The Amazing "Holy Ghosters" and Their Leader

ON a sand-brown barren hill top in the little town of Durham, Me., in Maine, one of the most remarkable religious colonies in the world. At the head is Bet. Frank W. Sandford, one of the most remarkable religious leaders on the world. The colonists are called "Holy Ghosts, or the Holy Ghost and Us." The leader is called Elijah the Second. To his followers he is the direct representative of God on earth; to his detractors he is a hypocrite, or the casually interested, a fanatic.

Always more or less in the world's eye through the adventures and misadventures of its energetic leader and his disciples, who rove the seas and carry the "word of God to all countries of the earth," the Holy Ghosters seem to have come to the zenith of their notoriety.

The facts: Conover, one of a fleet of several craft belonging to the colony, arrived at Portland recently, battered and sea-bound, her lugmasts gone, her sails torn to shreds, and her hull so worn-eaten but refitted with the top signs of the dread tornado were at Georgetown, leaking 1,000 strokes an hour.

On board were Sandford, his family and fifty other members of the Holy Ghost sect, most of them living exiles from the ravages of scurvy and weakened to the point of exhaustion from many days' work at the pumps.

Soon after their arrival three men were sent to the hospital by port officials. Sandford himself was arrested on a civil suit brought by a woman, who claims that she had been illegally detained two years previously when she wanted to leave the Holy Ghost Barbarette Kingdom, and after the Holy Ghost leader had grabbed $10,000 bail on this charge he was soon after arrested again by the Federal authorities, charged with being responsible for the death of one of his flock who had been buried at sea, and for the illness of the others, both charges being based on the fact that he had kept them at sea in a boat improperly provisioned when he might have made port.

It was fifteen years ago, in one of the quakiest and quietest Quaker communities of Maine, for the inhabitants of Durham outside of Durham are largely Quakers, that Rev. Frank W. Sandford and his "Saints of the Holy Ghost and Us" crusade established the headquarters of their remarkable creed and started the creation of their Temple.

When the first spadeful of earth was turned Sandford's soul-capital and employment was three cents, a shovel, a harrow, and a shovel. John Henry Knowles, whose name is now immortalized amongst Bibledom, gave the first half of his home farm for the site. Other farmers became converted by the young leader, then only eleven years out of college. They gave their time, their labor and their land, and, finally, themselves to "the movement," as the Bibledom speak of their work.

Slowly a great white Temple, the wings serving the purpose of a dormitory, was erected, a four-story brick hospital was added, and several outbuildings sprang up.

Sandford's original three cents, invested in the "Lord of God," as the Holy Ghosters would say, into heavy investment, and now an outlay of $1,000,000 or more is represented in Sandford's "Bible-ship."

The way in which money has attained power to make the orders of the Bibleites has astounded the curious outside world. Sandford's method of securing funds is to pray. He declares that God has never yet failed him with money when it was needed.

The Saints of Shiloh say that God himself ordered the erection of the Temple and selected its site; that he furnished the money with which to build; that each successive stage of construction has been marked by a miracle in order that it might be shown that God was directing; that is to say, when it seemed, time after time, that money and materials were nowhere to be had, when it appeared that the work had stopped for good, supplies were promptly furnished through supernatural agencies.

The Saints also assert that Shiloh has been commanded from on high in many other ways. They claim that one person, Mrs. Olive Mills, died in Augusta's hospital "Bethesda" of all manner of bodily infirmities; that demons have been cast out by the score; that, in short, every miracle recorded in the New Testament has been repeated and wrought there as a sign that God approves this second evangelization of the world.

And as further proof of the sincerity of the faith, all the good works of which are done "without money and without price." Every comer is welcome. All strangers are received at the gate in Shiloh's humble fashion, are fed and lodged and prayed for, and depart or depart as their own or Salvation directs.

Evangelist Sandford is the head of the Shiloh movement. He started it. It is to him directly, as the claim is made, that God makes all the revelations that are said to justify the endeavors of the colony. When at Shiloh Evangelist Sandford ascends each day to the summit of a hilly tower to the Temple and there, so he states, "talks with God."

