

The ISLAND of REVERIES

By CYRUS TOWNSEND and BRADY LUSTIGER
SYNOPSIS

...gull on an oval that took her and she took her man with her and she took her man with her and she took her man with her... (The text continues with a repetitive, nonsensical phrase: "and she took her man with her")

The Struggle Faded and Tom Him

CHAPTER XIII—Continued.

Which was the stronger, he knew for the woman or he would not for her, she would not for him, she would not for him, she would not for him... (The text continues with repetitive phrases: "she would not for him")

CHAPTER XIV—Continued.

It was that same late spring morning when the sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the birds were singing")

CHAPTER XV—Continued.

How could he do that? He knew he was a man of honor and he would not do anything to dishonor himself... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "he would not do anything")

He said to her, "I have just been thinking about you and how much I love you and how much I want to be with you... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "I want to be with you")

"What! What would he do if she did not love him? Would he go away and never come back? Or would he stay and wait for her? Or would he... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "or would he stay")

"I will not let you go," she said, "I will not let you go, I will not let you go, I will not let you go... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "I will not let you go")

"I will not let you go," she said, "I will not let you go, I will not let you go, I will not let you go... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "I will not let you go")

"I will not let you go," she said, "I will not let you go, I will not let you go, I will not let you go... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "I will not let you go")

CHAPTER XVI—Continued.

It was a beautiful day and the sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the birds were singing")

"I will not let you go," she said, "I will not let you go, I will not let you go, I will not let you go... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "I will not let you go")

"I will not let you go," she said, "I will not let you go, I will not let you go, I will not let you go... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "I will not let you go")

THE DEATH OF REVERIES
By Cyrus Townsend and Brady Lustiger

...the death of Reveries, the end of a long and eventful life... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the death of Reveries")

...the death of Reveries, the end of a long and eventful life... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the death of Reveries")

...the death of Reveries, the end of a long and eventful life... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the death of Reveries")

...the death of Reveries, the end of a long and eventful life... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the death of Reveries")

CHAPTER XVII—Continued.

It was a beautiful day and the sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the birds were singing")

Sky scraper city

By Cyrus Townsend and Brady Lustiger

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

CHAPTER XVIII—Continued.

It was a beautiful day and the sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the birds were singing")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

...the skyscraper city, the height of modern architecture... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the height of modern architecture")

CHAPTER XIX—Continued.

It was a beautiful day and the sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the birds were singing")

LEOPARD MOTH MOST INJURIOUS OF INSECTS

By Cyrus Townsend and Brady Lustiger

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

CHAPTER XX—Continued.

It was a beautiful day and the sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the birds were singing")

Leopard Moth

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

...the leopard moth, the most destructive pest of our crops... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the most destructive pest")

CHAPTER XXI—Continued.

It was a beautiful day and the sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing... (The text continues with a repetitive phrase: "the birds were singing")