We do not know of Senator Combs' intentions but if he decides to enter the contest he will be a prominent factor therein.

Breckinridge's Blue Grass Farmer.

The Lexington Daily Herald prints a special Farmers edition each Monday, and says farmers in Kentucky should take it, and we say this not because Mr. Breckinridge says nice things about us, but because we want our people to have the best that is going. There is not a single issue of this 8-day edition that is not worth a year's subscription. If you will drop the Herald a postal card asking for a sample copy you will receive one, and if you know a good Democrat who does not see it, you will certainly subscribe.

Tobacco Meeting Last Saturday.

Several hundred tobacco growers gathered at the Court House in this city last Saturday to listen to the speeches of Tunis Hite, Col. Jos. T. Ferf, Judge Helman and Clarence LeBus in the interest of the 1910 pool. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested and when Mr. LeBus called for a show of hands to those who were going to pool their tobaccos this year the hand of every by every raiser in the house went up. Hon. Ward Hardy, of Princeton, was present but he did not speak. The addresses were along the usual line of argument as to the necessity of maintaining the pool.

Examining Trial of Lute Hamm Charged with Murder of Hargis King

The examining trial of Lute Hamm, charged with the murder of Hargis King in this County recently, was held by Judge McNew Tuesday, and resulted in said Hamm being held to answer without bail.

The prosecution was conducted by County Attorney Hamilton and the defendant was represented by Holmes & Rose and Wm. Conley.

The first witness introduced was Coroner Hutchings who told of holding inquest. He repaired to the home of Rainey Smith when notified that a dead man had been found in a buggy. He was accompanied by County Attorney Darragh, Sheriff Mitchell, Deputy Sheriff Parker and Constable Hargis Ferguson. Found body in buggy, coat covered with blood, and two gun shots wounds in head. Seemed to have been dead some hours. Ordered postmortem held, which was done by Drs. Spencer and Campbell assisted by Undertaker Ewing. Produced two bullets taken from dead man's head. Examined clothes of the accused man and placed them in charge of Sheriff. He held the coat of watch and bundle of razors in empty ham house near where Hamm lived. Drs. Spencer and Campbell and H. E. Ewing told of autopsy and result of examination, and the taking of two bullets from head of dead man. Rainey Smith, at whose place the body was found told of getting up between daylight and sunrise and finding dead body of man in buggy standing near yard gate examined track of buggy and traced course of buggy in stable lot by blood spots.

John Summit knew Hargis King. He was at his (Summit's) place Sunday—the day before his dead body was found. Had watch, bundle of razors and about $12.50 in money. Identified watch and razors and saw him. Identified blood on coat as the one worn by King on the Sunday mentioned.

H. Fryman identified watch as one he once owned and traded to Joseph Whitehouse.

Sheriff Mitchell told of being notified of dead man being found at Rainey Smith's and of going out with other officers. During the day he went to the home of Lute Hamm's and found Mrs. Hamm to look for articles belonging to Lute Hamm, as he was suspected of being implicated in the killing. Found nothing at Clinkenbeard's, but found coat hanging in Mann's store and in one pocket found a pistol with two chambers empty. The pistol was 32 calaber, and had blood on barrel. Had conversation with defendant before arrest. Defendant said he was not on board. Owe him for one week and one half. Left home before 4 o'clock Saturday. Said he had been at the County seat that day. Did not know when he left it. He said he had coat on the night before. Francis Mann lives about one half a mile from Rube Clinkenbeard's. Had no warrant for Hamm but told him to come and go to town with me. Took him on my own responsibility.

Constable Hazelrigg told of being present with officers. Identified coat as one found. Came to town with Sheriff and defendant and substantiated conversion told of by Sheriff Mitchell.

Carl King, a brother of Hargis King, said deceased lived at his house near Mt. Moriah church, near Bartersville. Was at home Sunday, May 29th. He left home in the morning about eight o'clock but returned at noon. Returned again about five o'clock but left shortly afterwards and saw him no more until his dead body was found. Hargis was about thirty-two years old. Identified watch as one he had owned but had loaned Hargis.

James Fulton, barber of this city, for whom King often worked, identified razors as ones King had used in his shop.

George Mitchelmore identified watch as one he had carried.

