentucky this fall: "I am not taking much interest in politics this year, but from my observations I do not see what possible chance the Republicans have of defeating the Democrats. Gov. Beckham is a much stronger man than Col. Morris B. Belknap, and I think his election is assured. The Republicans made a great mistake when they turned Bradley and Willson down."

A Giant Nerve Builder.

State College of Kentucky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) College of Kentucky, offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post Graduate studies are also provided, leading each to a Master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers nearly fifty professors and instructors.

County appointees receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and lights, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses.

The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped comprehensive and modern.

The legislature appropriated $60,000 for a College home for young women and $30,000 for drill and gymnasium for men. The latter is completed and in use, the former will be ready for occupancy in October.

Military tactics and Science are fully provided for as required by Congress.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal renumeration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the College to supply. Last year the matriculation list was 604.

Summer Schools are provided for Pedagogy, Engineering and instruction in Science.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of Natural Science.

The State College of Kentucky, though bearing hitherto the title of College, is the only institution in the Commonwealth doing, in any proper sense, University work.

The completion of the College home for young women will provide facilities for good board and lodging. It is equipped with all modern conveniences including bath rooms and room for physical culture. It will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is afforded to those of a thorough education in Classics, Modern Languages, Literature, Science, Mathematics, Logic, Metaphysics, ...