Though fanatical, an extremist in religious matters, Sandford is doing it on the belief that we must return to the ways of apostolic times, and insists that specific, the two new colins, St. Barbara Crowell was purchased, and then the famous schooner yacht Consuelo, which twenty years ago was hailed as the speediest of her class when she defeated the Dauntless in the historic three-cornered race. Recently the steam yacht Alaska, which had been leased by a friend, has been added and is by far the most pretentious vessel in the fleet.

Mason and His Precious Gold Pieces.

John Mason, who died, has carried three $20 gold pieces in his change purse for years. Despite new issues of that specie, the two new coins, St. Gaudens' and Indian head, refused to be "Put, and the old piece with the thirty-three survivors in the King of the Twenty-ninth Street theater in Kansas City, Mo., has been the only piece of money to help him secure a meal. Mason, John tossed the beggar supposedly two silver half dollars, but in reality one of the pieces was a $20 gold coin. Not knowing the denomination, actually ran after the benefactor and gave him change. In seeking to inquire if the gold were genuine, Mason, the eccentric miser, he could open his mouth, however, for the coin was back, crushed between his teeth. "Not twice in one night, old man," he is reported to have said to the beggar. "Certainly," answered Mason. "Not twice in one night." And the man "Not on your life," called Mason, as he ran down the street. On this occasion, "Think of that—because I gave more than I was asked for he thinks I owe me demands $40."

The Growing South.

The south is forging ahead at a rapid rate. Of the seven southern states, with Missouri and Oklahoma, it possesses 21,000,000, or nearly one-half of the entire population. Its wealth is $20,000,000,000, or nearly one-third of the entire country. Ten years ago, in 1880 the railroads of the country had an aggregate length of 93,000 miles. The southern states now have 37,000 miles. Last year southern cities exported last year goods to a value only $100,000,000 less than the total exports from the country in 1880.—Chicago American.

Simple Spelling Move.

A conference between representatives of British and American societies has voted that agreement for a simplification of English spelling has just been signed at University college in England, with a large number of professors, authors, and English universities, and the following from America: Prof. James F. Bright of Johns Hopkins university, Charles H. Grandgent of Harvard, Brander Matthews, professor of Leland Stanford university, and Dr. Edward Everett Hale and Dr. Calvin Thomas of Columbia university. The proposed changes were published as a part of the conference will be done by mode public after the conference is submitted to the societies represented.

Good Thought, Anyway.

Little John Bates loves to walk with his daddy through the woods. Last spring he found a bird's nest and together, starting up a rabbit or two, they hunted for squirrels.

Suddenly John stopped, in a listening attitude. "Daddy," he said, "I guess the trees is windy," he announced.

"Why, no, Johnnie," replied his father, "I guess not. Why do you think so?"

"Cause the trees whispered to me," answered John.

"The comet? The comet was here last year."

"I know. She's putting old news papers under the carpets throughout the house and catching up with the news as she puts 'em down."

How History Is Distorted

Russian Text-Book Shows Curious Instance of Tampering With Facts.

Readers of church, state or other policy have frequently caused the writing of one country to tamper with the history of another with which it has friendly or unfriendly connection, instance of such a distortion of fact of the history that found in a Russian textbook, used in all Russian schools, and edited by a great Russian scholar, Slovalski. The following are briefed as an illustration:

Louis XVI. was a good and peaceful ruler. After a long and famous reign, which he was most happy in his domestic relations, he died quietly in his palace in Paris, beloved by all his people. His death was caused by a long illness.

The successor of Louis XVI. was his son Louis XVII. During his reign the brave naval army, commanded by General Napoleon Bonaparte, captured the larger part of the European continent for the French crown. But the Englishman Napoleon showed tendencies toward misusing his power, and by means of bartering dishonest schemes against the legitimate rights of the people he usurped the throne and autocrat of all the French. He was finally overthrown and he died in exile on the island of St. Helena, where he died.—The Bee Hive Monthly.

TO LAUNDER PAPER MONEY

Indians Man Devises Machine That Will Wash and Iron Soiled Bills.

It costs the United States government one and one-third cents to manufacture a $1 bill. When the bill is worn out, mutilated or defaced handling it is sent to the treasury department at Washington, D. C., and a new one clean bill in its place. The bills which reach the treasury in the course of large denominations.

