Schedule by Schedule.

Of course the protectionist Democrats oppose the schedule by schedule plan of tariff revision. They do not want tariff revision and they know that they can prevent it at the next session if they can only control the party to a general revision bill. They know that no general revision bill satisfactory to the Democrats can pass the Senate and that the adoption of a general revision plan would continue the high tariff for at least two years more. It would also give the tobacco an excuse for turning the party down in 1912, because of its insincerity. Therefore, a general revision bill would give protection Democrats a chance to join the Republican Republicans in taking care of the protected industries on principle and items while calling loudly for a general reduction.

Chairman Clark understands all this, and therefore, he is insisting on revising the tariff one schedule at a time, as the party did in 1909. That means a positive reduction soon, and it also means that the protection Democrats have to do their fighting in the open. More strength to your arm, Champ. [Bryan's Commoner.

Some Crooked Rivers

The Bath County World recently published an item about the crookedness of Red river at Jackson, and which we published last week, and that brought forth the following:

There is a path or mule road planted would be to run the farmers are crazy, for many of them still have their 1910 crop on hand and are holding it for a better price. Unless the crop is a fairly good one, to think of increasing the acreage would be foolish. The farmer to turn it over to the manufacturer for the cost of transportation and warehouse charges. At the present price it would pay the farmer to apply the fertilizer direct to the fields and use it as fertilizer. Tobacco makes a fine fertilizer for any kind of grains. We advise the advice of a central Kentucky paper: "Don't be misled by the boom started for tobacco and others plant it to corn." [Dover News

False Rumor

Since the officials of the L. & N. Railroad were here a few days ago, there has been a rumor that the yards and offices of the road were to be moved from Paris to Winchester, and that all work on the road in South Paris had been ordered discontinued.

There is no truth whatever in the report. The fact is the tracks have been replaced and that is the reason there is no work being done there now. A new round house is being built and a yardmaster's office and storage room erected. The latter for sheds at the passenger depot has been ordered. The track freight depot is nearing completion, and work on the new iron bridge spanning Hinkston creek is progressing rapidly. [Paris Democrat.

Opportunity

A rich old man was asked how he made his money.

The simplest thing in the world," he said. "I always did the reverse of what everybody else was doing. If everybody bought, I sold—pretty high. If everybody sold, I bought—prices were low.

Just now everybody is rushing to cities, which are swelling to an alarming extent.

Young man, go to the soil! There lies opportunity. Go with knowledge, energy and determination to be a real artist in your business.

You will win, for the people of the swollen towns must eat three times a day, 365 days in a year. [Cleveland Press.

Mule Sold By The Pound

A rather unique proceeding in the way of selling mule flesh was used by Johnson Speaks of Garrard county. He conceived the plan of selling one of his long-eared quadrupeds by the pound. He sold several thirteen cents a pound, and the animal tipped the beam at 1,000 pounds. The mule consequently brought Mr. Speaks $130.

Important To Sheep Owners

The railroad companies have been given orders to receive no sheep for lambs, even for local shipment, without they are accompanied by a certificate from the local live stock inspector that they have been inspected and are free from scabies, D. W. Myers is our County Inspector.—[Mercury.

Winchester Court
