The monument erected in honor of "Morgan and his men" was unveiled at Lexington with imposing ceremonies. A large crowd was in attendance, but we will have to defer particulars until next week.

Justice John M. Harlan, of the Supreme Court of the United States, died at his home in Washington last Saturday morning, aged 78 years. He was one of the grandest men Kentucky ever furnished the nation, and his reputation for honesty and ability is a rich heritage for his family and his native State.

Hon. A. O. Stanley spoke to a good sized audience at the Court House in this city Tuesday. Mr. Stanley is a speaker of the first water, and his comments on the Republican administration—both National and State—were just what the people wanted to know and which were told by a man competent to make the matters plain.

At Lexington Hon. Thos. A. Combs has been nominated for the State Senate by the Democrats, and of course will be elected. In all the Commonwealth we do not know of a more earnest worker or a more efficient man than Senator Combs. He is always on the job and generally gets what he starts out to get. He never overlooks anything that Lexington wants.

Seems to Have Struck a Snag

The building of our depots seems to have struck a snag and gone into Winter quarters. The Railroad Company has put stoves in the frame shacks, lined the shacks with brown paper and stopped the holes around the eaves of the building. The report that the City Council had ordered the work stopped is too ridiculous to consider, but as an election is near at hand something has to be said.

The Election Must Here

The general State election is but a little over two weeks away and the people of Kentucky have to decide the matter as to who shall be in charge of their affairs for the four years to come. We do not know but that age and experience somewhat impresses us with the seriousness of the responsibility, but if it does we have no hesitation in saying that the duty should be performed with all seriousness. We are pleased to be able to say that both parties present first class men—either one would give us faithful and honest service in our opinion, but with perfect candor we think the Democratic present the one that should be chosen. While we have no ill feeling against Judge O'Rear, but rather the opposite, we think James S. McCreary, on account of his well known conservative reputation and long experience in public life, is pre-eminently fitted for the high office he aspires to fill. He has long been in public life and he has never failed to come up to the requirements of the various places he has been called to occupy. During all his long career in official positions he has never so much as had the finger of suspicion pointed toward him. His private life has been exceptionally clean, and this is one of the strongest arguments in his favor. Age and experience added to this makes him an ideal candidate.

On the other hand we do not intimate that Judge O'Rear is an unworthy man by any means. His private and public life has been above suspicion; his ideas of public duty are quite correct, but he was a little late getting his eyes opened. His associations and affiliations long have been with the party of strong centralized ideas—the party whose doctrines are builded up trusts, made millionaires and paupers at the same time, and caused the government to drift away from the hands of the people and become a power for aristocratic aggrandizement in the hands of a few who were unscrupulous enough to seize it. Judge O'Rear has been and is yet a dyed in the wool Republican and his victory in November will be heralded all over the land as a Republican victory, and hence it should not be permitted by Kentuckians.

With these reasons staring us in the face we urge our readers to vote for McCreary and the entire Democratic ticket.

A False Report Corrected

Carlisle, Ky., 10-16- 1911.
W. H. Anderson, Supt.,
Paris, Ky.,

Dear Sir:—Your favor of 10th instant received. In reply beg to state that we never had any information that the City Council would interfere in any manner or take any exception to the new depot as proposed by the Railroad Company. I have an indistinct recollection of some one making some time since that we might not be permitted to build a frame structure for baking cans of sawdust, but I do not recall who it was or when. In any event, I paid no attention to the report as we expect to work in harmony with the City in all of these matters. We are looking for the plans for the depot buildings any day and when received will push the work right along as rapidly as possible. Yours truly,
W. H. ANDERSON, Supt.

The excursion run by the Missionary Circle to Frankfort last Saturday carried 201 passengers, and it is safe to say that 200 of them came back delighted with the day's trip. Jas. W. Berry and Heidi Myers, who were the chief managers, deserve credit for their good work.

The Corn Fair Saturday

The Nicholas County Corn Fair Saturday ought to be quite an occasion, and the people of Nicholas should turn out to see what they are doing and what sort of crops they are raising in different portions of the County. There is nothing like getting together occasionally and comparing notes.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE
Items of Interest Gathered By Mercury Reporters, Who Are Always on the Alert

Parks Hill

The sick are slowly improving.