Many years ago Dr. Willis Ball, inventor, F. B. Churchill, with a machine for washing paper money. Another who is laundering paper money. According to the Kansas City, Mo., Washington, the treasury department redeemed $1,181,815 worth of soiled bills last year and issued new ones in place of them. Eighty per cent of the bills that had been washed at a cost of one-fourth of a cent each. Each machine at a considerable saving in cost to the treasury department.

Mason and His Precious Gold Pieces.

John Mason, who died, has carried three $20 gold pieces in his change purse for years. Despite new issues of that specie, the two new coins, St. Gaudens' and Indian head, refused to be "Put, and the old piece with the thirty-three survivors in the King of the Twenty-ninth Street theater in Kansas City, Mo., has been the only piece of money to help him secure a meal. Mason, John tossed the beggar supposedly two silver half dollars, but in reality one of the pieces was a $20 gold coin. Not knowing the denomination, actually ran after the benefactor and gave him change. In seeking to inquire if the gold were genuine, Mason, the eccentric miser, he could open his mouth, however, for the coin was back, crushed between his teeth. "Not twice in one night, old man," he is reported to have said to the beggar. "Certainly," answered Mason. "Not twice in one night." And the man "Not on your life," called Mason, as he ran down the street. On this occasion, "Think of that—because I gave more than I was asked for he thinks I owe me demands $40."

Woman

Her Home, Her Interests.

Menu From the Bible.

Some wacks ago the request came for a Biblical game; this does not exactly come under that head but it is most interesting and instructive. Each article on the bill of fare may be accompanied by a quotation, if it is desired to add a bit of novelty to a church supper, or it would be an enjoyable pastime for Sunday afternoon to look up the references:

Preparing the table:

Bolsover, a basket of summer fruit.—Amos 8:1.

Cake—Jeremiah 7:18.

Cake of dried grapes, and three heaping measures of figs.—1 Samuel 25:18.

Cheese—He carried two good fats.—Jeremiah 31:5.

Cream—Butter and honey shall he eat.—Isaiah 7:15.

Dessert—Thou prepare me a dessert.—Psalm 23:5.

Dessert—Thou marvest eat grapes thy fill at thine own pleasure.—Deuteronomy 23:24.

Dessert—We remember the melons.—Numbers 11:5.

They brought bunches of raisins, and wine.—Chronicles 25:40.

And they gave them dates in vessels of gold, and royal wine in abundance.—Esther 1:7.

And thy wine with a merry heart.—Ecclesiastes 9:7.

A Golf Contest.

After a delicious luncheon set-of to golf contest which had played golf together there was a guessing game of a series of questions to be answered by technical terms in golf parlance.

Symbol of Peace ..... Caliper
Sweet and dinner, and all things are ready.—Matthew 22:4.
A feast is made for laughter and wine maketh merry.—Ecclesiastes 10:19.
Bar for the entrance ..... Jerusalem
Harp, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer and all kinds of music.—Daniel 3:5.
To crush and tear to pieces ..... Mangle
Slow in the day our daily bread.—Matthew 6:11.
Two hundred loaves of bread.—II Samuel 6:19.
Fruit of the bush.—Judges 9:49.
Fruit of the vine, with vital same red pottage.—Genesis 25:30.
Fruit of the vine, new wine ..... Must
Bring no longer water ..... Pitcher
Fruit of the vine, wine ..... Grape
A dungeon of the birth ..... Cuddlesome
Fruit of the vine, wine ..... Nectar
Number twenty ..... The score
Fruit of the vine, wine ..... Juice

Somehow or other the fellow who knew how to all it never the one who won the bets.

MADAME MERRI.

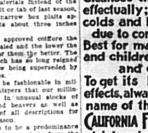
IN VOGUE

Many new skirts are noticeably wider. In soft materials instead of the single wide gore or tab of last season, two or three narrow box plaits appear—the plaits about three inches wide.

In the most approved coiffure the ears are concealed and the lower the hair comes over them the better. The back hair is worn at long reigned supreme is now being superseded by the pompadour.

