The GIRL and the BILL

It Now Remained to Find Something to Take the Place of the Abstracted Documents.

SYNOPSIS.

At the expense of a soiled hat Herbert Orme saves from extinction a girl in a black bicycling cap who has caused a traffic jam by skidding on the tracks. She is a new kind of librarian's assistant for Herbert, and he has designs on her. Her name is Alcantarite, but she tells him to call her Alcantara, and hears that in Tom and Jerry's time it was the name of a famous bruiser. Herbert has a new kind of friendship. He discovers another lonely girl in the person of Miss Ada Bell, who works for Sedgley, the agent. Ada has a fiancé in the army, and Herbert has designs on her. She is also a fine judge of important papers and tells Herbert that Sedgley has a big deal on. Herbert makes the acquaintance of the "Shirt" next door in the block of flats where he lives, and finds that Shirt's name is Sandal. Sandal is a Hindu, and another Jap. Herbert has designs on Sandal's sister, Miss Sapphira Ahuja. Herbert has picked a folded slip of paper. He finds on the girl, whom Sandal refers to as a "Jap," a tattoo mark of a dragon on the inner side of the forearm. Returning to the unfortunate girl's room Orme sets to conversation with a guard at the life-saving station. The guard tells him that the girl was in the derelict on the 14th. That's how the original boat, it is see the Jap boat, the Jap boat, the Jap steamer, the Jap boat, but the Jap steamer, the Jap boat, but the Jap steamer, the Jap boat, but
