LANGDON-CREASEY CO., J. E. Sellers, M'n'g.

As True As Gospel.

Slander is the tribute failure pays to success.

There is no calamity which right words will not begin to redress.

It is the body which gives beauty to the clothes, and not the clothes to the body, and it is the soul which gives character and meaning to both.

A great deal may be done by severity, more by love, but most by clear discernment and impartial justice, which pays no respect to persons.

One sentence of honest praise bestowed at the right time is worth a whole volley of scolding. A storm of scolding has about as good effect on children as a hailstorm has on young plants.

Live not for selfish aims. Live to shed joy on others. Thus best shall your own happiness be secured; for no joy is ever given freely forth, that does not have quick echo in the giver's own heart.

It is well to have a high standard of life, even though we may not be able altogether to realize it. Whoever tries for the highest results cannot fail to reach a point far in advance of that from which he started.

There are few people in the world more depressing and disheartening than those who are always seeing some shadow of coming evil. The world is sombre enough even at the best, and it is scarcely worth while to go out seeking for shadows or to conjure up purely imaginary ones.

The man who says that he is at home wherever he takes his hat off forgets all about it when he is chasing his bonnet that is whirling down the street before a merry breeze.

Every dog has his day except the puppy who is drowned before his eyes are opened.

Wise or Otherwise.

A happy home is the reflection of heaven.

Strong is the man who knows his weakness.

There's nothing more disgraceful than insincerity.

Only those get to heaven who help others get there.

Ignorance is far less odious than false affections.

What children need is models and fewer critics.

It's easy to explain why others shouldn't make mistakes.

Ingratitude makes a man look like a dollar minus 99 cents.

Many a man who owes something to himself refuses to pay it.

There are a few things that even a very young man doesn't know.

Some live men remind us of dead ones who forgot to get buried.

The art of keeping the mouth shut should be taught in every school.

Heed the teachings of adversity if you would avoid a second lesson.

Fortunate is the man who doesn't have one-half the troubles that his neighbors think he has.

When a man continually declares his love for the "common people" it is safe to say that he believes himself to be one of the uncommon people. He wants to show how condescending he is.

Mr. Rockefeller says he wonders what would have happened if he had not left the little town where he spent the first eight years of his life. We would have been buying our coal oil from some one else.

The secret of popularity is always to remember what to forget.

Probably the best way to kill a falsehood is to let it lie.

RUTS

The walking sick, what a crowd of them there are: Persons who are thin and weak but not sick enough to go to bed.

"Chronic cases" that's what the doctors call them, which in common English means—long sickness.

To stop the continued loss of flesh they need Scott's Emulsion. For the feeling of weakness they need Scott's Emulsion.

It makes new flesh and gives new life to the weak system.

Scott's Emulsion gets thin and weak persons out of the rut. It makes new, rich blood, strengthens the nerves and gives appetite for ordinary food.

Scott's Emulsion can be taken as long as sickness lasts and do good all the time.

There's new strength and flesh in every dose.

We will be glad to send you a few doses free.

Wise or Otherwise.

There's no good substitute for honesty.

Love is the only sure cure for feminine coquetry.

People seldom appreciate anything they can afford.

Luxury is apt to transform pleasures into burdens.

Chronic complaining doesn't make a hard lot any softer.

At the age of 16 a girl stops crying and begins to weep.

Borrowed trouble commands the highest rate of interest.

In their present state of development autos would not be a success in war unless the enemy could be induced to ride in them.

That story of a man who has been walking since 1901 to cure consumption was interesting, but it had no moral. It didn't tell whether his consumption was cured.

YOU NEVER KNOW AT WHAT TIME AN ACCIDENT MAY HAPPEN TO YOU.

So always keep in your home, office, shop, and factory, a bottle of

Paracamph

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED

The only sure, quick relieving and healing remedy for Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Swellings, Inflammations, and all hurts. Paracamph will give you more satisfaction than any external remedy you ever used. If it fails your money will be refunded. So try it.

Ann is 18.

Perkins Warbeck, of Philadelphia, has given a solution of the "age of Ann" problem. He is the man who started the trouble by having the problem published: Mary is twice as old as Ann was when Mary was old as Ann is now. How old is Ann?

"Mary is 24. Mary is twice as old as Ann was at 12, and when Ann was 12, Mary was the same age that Ann is now.

"Mary is 24. Ann was 12. Mary was Ann's present age ... is Ann?"

It stands to reason that the time between 12 and Ann's present age is the same as between Ann's present age and 24. In other words, as several solvers put it: "Since the time that Ann was 12, she has caught up to where Mary was, while Mary has skipped from there to 24."

Then, of course, each is six years older. We have it. Ann is 18.