While is to be fashionable in mid-Lenten and winters that our milliners have laid in unusual stocks of white wings of all descriptions for use in the season.

There seems to be a predominance of wing trimming on hats from the most notable of the Paris milliners. A favorite method of arrangement is a sort of banded effect so that the wings entirely envelop the crown.



Mrs. Sophie Hawkins

"Had Taken Off His Coat."

"I did mean to run away—it all seemed so hopeless. Now that I have had a talk with my dear old dad and prove myself worthy your trust."

"It is all one to me," Margery said, clinging to him.

Mrs. Hatfield: "I have been a mighty good friend to both of you," she said with a sigh. "I suppose I'll have to be either wholly or partly in a state of widowhood for a time entirely, even if It has been purchased at a good price. I'll have to pay the extra price of a good free now this to plant a diseased one and be compelled to remove it after a few years. Besides, the surest cure is to dig the orchard and running the chances of infection. Better sell with trees, summer, hence traps transplanted in the fall before the sap starts in the spring of root pruning. It is always better to of root pruning. It is always better to plant in the fall when the soil is warm enough. Mulching the soil about the trees is also a good thing to do, as the impulses set moving by the trimming will be encouraged to the extent of in the region of world politics is not likely to be very great. Do not use lumber trees to convince us that the peace of civilization is to be founded upon the crust of a volcano!" asks the London Observer.

"Then I'll go and get the license," the president would have something to talk about if he owned one.

Herewith he entered the first sub-

Stiff neck! Doesn't amount to much, but mighty disagreeable. You might not like it, as a rule, getting the rudeness of the herd. In the winter she is kept in dry corn stalks or similar feed which not grain at all. It is absolutely essential to feed liberally the dry cow for two reasons. First, it must not be forgotten that the dry cow can only feed not only for herself, but also for the foetus. She needs both double feed to be built up the framework of the future animal. If this dry cow is to be fed double she will suffer from pasture is not available, good clover hay is the best substitute. Give a pint measure of oats bran and one of oil meal, about two or three pounds per day, will make a good ration.

Fattening Ducks.

In fattening ducks the principal practical points I observe during the last four weeks before marketing are the supplying of an ample ration of two parts wheat bran, one part corn-meal, five per gallon. beef scrap mixed with water in a crumbly state and fed instead of breading. Let the night over the sixth or six ounce. It gave him a

Excellent Specimen of Apple Tree.

There good never be any loss in transplanting trees if a few leading principles of nature are carefully considered. The reason that so many trees die in transplanting is that the work is done without any serious thought of the vital needs of the tree.

The first essential in transplanting a tree is that the tree shall be alive when it is planted. The next essential is that the part above ground be alive and that the roots of them are almost sure to dry out and suffer, unless a heavy rain falls immediately after the planting, which, of course, is not safe to rely upon. It is never safe to cut the roots the finest of soil and press it down and against them with the hand. Extra care at this point will be repaid, as there is better assurance for the tree living, but of its getting all of its vigorous growth the first season. If large lumps of earth are placed on the roots of the tree they must be moistened before it is so compact that no water will enter them, and hence dry out. The first few days after the tree's life existence in its new home, and against them with the hand down the loose soil, will determine the fate. If the fresh soil is well done well done the tree will survive even though it should not be watered. Forms of evaporation will again; tucked it back in place and said as he replaced the coat:

"Then you thousand dollar bills; this one goes in bank tomorrow."

Phil darted toward the stage, his face white and working. Hushed cheering sounded as he, Impulse held up a warning hand. He was making a great effort to control his emotions. His eyes they rested on Phil and Margery and that this scene is recording thing momentous. He sprang up, holding out both hands and saying hoarsely:

"I know you didn't do it, Phil, though I don't know how I know." "Why, we do," the hypnotist said kindly.

Then for the first and only time Phil felt forsworn in a fast dash.

"To him I owed down that impulse to rob my employer. I owed him my marrying Phil," Margery cried.

Her sweetheart put her behind the door. In it he stopped, looked back and said slowly: "Margery, I'll be back. I mean—thank you truly. You—you want to save me from myself, but love will save us both."

