In Harrison county James Leech, banker, selected H. C. Hasty, farmer, for legislative. The question was "wet or dry," and though the "dry" man won by 76 votes.

We often wonder how a man feels that is always in a big hurry—never seeing anything good in anybody or thing—or even in the entire community. Poor unfortunate creature!

It gives us pleasure to state to some of our Democratic friends that we are not going to be drawn into any controversy by any unkind words that may be said about us. We are perfectly satisfied with our standing with the good people of this county. Every experiment made by the people where good will is worth having has been in our favor. What more could we ask?

The People Fail to Appreciate Their Rights

With a great flourish of trumpets a lot of folks have been demanding in a voice like the earthquake of 1811 that Senators in the people and not by appointment candidates. Primary elections, when given the opportunity, they take no interest in, for then the average man does of a sudden.

On Saturday last less than one-third of the Democratic voters of Kentucky turned out to help name the primary candidates, and the business of the masses of dollars in public schools and other interests.

It is safe to say that the politicians who have always named the candidates named the nominees just the same, but of course by a different system than that used in a convention, but they did the work all the same.

However the chance was given, the people did not have a good ticket and we are going to elect it.

The Latest From the Primary.

As we go to press on Wednesday we are able to give the full Democratic ticket nominated last Saturday, and it will be found at the head of our columns to-day. McCreary defeated Addams between 25,000 and 30,000.

McDermott wins over Edwards for Lt. Governor by 1,834 with two or three small counties to hear from which will not effect the result.

Bosworth roses not a winner over Laffoon for Auditor by 1,117. It will take official vote to satisfy all parties but we feel sure Bosworth wins.

Here in Nicholas county McCreary beats Addams 152. Edwards carried the county to go over McDermott his closest competitor. Stuart did not make much of a race in this county, and not even in the State.

In the Auditor's race the contest was close in this county, and while the county was overwhelmingly for Bosworth, Laffoon, though the influence of Mrs. Zelia Secrest South, who had been promised a place in the Auditors office by Laffoon, the latter carried it by 11.

Newman for Commissioner of Agriculture, Hamlett for School Superintendent, and Green for Clerk of the Court of Appeals and Garnett for Att'y. General carried the county by handsome majorities.

Judge O'Rear on the Stump.

Judge Ed. C. O'Rear, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, was here last Saturday and addressed a good crowd of Nicholas county voters—mostly Democrats.

Judge O'Rear does not pose as a campaign orator or rabble rouser, but he is a speaker of great earnestness and of no mean ability. He was emphatic in his declarations of principles stating plainly what he was for and against, and in this he met with frequent and earnest applause. He stated in plain language that unless his party wrote a platform in which he was concerned he would not accept the nomination.

We shall not undertake to review his speech for it was along the same lines of his published addresses, but we do not hesitate to say that it was calculated to catch the public ear and effthose his supporters. Whether he is nominated or not he is an independent thinker and has chosen a lot of popular arguments to aid him in his ambition.

With all that we do look upon Judge O'Rear as a bear. He has been a consistent and faithful Republican, endorsing all of his party's achieves to build up the trusts and rob the people, and he is no better than his party which has contributed to the people of the United States at the last elections, and his victory in November in Kentucky would be hailed as a Republican victory all over the United States.

Judge O'Rear is a high class gentleman, a smart politician, and cute enough to know that this party cannot win on old record and he takes no chances at losing votes in his departure from the paths so long trod by his party, and he may gain some by branching out and fooling some folks.

Judge O'Rear is a Republican—no letter or no worse than his party friends who have kept him in office for twelve years.

Judge O'Rear is no bear.

A Sure Enough Democrat

Chas. H. Peterson, of this County, who is a candidate for Door-keeper of the next Kentucky House of Representatives, is one of those who is at his post of duty when it comes to voting the Democratic ticket. He was in Saturday to vote in the Primary and told us that in 45 years he had never failed to be on hand to vote the Democratic ticket, and that in that entire time he had never failed to vote in the Democratic primary election or attend a Democratic County Convention. We don't know if many men have such a record for faithfulness and it ought to at least receive the plaudits of those who believe in party loyalty.

The Cynthiana Democrat man says he is for Charley Peterson for Door Keeper of the House against all Comers. We trust he will be for Representative and get him to help us.

The Democratic nominee for Congress comes from the 9th Congressional district, the Lt. Governor from the 5th, the Auditor from the 1st, the Attorney General from the 11th, the Secretary of State from the 6th, the Treasurer from the 3rd, the Commissioner of Agriculture from the 2nd, the Clerk of the Court of Appeals from the 7th, and they are well scattered and all good men.

There is no good reason on earth why the Democrats should not elect their full State ticket in Fall—including the Legislature, and we believe there is one Democrat in Nicholas and one in Robertson who will help the Democratic nominee for Representative, and they both claim to be Democratic as to look at war record off the plumb. However the world and all Democratic party will go right on as though nothing had happened.

