EUROPE DID HONOR TO FAMOUS AMERICAN

Rulers and People of Many Lands Greeted Him as Most Distinguished Citizen of United States -- His Lectures in Three Cities.

All Europe, kings and commoners alike, received Theodore as the most distinguished of living Americans. He was entertained by royalty and nobility everywhere he went, and always the people greeted him with vociferous applause. What possibly pleased the former president more than all this was the fact that literary and scientific circles received him as a man of letters and science and several learned societies elected him to membership.

In Paris, Christiania, Berlin and Oxford Mr. Roosevelt delivered scholarly public addresses and the literary and scientific experts listened to let him and marveled at the wide scope of his knowledge.

The event connected with Mr. Roosevelt's European tour that aroused the most interest and excitement occurred immediately after his arrival in Italy early in April. Before he left Africa his desire to pay his respects to the pope had been conveyed to the Vatican and the holy