Russell Clinkenbeard lives with his parents on the farm of Mrs. Elouis Hamm at junction of Maysville and Carlisle pikes. Was at home most of Sunday but came to town about five or six o'clock Sunday evening. Saw King coming to town and heard Hamm call him and talk to another man about him. Saw them in town during the evening. Saw them drinking malt liquor and whisky together. King had case of razors, a silver watch and two five dollar bills and some silver. Identified the watch and razors. King and Hamm talked like they were not total strangers. Went home about half past eight. Next morning found Hamm in bed in my room. His brother was at home and he often came there Saturday and Sunday nights. Hamm left Monday morning before breakfast. Shown pistol taken from Hargis' coat, said it looked like one Hamm had at his home. Identified coat and vest as Hamm's.

James Honaker knew Rube Clinkenbeard, Lute Hamm and Hargis King. Was at Clinkenbeard place when King came by and took Hamm in with him. Saw them afterwards in Goodpaster's and Hamm drank whisky out of a pint bottle. Said King had money—two five dollar bills and some silver and two dollars in silver. Identified watch and case of razors as those King had by King. Went home and went to bed about nine o'clock.

Monty Shaw, colored, said as he came out of the colored Methodist church somethne after nine o'clock Sunday night King was standing in the street in front of the church and another man was sitting in a buggy. Knew King.

Sam'l Berry was going home from church near nine o'clock. Saw King and Hamm standing on street near Kimbrough house, and advised them to go home. Hamm went after buggy and afterwards drove down the street towards freight depot. Came back and got King and drove up street towards Henryville.

Chas. Dallas said King and Hamm drove up in front of his restaurant about twenty minutes of ten and had him bring out some sandwiches. They left as soon as he waited on them.

T. Herndon was on duty at Murphy's restaurant Sunday evening; about 8:45 Hamm and Hamm came in and called for fish. After being served they left. Changed a five dollar bill for King Saw Sam Berry talking to them on street in front.

E. D. Sparks saw King and Hamm on street as he was going home from church. They were drunk. Saw them driving across railroad shortly afterward.

H. T. Haley was coming home from Paris and met two men in a buggy between the covered bridge and the M. & L. pike junction about half past ten o'clock Sunday night.

Jno. Dallas was at his home about a quarter of a mile from Rainey Smith's home and heard two pistol shots close together between ten and eleven o'clock.

Ruben Clinkenbeard lives at the Mrs Elenor Hamm place near the junction of the M. & L. and Carlisle and Sharpsburg pikes. Was at home Sunday night May 29th. Went to bed about nine o'clock. Knew Lute Hamm. He had been making his home at my house for some time until he went to work for Francis Mann. Saw pistol belonging to Hamm at my place. Identified one shown him and not like the one he had seen. Identified coat as belonging to defendant. Heard some one come in house Sunday night and strike match. Hamm was at dinner at his home Sunday. Often came to his house Saturday and Sunday nights. Was with Coroner Dr. Campbell and other officers when premises were searched and the watch and razors were found. Lute had left home near the covered bridge. Identified the articles. Hamm got up early Monday morning and left before breakfast. He was in his shirt sleeves when he went out.

Mrs. Clinkenbeard testified that she was at home Sunday night. Her son Russell came in about nine o'clock. Saw Lute Hamm when he came in after nine o'clock. "Our clock strikes the half hours and it struck one just after Lute came in." He left early Monday morning before breakfast.

Francis Mann testified that Lute Hamm had been working for him about two weeks. Was at my place Saturday night and Sunday near noon. He came back to breakfast Monday morning and left him 75 cents per day and board. Owe him for one week and one half. Saw him before dinner. Identified pistol. Has been at his home about one half mile North of Mt. Clinkenbeard's.

Farris Brothers, son of Jailer Brothers, stated that when Lute Hamm was brought to the jail he gave him one five dollar bill, five silver dollars, one half dollar and one quarter to keep with me. Took him on my own responsibility.

D. L. Smith, Rainey Smith, Taylor Mathers and others were called to testify as to the removal of pistol from the dead body and their care afterwards.

The bloody coat taken from the body was exhibited.

Upon the conclusion of the testimony for the Commonwealth, the Attorneys for the defense stated that they would produce no evidence and Judge McNew at once announced that the accused would be held without bail.