The ticket nominated by the Democrats on Saturday is a good one and to which no Democrat can object. It is pretty well scattered over the State and this is well. Get ready to help elect it in November, which we are going to do.

The money spent for engraving and printing by the candidates before the late Democratic primary was something—it is no doubt startling as high as a hundred thousand dollars or more, and every bill of printing had to bear the "Union label."

The Republicans promise to have quite a lively time here Saturday, and will have no less than opposition to O'Rear lays down and takes no fight.

Colonel R. R. Perry has bought the Winchester Daily News and is now editor and proprietor. Miss Goldie Perry, an accomplished newspaper woman, a present of a half interest in it.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS.

Since we were in attendance upon the sessions of the Kentucky Educational Association at Owensboro the past week we have very little local news to tell.

The State meeting was one of the most successful—ever held, and it was in our opinion a great meeting from which much good must come. The people of Owensboro were most hospitable and left nothing undone to make their visitors have a pleasant time.

There were over seven hundred city Superintendents, county Superintendents and teachers in attendance.

Prof. T. J. Coates, President of the K. E. A. and T. W. Vinson, Secretary, had prepared a most excellent program, and the most delightful thing of the session with it was the universal response to duty by the assigned places upon it.

After some spirited rivalry between the friends of various prospective candidates for State President all names were withdrawn and Superintendents by the unanimous vote of the State Instructors in the State.

President Coates complimented your Superintendent within place on the Executive Committee—the committee being composed of six gentlemen and the undersigned.

In addition to many splendid addresses by Educators of our own State the association was favored by a splendid and strong address from R. I. Jones, State Superintendent of Tennessee, and one of the most progressive forces in educational matters today in the South. Tennessee will be heard from over an hour.

We received much valuable information concerning our work, and we are glad to be able to report that the work in this county that we were told by the chief clerks in the Educational Department at Frankfort, Hon. T. W. Vinson and others interested in the Educational work of the State that Nicholas county stands very high in the list of wide awake counties, and on many lines we are the banner county. Many County Superintendents came to us while we were at Owensboro and complimented us on the splendid work of our county, and said we certainly must have an excellent County Board and Division Boards. We were only too glad to tell them that we believed we had the best County Board and Division Boards in the State, for when we get away from home we can tell truths of which some counties have with County Boards and subtrusters who fail to do their duty, we are delighted with ours.

The Nicholas county Board of Education will meet in the Superintendent's office Saturday at 9 o'clock and not at 2 o'clock. Important business and each member is urged to be present.

LIVE STOCK, CROP, ETC.

Probably the largest crops of mules ever shipped from Kentucky markets left San Francisco this month. Four hundred mules were put aboard the steamer in specially built stalls. They were consigned to the Colonial Sugar Company of the Fiji Islands, which are directly east of Australia.

Blackberries are plentiful, the vines being loaded with fruit never before, and the prospects are for a bumper crop this year of the "poor man's fruit."

The Gen. Abe Buford farm, located on the extreme southern end of the estate of Mrs. Alice Watson, Saturday, to John H. Morris, of Spring Station, at $125 per acre. The farm, which has very ordinary improvements contains 176 acres.

The Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse a Sure Go

The meeting of those who are working for the establishment of a loose leaf tobacco warehouse in this City, held at the Court House Saturday afternoon, adjourned with colors flying and success written all over them. The necessary $10,000 having been subscribed the meeting organized for the organization and incorporation of the Farmers Loose Leaf Co. for this purpose a committee consisting of C. C. Ratliff, F. G. Taylor, S. K. Veach, W. J. Kennedy and I. B. Ross was appointed to file the articles of incorporation and act as a Board of Directors until the regular election by the stock holders. It was ordered that mass meetings be held at Moorefield, Sharpsburg, Headquarters and other points for the purpose of securing the remaining stock. The offering of the remaining stock to the tobacco raisers is not only the proper thing to do, but it does seem to us that they will at once see the great benefit to themselves in the establishment of a market right at their doors, comparatively speaking. Those who have entered the great cost in time and money last year in hauling their crop to Maysville and Lexington do not need to be told the story of worry and loss. But if you did not undergo these experiences might need some word of warning against the troubles that await them if they are compelled to go to those markets in the future.

We shall not undertake to argue the question of a paying investment in the stock, for the fact is to be decided, but we feel no hesitency in saying that the location and the amount of stock so that most naturally will find its way to the Carlisle market, however that may be decided, and it is a sure thing that if no dividends were ever paid to those who have taken stock in the loose leaf tobacco we still they are sure to save many times the interest on the investment if not the entire amount invested, the first year.

This is a purely business matter and we shall not undertake the task of urging anyone to invest, for it appears to us so plain a case of self preservation that no urging is needed. If you are going to raise tobacco you must have a market for it, it is a question what is best to do to get it at least cost.
