The World's Wheat Crop.

The annual estimate of the world grain crop issued by the Minister of Agriculture of Hungary, sets the wheat crop of Hungary at 41,226,700 metercentners (a metercenter equals 440 22 pounds) compared with 46,507,000 last year. The deficiency in other cereals is about the same percentage.

The report strikes a balance between the requirements of importing countries and the available exporting surplus of the other States, indicating a deficiency amounting to 13,244,000 metercentners in the world's grain crop.

The Farmer Boy.

In former times every boy was expected to learn a trade unless he intended to be a farmer. Now it is known that there is more to learn at the trade of farming than any other occupation, owing to the many details entering into the cultivation of the farms. There are now dairy schools, where pupils are given scientific knowledge of cattle, the handling of milk, butter and cheese making and feeding, and every year hundreds of students leave the agricultural colleges after having taken courses in agri-culture. More discoveries have been made in behalf of agriculture than of mechanics and the systems of farming are being rapidly revolutionized.

No Opposition for Judge.

A special to the Louisville Herald from Owingsville, Ky., Sept. 3, says: The Republican district convention for the Twenty first Judicial district met here today and decided by a vote of three to one not to nominate a candidate for Circuit Judge against A. W. Young, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee and nominee of his party for Judge. The district is composed of Bath, Rowan, Menifee and Montgomery counties, and is normally 750 Democratic.

It was decided to hold a convention at time and place to be hereafter named to select a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney to make the race against Alex Conner, of this town, the Democratic nominee.

Lincoln's Father Was Not A Vagabond.

[Elizabethtown News.]

Deputy Revenue Collector James E. Gaither, of Louisville, has in his office an interesting document which, he says, effectually dispels the popular notion that Thomas Lincoln, the father of the great emancipator, was a vagabond and of no account.

The document is dated Monday, May 13, 1816, and read as follows.

"Hardin County Court.

"Ordered, That Thomas Lincoln be and is hereby appointed surveyor of that part of the road leading from Nolin to Bardstown which lies between the Big Hill and Rolling Fork, in place of George Redman, and that all the hands that assisted said Redman do assist said Lincoln in keeping said road in repair.

"A copy, attest:
JOHN H. WELLS,
"Clerk Hardin County Court, Kentucky."

The Big Hill was at that time the designation of Muldraugh's Hill.

Judge Gaither says that the statutes of that day required that a surveyor of the road be a representative man, and a householder, and that the fact that Thomas Lincoln was appointed to the place is sufficient evidence to dispel the idea which has so long prevailed among historians of his worthlessness.

The order is written on pink paper. Judge Gaither has framed with it a picture of the log cabin in which Lincoln was born and a check which he gave out and which is an order on Riggs & Co., dated Washington, D. C., August 1st, 1863. The check reads: "Pay to colored man with one leg, or bearer, $3. A. LINCOLN."

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

Pigeon's Remarkable Flight.

A Milwaukee homing pigeon has just completed a remarkable flight. Six pigeons belonging to the Milwaukee Homing Club were sent to Denver, a distance 910 miles, and released there. One of them has returned, having covered the distance in ten days, twenty-three hours and five minutes. This is the first flight ever attempted from Denver. The bird is two years old and flew from 100 to 600 miles in 1903, and in 1902 flew the 100, 200, 300 and 500-mile stations. He has been named Denver and will not race again.

An Open Door to Ruin.

We would be very glad to impress our brothers of the country press with very great dangers that lie in wait for the multitude of young girls that are flocking in our cities, especially St. Louis and notably at this time. The country press is a tremendous power for good if they would keep this matter before their readers, constantly warning all as to the open door to ruin, might be saved who else were lost. The gateway to St. Louis, our great Union Depot, is beset by a thousand snares for unwary feet. Any young girl who comes through the gates into the midway is at once spotted and if it be possible the snare is so spread in her path that she cannot escape. No girl should come here unless absolutely certain as to her course. The many tempting advertisements are often mere baits for ignorance and innocence. And if she comes to the city ready to enter the first carriage where driver proposes to take her to a good boarding house, or to accept the first position offered where no experience is required, she may as well bid adieu to innocence and hope when she leaves home. And as a matter of course the young man is almost equally exposed so far as moral or even physical safety is concerned. If the country papers will keep these things before their readers they will serve God and humanity.—[St. Louis Christian Advocate.