Then they went away in a carriage, Margery snatching down a sun hat as she went and tying it on her head in the simplest bridal—but none other so much as a second glance at the bride. It might have been Phil's fancy, but he thought he detected a smile on the face of the hypnotic experiment. Be sure, though, Jim meant to be present at the ceremony, that getting back the money and nothing connected to getting back Phil, his closest friend.

Thought It a Purchase.

Some good luck had come to him in business that day and he felt as if he wanted to share it with someone. So when he reached her house and dismissed the station hack with the air of one who has been accustomed to the driver two dollars. The driver looked at the money, then at the man and then at his horses, and finally at the tall sight, sir, which horse do you want?"

Method of Planting.

not deserving of public patronage. If that sort can be avoided it is better to do so. Sometimes a change of feed is necessary stock. In either case he is

Buyers

Buy Fought an Eagle.

Elmer Elsen, fifteen years old, and living four miles west of Little Falls, Minn., had a hard battle with a large eagle and was saved from serious injury only by the timely arrival of a brother.

The boy had shot the bird, which was in a tree. The eagle fell to the ground and immediately went at the boy with its talons. The bird's claws became fastened in the boy's clothing and the lad was unable to free himself. Elmer was badly frightened and his strength was giving out when his brother arrived and freed the eagle with a club.

The bird measured five feet across the wings.

Changed.

"Have you seen Miss Beanpole since she inherited a fortune?"

"Yes, she is greatly changed."

"How?"

"Well, she used to be frightfully skinny. And now she's divinely slender."

SYRup of FIGS and ELIXIR of SENNA

Cleanses the System effectually; Dispels colds and Headaches, due to constipation. Best for men, women and children; young and old.

To get its Beneficial effects, always note the name of the Company.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. plainly printed on the front of every package of the Genuine

44 Bu. to the Acre

In a recent prize, five bushels wheat grown 8 months of 1 acre, Canada's Western Farms. Many others reported 40 to 60 bushels per acre. Wheat, oats and barley yield enormously. Mixed farming pays big profits. Ranching and dairying are also very profitable. Thousands of farms are now offered at low prices. Many of these are near railways and in districts long settled. Write for literature and particulars as to terms, etc., to

FARMS OF WESTERN CANADA FREE.

The Silver Cup

Offered by the Canadian Government at the Paris Exposition of 1900 was won by Canada's Western Farms. Many others reported 40 to 60 bushels per acre. Wheat, oats and barley yield enormously. Mixed farming pays big profits. Ranching and dairying are also very profitable. Thousands of farms are now offered at low prices. Many of these are near railways and in districts long settled. Write for literature and particulars as to terms, etc., to

M. V. MCINNES,
412 Gartmore Bldg., Toledo, Ohio.
Canadian Government Agent.

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Can quickly be overcome by CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Purely vegetable and perfectly gentle on the system. Cure Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, Sick and Indigestion. They do their duty. SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

BRENT GOOD TRAPPER
We will pay you cash for your furs, hides, pelts, etc.
SEND FOR PRICE LIST
MAIL BAGS & BOX SHIPPING TAGS SENT FREE
Brent Good Fur Co.
Minneapolis, Minn.

FURS

Pettit's Eye Salve — BURNS, SCALDS, CUTS
DEFIANCE STARCH — 16 oz. for 10 cents
Thompson's Eye Water

Piso's — The name of Piso's on every package is a guarantee of CURE for COUGHS and COLDS

A Thousand Dollar Bill

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

"There never was a nicer lad than Phil," Mrs. Ellis said, sighing. It is a heart-breaking to hear of him turning out this way."

"Nobody can make me believe he took that money," Margery Clare, Mrs. Ellis's ward, said firmly.

Again the elder woman sighed. "I have to believe, much as I hate to," she said. "Somebody certainly did get that thousand dollars—and he was about the only one who had the chance."

That is more than anybody knows," Margery answered with spirit. "Jim Franklin absolutely refused to let me sleep with open windows and only the outer doors shut. Neither he nor Phil heard a sound all night—but that doesn't prove a burglar didn't get in and steal that thousand dollar bill."

Jim thought of that first off—but there wasn't a mark on the safe. Oh, I tell you he was the worst cut-up—sold his farm rather than let the money tan three over, ill as he could spare it, the bank refused to believe anything of Phil. And you know he won't do he has in spite of what they say and tells him."

