THE EDGE of HAZARD

PICTURES BY A. WEIL — BY GEORGE HORTON

COPYRIGHT 1908 BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

He Suddenly Whipped the Pistol from His Pocket.

"What Are You Going to Do?" Asked the Jew.

SYNOPSIS.

Frederick Hardy, a fashionable Boston society man, loses his wealth, and going to New York to begin life anew, is induced by Jack Rossmeyer, his boyhood friend, to go with him to Russia. They are joined together to Romova. Because of some political disturbance Rossmeyer and Hardy are arrested and thrown upon the prison train. Hardy escapes from the train. He finds Rossmeyer dead. He assumes his name and his identity. On reaching Vladivostok he meets Ivan Petroff, a Russian spy. Hardy departed for Port Arthur. Petroff, who was also on board, followed him. Hardy boarded a train for Harbin. Petroff was also on the train. Hardy boarded a steamer for Chefoo. Petroff was also on the steamer. Hardy was arrested at the wharf. The steamer was ordered to proceed to Shanghai. Hardy was taken from the train. The steamer steamed down the river. Hardy was released. Petroff was arrested. Hardy boarded a steamer for Shanghai. Petroff was also on the steamer. Hardy registered at the Palace Hotel. Petroff registered at the same hotel. Hardy was arrested. Petroff was released. Petroff entered Hardy's room. Hardy escaped by a rope from the window. Petroff escaped by the same rope. Hardy boarded a steamer for Japan. Petroff was also on the steamer. Hardy registered at the Imperial Hotel, Tokio. Petroff registered at the same hotel. Hardy was arrested. Petroff was released. Petroff entered Hardy's room. Hardy escaped by the window. Petroff escaped by the same window. Hardy boarded a steamer for Yokohama. Petroff was also on the steamer. Hardy registered at the Grand Hotel. Petroff registered at the same hotel. Hardy was arrested. Petroff was released. Petroff entered Hardy's room. Hardy escaped by the window. Petroff escaped by the same window. Hardy boarded a steamer for Kobe. Petroff was also on the steamer. Hardy registered at the Oriental Hotel. Petroff registered at the same hotel. Hardy was arrested. Petroff was released. Petroff entered Hardy's room. Hardy escaped by the window. Petroff escaped by the same window. Hardy boarded a steamer for Nagasaki. Petroff was also on the steamer. Hardy registered at the Nagasaki Hotel. Petroff registered at the same hotel. Hardy was arrested. Petroff was released. Petroff entered Hardy's room. Hardy escaped by the window. Petroff escaped by the same window. Hardy boarded a steamer for Shanghai. Petroff was also on the steamer. Hardy registered at the Palace Hotel