Confederate Monument.

A monument to the soldiers of the Confederacy who are buried in the Pewee Valley cemetery, and those who may hereafter be buried there, will shortly be erected as the result of a donation made by Mr. Biscoe Hindman, now Colonel and Aide-de-camp on the staff of Gen. John B. Gordon, and formerly Commander-in-chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Mr. Hindman has given Gen. Bennett H. Young, president of the Kentucky Confederate Home, full authority to use his own discretion in the erection of a monument that would be suitable to the memory of the Confederate heroes who lie buried at Pewee. The suggestion that it would be appropriate to erect such a monument came from Gen. Young originally, and was acted upon immediately by Col. Hindman.

Applies to Carlisle.

[Elizabethtown News.]

If Elizabethtown is ever going to be boomed it will not be done by knockers. Get that knot out of your face and twist out of your eye and don't be a knocker. That long, sour face, fault finding disposition and depreciating habit will never build up any town or anything else other than a flat failure and a lot of trouble and make the knocker unpopular. Stop knocking, put aside the little hammer and look up, lift up and look for something better. Hold up your head and look for better things in people and the business of the town. Don't cry down everything and everybody. Talk them up, talk up your neighbors and your neighbor's business. Say everything good you can about your rival and your competitor. It will help both of you. No business man from another town wants to locate in Elizabethtown if he hears you knocking—talking down your fellow merchant or professional man. If you talk him down you would talk any one down. The shrewd man of business won't settle in a town where everyone is pulling it to pieces or where no one is prospering. The knocker gives this impression. To hear a knocker talk one would think to town is going to the bow-wow and damnation. There is nothing the matter with the knocker, but a sour stomach and cobwebs on the brains or where brains ought to be. Elizabethtown can get along well without the knocker. We want men who will help build up the town, who will say every good thing he can about his fellow man of business and citizen, knocking is not going to put you above any one else of your business better than any other. Get up a procession by helping others along ahead of you—not by expecting them to follow. Push your friends on to good things and you will be popular and get your full share of that same good thing. Jolly things along, keep the fun going and look for the best. No man ever helped himself by knocking other people down in character or business. The greedy and grasping hog is all right for a day—but that day is passed when a keen bladed knife is at work through his throat. The man who wants it all generally got it where the fat porker got the knife. You can't build up your business at the expense of other people. No man ever got rich by trying to make others believe he was the only man in town. You may know it all if you were the only man but there are others—not so many but just as warm. If you think you are going to be a millionaire in knowing it all, you better keep off the corners and mind your own business. Build up your town and it will build you up and you will be all the better for helping others.

State College of Kentucky

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) College of Kentucky, offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post Graduate studies are also provided, leading each to a Master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers nearly fifty professors and instructors.

County appointees receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and lights, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses.

The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped comprehensive and modern.

The legislature appropriated $60,000 for a College home for young women and $30,000 for drill and gymnasium for men. The latter is completed and in use, the former will be ready for occupancy in October.

Military tactics and Science are fully provided for as required by Congress.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the College to supply. Last year the matriculation list was 604.

Summer Schools are provided for Pedagogy, Engineering and instruction in Science.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of Natural Science.

The State College of Kentucky, though bearing hitherto the title of College, is the only institution in the Commonwealth doing, in any proper sense, University work.

The completion of the College home for young women will provide facilities for good board and lodging. It is equipped with all modern conveniences including bath rooms and room for physical culture. It will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is afforded to them of a thorough education in Classics, Modern Languages, Literature, Science, Mathematics, Logic, Metaphysics, History and Political Economy. No other Institution in the State offers advantages for the education of women at all comparable to those offered by the State College of Kentucky.
