VOL. XLVI CARLISLE, NICHOLAS COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1911 EIGHT PAGES—NO 33

Bourbon County Crop Conditions

Widespread is the distress occasioned by the protracted drought and farmers have looked for relief to the first of a downpour of rain.

Each day the corn crop is to over a condition of absolute failure and the loss in the county will run up into the thousands of dollars.

To-morrow corn will be the tightest in years, in fact, a smaller yield than that produced during the dry year of 1901, when bakers sold at an average of from 15 to 20 cents per pound to be divided.

Potatoes are without the assistance of rain and the last blade of green has perished.

Pole and sorghum are getting low and water for both man and beast is sought after.

The usual crop of rag weed is being held in check by the drought and the failure of the crop is announced.

Many farmers who asked the result of the year's work upon returns from crops of corn and tobacco are nothing to right but failure.

Live stock are being sold and rushed to market, as the feed problem is such that it will not pay to carry them through the coming winter.

Farmers who stand ready to sow stubble fields to clover, rape, bean, alfalfa, rye and late corn as resultant crops to take the place of hay for winter use and fall grazing are waiting for a rain, the ground is too hard and dry to plow.

Feed of all kinds for live stock is going to be very higher than for many years and already soil hay is being imported into the country from the West.

Farmers who have a supply of corn now, will sell at the present market prices, but to those who are going to feed for the winter that must come with the failure of the new crop, which now promises to be a failure.—Bourbon News.

Country Suffering From Drouth

Monday we went to Frankfort over the L. & N. and from there on to Versailles and Lexington in the trolley, and we do not remember to have seen the ground along the way as parched, or the crops suffering so from the lack of rain. With the corn and tobacco it is especially noticeable although the tobacco can withstand a drouth much better than the corn crop. The latter in many places will be almost a total failure. The pastures are as dry and parched as the plows and there is but little grazing for stock.

Gardens are almost things of the past, and what few vegetables are on the market are ranging two or three times the ordinary prices. The problem of "what to eat and where to get it" takes on a more serious aspect every day. The present month is the worst in many years and seems to be pretty general over the State.—[Midway Clipper.

Big Cattle Deal

One of the largest cattle deals which has been transacted in Hardin and Nelson counties for a long time was made by D. B. Martin & Co., of Philadelphia. The firm purchased 520 head from Messrs. Lee Harned, William Daugherty, Fern Harned and Bud Harned, at 6 cents per pound for 200 and 5 3-4 cents per pound for 30 head. The cattle realized about $25,000.

The largest shipment of beef from Shelby county was made last week when a special train of eighteen cars, with 225 head, averaging over 1,500 pounds, pulled out from the L. & N. station at Shelbyville. The cattle were sold by W. J. and H. D. Thomas to Simon Wiel, representing Nelson, Morris & Co., at 6 1-4 cents.

Six car loads of the choicest animals were destined for the New York market. The others were exported to London.

No Difference in Price

Last week a carload of 730 head of heifers realized $6.80 for the transaction emphasizes the scarcity of yearlings when in condition and also demonstrates that the market pays for heifers were subjected to a cost of from 50 cents to $1 per head to bring them to that point. Yearlings can now be purchased lots without appreciably increasing the cost of the finished beef makes improbable a repetition of throwing out of the market at a lower price.—Farmers' Home Journal.

this week. Wednesday night, "Saul and David," a fine Bible Story.

Why Editors Get Rich

After long and careful research, much reflection and prayerful consideration, a great deal of worry and loss of sleep, I at last figured out how so many country editors get rich. Here is the secret to their success. There is a child born in the neighborhood. The attending physician gets $10. The editor gives the lucky-legged youngster a great send-off and prays for it. It is circumcised and the minister gets $5 and the editor gets like. It grows up and marries. The editor publishes another long-winded, flowery article and tells a dozen lies about "the beautiful and accomplished bride." The minister gets $10 and a piece of cake. The editor gets $000 and a request to carry the groom's subscription account another year. In the course of time she dies. The doctor gets from $7 to $100. The editor publishes a notice of her death and an obituary two columns long, lodge resolutions, a lot of poetry and a card of thanks, and gets $000. No wonder so many country editors get rich.

