FARMERS' WEALTH HAS BEEN DOUBLED

CENSUS BUREAU ISSUES STATEMENT OF GREAT INTEREST TO AGRICULTURISTS.

INCREASES IN EVERY LINE

Farms, Buildings, Acreage, Implements, Have Grown in Numbers, Value and Productivity During the Last Ten Years.

Washington.—The census bureau announcement of the three general farm statistics of the United States, showing that land in farms more than doubled in value during the past 10 years, having increased $15,252,784,000, or 118 per cent. In 1900 they were valued at $12,912,532,000, and returns of the thirteenth census show they are now worth $28,164,821,000.

Farm lands, farm buildings and farm implements of the country are worth $33,458,642,000, as compared with $17,357,425,000 10 years ago. The number of farms in 1910 was 6,340,120, as compared with 5,737,372 in 1900, an increase of 602,748 farms. The land increased in 1900 from 838,

E. DANA DURAND, Director of the Census.

592,000 acres to 872,702,000 in 1910, or 5 per cent, but a decrease of 4.1 per cent is noted in improved acreage, which in 1900 was 414,498,000 acres, and in 1910 477,424,000 acres.

More conspicuous than the increase in the number and acreage of farms has been the increase in the improved values of farm property. The land in farms rose in value from $12,912,532,000 in 1900 to $28,163,821,000 in 1910, an increase of 118 per cent, and during the same period the average value per acre of all land in farms rose from $15.50 to $32.75, or 111 per cent.

Farm buildings which in 1900 were valued at $3,258,613,000 were valued in 1910 at nearly $6,294,925,000, an increase of 93 per cent. Farm implements and machinery reported in 1910 were worth $1,271,196,000, as against $761,000,000 in 1900, $749,378,000, show an increase of 69 per cent.

FIREFIGHTERS OVERCOME

Four Succumb to Heat Heat While Battling With Stiff Blaze.

Horse Cave.—Fire broke out in the barn owned by Toupe & Co., and raged for three hours. Besides the barn, the poultry house owned by the Toupe, the stock scales and warehouse of Toupe & Co. were burned to the ground with most of the contents. There was a shed containing several cars of loads of coal that belonged to H. E. Thomas. Much of the stock in the poultry house and warehouse was saved. Foreman A. Bailey and Jerry Hale was saved only by covering the engine with wet sacks and by the constant vigilance of the bucket brigade. Hale's livery stable caught fire once and Clarence Owens' lumber yard was on fire several times, but were finally saved.

An engine came to the protection of the Louisville & Nashville depot, which was endangered for more than an hour.

Toupe & Co. and W. F. Toupe were the greatest losers, their loss being between $15,000 and $20,000, about two-thirds insured. The three warehouse horses, besides buildings and contents.

Wayne Coombs, Leon Payton, Henry Bailey and Ed Owens were overcome by the heat in fighting the flames, but are not considered dangerously ill. It is a time it looked as if the entire business part of the town would take fire.
