This brought the locality into prominence in the aviation world and Lexington has recently added to its various other daring feats the distinction of having the first woman passenger from an aeroplane flight. Miss Harriet Quimby, acting on behalf of the war department, made a flight here last spring in an attempt to shoot the aeroplane from the sky.

The two trains met as a result of confusion of orders, and the excursion train was running on the time of the regular passenger train.

DISFIGURED WITH CRUSTS

"Some time ago I was taken with eczema from the top of my head to my waist. It began with sores on my body. I suffered untold itching and burning, and could not sleep. I was disfigured with crusts and scabs and crusts. My ears looked as if they had been sewed out of with a razor, and my neck was perfectly raw. I suffered untold agony and pain. I tried two doctors who said I had eczema in its foulest state, and that it could not be cured. I then tried other remedies to no avail. At last, I tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies, which cured me of eczema when all else failed. I cannot praise them too highly.

"I had eczema about ten months, but am now entirely cured, and I believe the Cuticura Remedies are the best skin cure there is." (Signed) Miss Mattie J. Shaffer, R. F. D. 1, Box 8, Dancy, Miss., Oct. 27, 1910.

"I had suffered from eczema about four years when boils began to break out on different parts of my body. I started with a fine red rash. My limbs were affected first, when it also spread over my face. The itching was almost unbearable at times. I tried a number of remedies, but nothing seemed to help me until I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. One box of them cured me entirely. I recommended them to my sister for her baby who was troubled with tooth eczema, and they completely cured her baby." (Signed) Mrs. P. L. Marberry, Drakesville, Pa., Sept. 6, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 4 L, Boston.

Orville Blunt—Yet. It's great. The bride and groom stand from it the better it looks!

Seventy-One Years in a Shoe Shop. Frederick A. Wilson of Troy, N. Y., has kept a shoe store 54x12 feet in size for 71 years; at least he will have completed 71 years in the same location on April 24th! 844 River street August 12 next. This is a remarkable record, to be surpassed, by few if any shoe retailers in this country. Mr. Wilson has also been in business for himself for more than 80 years. Surprising, just as much in active business as he was almost three-quarters of a century ago, when as a thirteen-year-old lad he entered the employ of John Lennon & Williams of Troy. To be exact, that was April 1, 1841. Mr. Williams kept a shoe store at 342 River street, in a building which had been erected in 1825, and so the building now occupied by Mr. Wilson for his retail shoe business is one of the oldest buildings in Troy.

A BUNCH OF MOUNTAIN SHEEP

In the past five years the elk in the section of the Montana and Idaho north of the boundary of the Yellowstone Park have increased greatly in numbers. It has been estimated that by many of the hunters in recent years the larger number of cows have travelled following them that is the males have gone. The elk are becoming acclimated to the high mountainous country of the park and upper Yellowstone, and are not proving destructive to their present environment. In early days the elk were valued for their meat and low lands were taken up by the settlers the elk were forced to the mountains, where they were not disturbed. Now that the elk are becoming numerous again they are being driven down into the valleys by the deep snows and are coming in contact with the ranchers' hay stacks and in fact eating everything in the line of tasty eating everything in the line of tasty eating everything in the line of tasty