Something About Pellagra

Pellagra has been definitely recognized by medical men only a few years. Pellagra is a skin disease that is common to the south. It is thought to be caused by eating corn that has taken attack by a fungus growth known as "smut." It is a skin disease attended with terrible itching, and is incurable. Medicine of little or no avail against it, the only treatment effective being complete rest, and food and plenty of fresh air. Exposure to sunlight, however, greatly aggravates the malady. John D. Rockefeller has given large sums to aid in the fight against the mysterious disorder, over a million dollars having been spent on him for a study of the two diseases that are now attracting so much attention in the South, the hookworm and pellagra.—Kentucky New Era, Hopkinsville.

The Cattle Situation

"A remarkable cattle situation exists in the United States," says M. F. Horine, statistician of the Union Stock Yards and Transit Co., Chicago. "Until recently all markets were full of fat cattle. Now the supply situation shows a radical change. Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Kentucky have marketed their crops of fat cattle, and eastern packers are not getting enough good cattle to supply their local needs.

"The character of receipts at Missouri river points shows the western supply of fat cattle has been cleaned up, which leaves Chicago about the only point in the market map of the United States where buyers can get sufficient supply of fat cattle to be the case for a long time to come.

Business House Enlarged

The storeroom capacity of P. S. Myers & Son's business house has been considerably increased by the addition of the extension of the room immediately in the rear of the main house. The addition gives a floor space of 22x40 feet, making the largest storeroom in town. A portion of the new addition will be used for the display of stoves. When the spirit moves him there is no more progressive citizen in Mt. Olivet than Clifton Myers. He is, in fact, an energetic and successful business man and deserves all the success that is coming to him. He is also a stockholder in the Farmers' Tobacco Warehouse Co., and is a director in the Mt. Olivet Deposit Bank.—[Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat.

Mr. Haggin's Exhibit

A Kentucky Jersey fancier, J. B. Haggin, owner of the magnificent Elmendorf farm near Lexington, recently paid $28,000 for two Jersey bulls at public auction. He bought at the Cooper sales in Pennsylvania Noble of Oakland at $20,000 and at the Stills at Kirksville, Mo., Yoda's Golden Lolly for $13,000. At the Cooper sale, also, Mr. Haggin paid $7,000 for the famous cow, Lady Viola. These are the three highest prices ever paid for three head of Jersey cattle in this country. All three will be shown in the Elmendorf herd at the Blue Grass fair at Lexington, on Friday, August 11th.

Look Out for a Rush to the Tobacco Fields

Winchester Leader, Comm., July 21—A large number of young women from the hills, both single and married, are coming in to work on the Sunshine Tobacco Company's factory, which has suffered planer here. Wonderful stories are current concerning marvelous compensation to be received by those employed in the strong aroma of green tobacco, but in connection with the sun's rays.

The atmosphere of the growing tobacco is said to produce a state of many superstitions and leave it white and beautiful.

Sunshine tobacco must have a different effect upon the female complexion than upon the male, for the latter has a tobacco field to help anyone's complexion.

L. & N. Sued for Half Million.

Suit was filed in the Circuit Court for revenue Agent Hardaman for State Auditor against the L. & N. railroad company, asking for $500,000 for alleged omissions amounting to $500,000 for the years 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910. The petition alleges that the L. & N. in its annual reports to the auditor did not give correct statements of its earnings and as to its mileage in and out of Kentucky. It is not given out as to the exact amount of its mileage in in Kentucky than the State Auditor claims that no net earnings were many miles of road in Kentucky pertain to the auditor. If the claim is allowed it is expected that the auditor that each county and city through which the L. & N. runs will receive taxes on such franchises as they received for the years mentioned.

BASE BALL.

Miranda defeated East Union paired team at Miranda last Saturday afternoon by a score of 7 to 5. The game was without a doubt the fastest ever played on that field. The features of the game were the batting of Miranda's battery and the fielding of Miranda's battery, Hurst and Stoddard, and played a good game. Hurst pitched a good game, striking out 11 men. Stoddard also played a good game. Batteries: Miranda, Donnell and Stoddard; East Union, Swett and Hurst. Umpire, Hurst. Time of game, 2 hours. Scorer, Mr. Hume.—[Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat.