"I would be better—and braver," Margery broke in, her eyes snapping with pride, "than to whisper behind somebody's—accuses him directly—but everybody except you and me knows the money, and he has no chance to prove he didn't."

"Jim says he'll be punished enough if he did take it—losing his job and his friends and—maybe you!" Mrs. Ellis said the last word reluctantly, relatively.

Margery's hand went up. "If he loses me it will be his own fault," she said. "I'll marry him tomorrow if—if he'll let me."

"Margery! Darling!" a shaken voice said from the hall.

Phil Amee had come in noiselessly to say good-by just in time to hear his sweetheart's avowal. She rushed into his open arms and let her head rest on his breast, sobbing out:

"Phil! Phil dear! Take me! Let us go away from all this—together."

Are you brave enough to stay and face it—with me?" Phil asked huskily.

"I will mean to run away—it all seemed so hopeless. Now that I have had a talk with my dear old dad and prove myself worthy your trust."

"It is all one to me," Margery said, clinging to him.

Mrs. Hatfield: "I have been a mighty good friend to both of you," she said with a sigh. "I suppose I'll have to be either wholly or partly in a state of widowhood for a time entirely, even if It has been purchased at a good price. I'll have to pay the extra price of a good free now this to plant a diseased one and be compelled to remove it after a few years. Besides, the surest cure is to dig the orchard and running the chances of infection. Better sell with trees, summer, hence traps transplanted in the fall before the sap starts in the spring of root pruning. It is always better to of root pruning. It is always better to plant in the fall when the soil is warm enough. Mulching the soil about the trees is also a good thing to do, as the impulses set moving by the trimming will be encouraged to the extent of in the region of world politics is not likely to be very great. Do not use lumber trees to convince us that the peace of civilization is to be founded upon the crust of a volcano!" asks the London Observer.

"Then I'll go and get the license," the president would have something to talk about if he owned one.

Herewith he entered the first sub-

Stiff neck! Doesn't amount to much, but mighty disagreeable. You might not like it, as a rule, getting the rudeness of the herd. In the winter she is kept in dry corn stalks or similar feed which not grain at all. It is absolutely essential to feed liberally the dry cow for two reasons. First, it must not be forgotten that the dry cow can only feed not only for herself, but also for the foetus. She needs both double feed to be built up the framework of the future animal. If this dry cow is to be fed double she will suffer from pasture is not available, good clover hay is the best substitute. Give a pint measure of oats bran and one of oil meal, about two or three pounds per day, will make a good ration.

Fattening Ducks.

In fattening ducks the principal practical points I observe during the last four weeks before marketing are the supplying of an ample ration of two parts wheat bran, one part corn-meal, five per gallon. beef scrap mixed with water in a crumbly state and fed instead of breading. Let the night over the sixth or six ounce. It gave him a

MANY IMPORTANT DETAILS IN TRANSPLANTING YOUNG TREES

Entire Root System Must be Fully Alive, Fresh and Vigorous—Where There Is Indication of Disease Specimen Should be Discarded—Mulching Will Conserve Moisture.

The Agent—Do you believe in advertising?

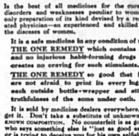
The Merchant—Yes, sir. It's better to be a live man in a dead town than a dead man in a live town.

CUTICURA OINTMENT HEALED BAD SORE ON LIMB

"Some time ago I was coming up some steps when the board crushed under me like an egg shell, and my right limb went through. I fell back and scraped he flesh off the bone from knee to ankle. The bone I neglected it for a day or two, then it began to look very pretty badly. I put balsam fir on to draw out the poison, but when I had used it a week, it hurt so badly that I changed to — ointment. That made it smart and burn so that I could not bear it at any more, and that was the fourth week after I got hurt.

"Then I began to use Cuticura Ointment for the sore. It stopped burning immediately and began healing right away. It was a terrible sore before Cuticura Ointment healed it, and I used about a box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. Within two days after I fell until I began using Cuticura Ointment.