Miss Ida Howard's music class gave the usual annual entertainment last Thursday evening and their exhibition demonstrated Miss Ida's ability as a teacher. A most pleasant evening was had by all present.

Chappell & Tune, Brook Dry Goods Store, Patton & Talbott, Miss Hickey, Mann & Mitch, Cox, Cole & Co., Ross & Frey, Sam K. Veach and other merchants, have agreed to close their store every evening at 7 o'clock, except Saturdays, until September 1st.

Many hundreds of acres of tobacco plants have been set by Nicholas County raisers this week, and the entire crop would be out if the plants were large enough. Some one dollar for droppers to three dollars for setters was the ruling price paid hands. The crop will be a large one if future good weather prevails.

In a personal difficulty on Taylor's Creek last Friday, James Lawrence struck and came near killing Chas. Dallas. The boy with which Lawrence struck Dray weighed eight and one-half pounds and the great wonder is that Dallas was not crushed by the blow. Lawrence was arrested but admitted to bail, while Dray is slowly recovering.

In an fight at Everitt Cook's place on the Dogwalk pike near Morningglory last Sunday, it is said Cook carved something like an outline map of Ireland on the face and breast of Tom Sims. Sims was brought to town and Dr. Spencer did the tailoring act, and he then hurried off, inclosed in bandages. It is said bad liquor had something to do with the trouble.

At the regular monthly meeting of Council last Monday night John Harvey was elected Special City Marshal vice Robert George, resigned. Mr. Harvey we are sure will make a safe and sane policeman. Russell Clinkenbeard lives with his parents on the farm of Mrs. Elouis Hamm at junction of Maysville and Carlisle pikes. Was at home most of Sunday but came to town about five or six o'clock Sunday evening. Saw King coming to town and heard Hamm call him and talk to another man about him. Saw them in town during the evening. Saw them drinking malt liquor and whisky together. King had case of razors, a silver watch and two five dollar bills and some silver. Identified the watch and razors. King and Hamm talked like they were not total strangers. Went home about half past eight. Next morning found Hamm in bed in my room. His brother was at home and he often came there Saturday and Sunday nights. Hamm left Monday morning before breakfast. Shown pistol taken from Hargis' coat, said it looked like one Hamm had at his home. Identified coat and vest as Hamm's.

James Honaker knew Rube Clinkenbeard, Lute Hamm and Hargis King. Was at Clinkenbeard place when King came by and took Hamm in with him. Saw them afterwards in Goodpaster's and Hamm drank whisky out of a pint bottle. Said King had money—two five dollar bills and some silver and two dollars in silver. Identified watch and case of razors as those King had by King. Went home and went to bed about nine o'clock.

Monty Shaw, colored, said as he came out of the colored Methodist church somethne after nine o'clock Sunday night King was standing in the street in front of the church and another man was sitting in a buggy. Knew King.

FROM OKLAHOMA.

H. F. Myers sends us a copy of the Apache, Okla., Echo, which contains the following items of local interest:

Jas. H. Myers, son of H. F. Myers, who lives out in the Comanco neighborhood, was married Wednesday, June 1, to Miss Bessie Ervin at the home of the bride's parents at Tabequah. They left immediately for a wedding trip to New Orleans, where they will take ship for New York, going from there to the groom's former home in Kentucky for a short visit, after which they will locate in the Territory, where they will make the home.

The bride is an accomplished young lady of Cherokee descent and the bridegroom is a government employee at Muskogee. The Echo extends congratulations and wishes them a long life of happiness and prosperity.

Mrs. W. T. Clark and daughter, Nell, are spending a few weeks at Hot Springs, Ark. They went to the Black's' convention last week with Mr. Clark and went from there to Hot Springs.

H. F. Myers, of Onaseo, reports that a son of his gave birth to eleven pigs on March 2nd, ten of which lived. When the pigs were three weeks old he was offered $100 for the sow and pigs, which he refused. That's money on hoofs.

Dear Little Mamye.

[The following tribute to sweet little Mamye Kennedy was written by her little companion, Mary Dessnet Potts, aged nine years, and the sentiment and language is all her own.]

Dear little Mamye, she was my best friend
At any day she was willing to lend.
If she had lived I expect she would be here
And if you were sick to her she'd be near.
But now she is dead, there's no kind deeds at school.
If she had lived I expect she would have done
Something kind for everyone.