Ex-Bourbon in Texas

Mr. J. H. Lotton, formerly of Bourbon county, but now in the Panhandle of Texas, reports a very favorable harvest for agriculture in that section. He and several families from here left the last two weeks and the latter part of last week Mr. Lotton's brother-in-law, Mr. Lotton, and Mr. Lotton has about 160 acres in cultivation.—[Kentucky Citizen.

Pellagra Patients to be Isolated

Because of the spreading of pellagra in the Eastern Kentucky insane hospitals and the fact that there is considerable uneasiness among the nurses and attendants over the possible the possibility of contracting it, Dr. Ardery, the State Board of Control of Charitable Institutions will make provisions for the isolation of the afflicted patients, of which there are 12 females and one male.

Germantown Fair

The Germantown Fair is to have a very unique ring this year on the first day of the fair. They will give $150 for the best mule colt, the winner to become the property of the association to be sold in the ring under the hammer as soon as the premium is awarded. This is a good chance to get a good pedigreed mule and as there is no entry fee to this ring. You have all to gain and nothing to lose.

STEEL MONSTERS CRASH HEAD ON

THRILLING SPECTACLE PROMISED FOR VISITORS AT KENTUCKY STATE FAIR.

COLD SHIVERS A PLENTY

Two Monster Steel Steam Engines Dash to Certain Destruction in Full View of Spectators.

Because it is that any community is always on opportunity for witness such an ambitious and thrilling performance as is promised the crowds in attendance at the Kentucky State Fair in September, arrangements for the same is provided of two monster steam engines, started under a full head of steam and permitted to crash headon in full view of the spectators. A sight such as this in safety to cause the most stolid of persons, is with the nerves of steel, to tumultuously subdue and flurry as the occasion may be.

The idea of escaping steam, the thundering of the locomotive, the crashing of the formidable iron parts, the tearing and wrenching of the ends of twisted masses of steel are even in imagination, the nerve power demanding them.

Only one of the two mountains of many ranking headlong into each other is sufficient to freeze during the memory of four ranking up and down the spectators, and the fiber that there is no personal danger. The spectacular sounding and exciting but it is such as those that the insurance company will guarantee to be more spectacular during could be arranged, and the nerve power demanded for something out of the ordinary.

The engines are placed on opposite ends of the track, especially for the purpose. The fires are started, the steam is generated, the throttles are thrown open, and the two monsters are started in physical destruction, the engineers leap to safety before the impact comes.

PREMIUM LIST FOR CREAMERY BUTTER

NEW DEPARTURE FOR KENTUCKY STATE FAIR CERTAIN TO MAKE HIT.

Nursery cultivation is proving not only one of the most fascinating studies in the rural sections of Kentucky, but is also developing into one of commercial importance which is attracting attention. To those interested it will be good news to learn that the management of the fair has decided to offer tempting premiums for the best display of nursery stock at the fair and Sower department will be established.

This is another of the entirely new departments which have been decided upon for the State exposition in the fall of 1911. It is along the lines of progressive agriculture which is certain that the Ky. State Fair will be made indispensable to the land in the state, but that it will take its rightful place as the most successful and popular fair in the state. Mr. W. S. Smock, Jefferson county fiscal court, and Mr. W. H. Grant, Jefferson county health officer, took up the matter of the nursery stock and of the appropriation. The federal government has also given assistance to Kentucky each year in the planting of the Mt. Olivet nursery.

PRIZE WINNERS' PARADE ONE OF BIG FEATURES

Livestock, Bedecked in Ribbons, March Around Pavilion to Delight of Audience.

What has always been one of the interesting of all the features in connection with the Kentucky State Fair was the grand parade of prize winning livestock around the ring in addition building. This feature is to be given more attention this year than ever. It will be started at two o'clock in the afternoon of Friday, August 25.

The parade is an imposing one, not only on account of the amount of money represented by the premiums, but because of the appearance of the animals in the parade of all the winners combined. The horses, ribbon bedecked coat in some aware of their commercial value as they trudge around the ring, while the sleek, carefully groomed cattle of high degree prance along as if more than conscious of their superiority