"Cuticura Soap is the best soap I ever saw. I have used all kinds of soap for washing my face and hands, but Cuticura Soap is the best soap I ever saw. I have used all kinds of soap for washing my face and hands, no matter how expensive a soap I have used, and I do not have to use any lotion or anything else to cure it. I believe Cuticura Soap is the best soap made." (Signed) Mrs. M. E. Faircloth, 806 Lafayette St., Raleigh, N.C., May 8, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 28 K, Boston.



LOST HIS INDEPENDENCE.

Nags—I never speak of the Fourth of July. I was married on that day.

Nate Optimista.

Nate Optimista—Well, I'm another instance of optimism as naive as Napoleon's when he started out in the sentimental era of glass exhibitions. When he planned his campaigns in the era of political earthquakes and conflagrations he thought that the millennium continues to extend. Before the Tripoli question was settled and Bulgaria and the peace of the Balkans is assured, we have the outlook for China and Persia to make any change in the face of the far east and give an irrefutable increase of hope to all the impulses set moving by the tri-umph of the Japanese. Be certain of in the region of world politics is not likely to be very great. Do not use lumber trees to convince us that the peace of civilization is to be founded upon the crust of a volcano!" asks the London Observer.

"Then I'll go and get the license," the president would have something to talk about if he owned one.

Herewith he entered the first sub-

Stiff neck! Doesn't amount to much, but mighty disagreeable. You might not like it, as a rule, getting the rudeness of the herd. In the winter she is kept in dry corn stalks or similar feed which not grain at all. It is absolutely essential to feed liberally the dry cow for two reasons. First, it must not be forgotten that the dry cow can only feed not only for herself, but also for the foetus. She needs both double feed to be built up the framework of the future animal. If this dry cow is to be fed double she will suffer from pasture is not available, good clover hay is the best substitute. Give a pint measure of oats bran and one of oil meal, about two or three pounds per day, will make a good ration.

Fattening Ducks.

In fattening ducks the principal practical points I observe during the last four weeks before marketing are the supplying of an ample ration of two parts wheat bran, one part corn-meal, five per gallon. beef scrap mixed with water in a crumbly state and fed instead of breading. Let the night over the sixth or six ounce. It gave him a

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system.

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which arouses no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine or one of unknown composition as the same as the genuine and the druggist who wants something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either ashamed or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is selling what your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you want.

California

FREE—A beautiful book of California, showing location of every piece of desirable land and all the resources of the state. Also a list of improved farms for sale, with prices and terms. Write for it. Address Land Department, Southern Pacific Company, Flood Building, San Francisco, California.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Restores Color and Beauty to the Hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 49—1914.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK

Rayo Lamps and Lanterns

The strong, steady light.

Rayo lamps and lanterns give most light for the oil they burn. Do not flicker. Will not blow or jar out. Simple, reliable and durable—and sold at a price that will surprise you. Ask your dealer to show you the Rayo lamps and lanterns, or write to any agency of Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

$2.50, $3.00, $3.50 & $4.00

All Styles, All Leathers, All Sizes and Widths, for Men and Women

THE STANDARD OF QUALITY FOR OVER 30 YEARS

The workmanship which has made W. L. Douglas shoes the world over is maintained in every pair.

If I could show you my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then realize why I warrant them to hold their shape, fit and look better and wear longer than other makes for the price.

CAUTION The genuine have W. L. Douglas name and the retail price stamped on the bottom. If the dealer cannot supply you, send direct to factory. Catalog free.

GIVE PLENTY OF BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES. Boys' shoes are subject to hard wear. Those with the W. L. Douglas name are the best. Fast Color Eyelets used Exclusively.

W. L. DOUGLAS, 149 Spark St., Brockton, Mass.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

In every cold weather emergency you need a Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater. Is your baby chilled? Is your sick room smoky? Do your water pipes freeze in the cellar? Is it chilly when the cook stove and the others around the house? A Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater will banish all these discomforts in a jiffy. Can be carried anywhere. Always ready for use—glowing heat from the minute it is lighted.

Ask your dealer to show you a Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater; or write for descriptive circular to nearest agency of

Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors 10 lbs. Don't accept substitutes. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. ROOKIE DRUG COMPANY, Quincy, Ill.