"Grandma" Cameron remains quite feeble. Earl Singer has returned home after an extended visit with his brother James, at Falmouth.

Mrs. Mary Lawrence spent Sunday with Mrs. Wallace Blair. Mr. Thomas Moore celebrated his 76th birthday with a dinner Wednesday. Those present were C. P. Singer and wife, George Payne and Mrs. Mollie Hedden, of Paris.

Moorefield

J. M. Shrout is in Covington this week, juror in U. S. Court.

A. G. Kearns is attending the Methodist Judge meeting in Louisville. T. L. Clark has purchased Mrs. J. W. Carsons farm of ten acres on Cane Run. W. Durham was in Lexington this week attending the meeting of the Kentucky Conference.

Mr. B. C. Hopper is serving the mail wagon on R.F.D. 1 this week while A. V. Burgess is taking his vacation. OUR Democratic Judge Stanley, Mrs. Julia Judge and Mrs. W. S. Grimes. All are improving.

Quite a number of our people have begun cutting corn and making sorghum; having finished housing tobacco.

The family of Sheriff James Mitchell are feeling bad over the death of "Joe" an 18 year-old dog. The box supper at the Davidson School House Saturday night was quite a success despite the rain. Several people from this vicinity went to Frankfort Saturday and all report a splendid time.

T. J. McCann and daughter, Miss Nellie, visited Isaac Flora and family Saturday and Sunday. Harold McElfresh spent Sunday night with Tommie Flora. Willie Flora is on the sick list. Miss Nannie Kingsley spent Saturday and Sunday in Sharpsburg. The river is still past fording. We are having a variety of general rain at the present writing.

Locust Grove

We are having splendid weather for small grain and grass. Tobacco about all in and corn cutting nearly finished. We had a fine apple crop. Potatoes turning second growth. Mr. Durham has moved his big sawmill to Press Kendall's. John Roberts says he was the guest of readers of the MERCURY to know that the Locust Grove church yard is in better shape than for fifty years, all set good in Blue Grass, and the new school building makes the premises look entirely different. Joe Ockerman is building a tobacco set barn.

Miss Katie Rion, of Indianapolis, Ind., was the guest of Mrs. Pickett Blake for several days the past week. Wagner Kennedy and Miss Linda Campbell visited Wm. Campbell and family at Sharpsburg, Saturday and Sunday. The entertainment at the school house Saturday night was a great success, and a large crowd attended.

Cane Run

The farmers have finished housing tobacco and are now cutting corn. Several from here went to Frankfort Saturday. Miss Nettie Lillard visited John Kerns and wife part of last week.

Charlie Kennedy and wife attended church at Moorefield Sunday. Joe Atkinson, wife and son were the guests of Tommie Shrout and wife Sunday.

Tip Hocker and wife visited Mollie McFarland Sunday.

Grace Shrout of Cane Run was the guest of Mrs. Maggie Francis Monday. John L. Kerns and Harry Miller attended court at Mt. Sterling Monday. Robt. Shrout, wife and children visited Mack Hammonds and wife Sunday. Shall Russell and wife spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Charlina Blake. John Murphy had a good mare die last week. R. H. Myers attended court at Mt. Sterling Monday. Harvey Miller sold a good mare in Mt. Sterling Monday for $120. Mrs. Mary Kennedy will leave of going West. We certainly regret losing these good people. Our school is progressing nicely.

EWING

Mrs. Nannie Henderson and son, J.W., came up from Dover last week to visit Mrs. Henderson's daughter, Mrs. Hiram Hedden and family. They would like to locate here for the fall if they can get a good set rooms. There is quite a demand for houses in this part of town. Mrs. C. G. Chilahan and son, Clyde, visited relatives in Maysville last week. Mrs. Chilahan and C. H. Grannis and family have rented rooms from Mrs. Hedden and will move in a few days. Dr. Burgess and wife expect to move to the home recently purchased of Grannis. We understand that Mrs. Grannis will only chase a lot and build here in the spring. Mrs. Mary Hedden, who is teaching at Strodes, was at home Saturday and Sunday. T. H. Hedden and wife attended the Rankin-Arthur wedding near Maysville on Sunday. Mr. Polk Harvin died at his home in Indiana last week, after being a sufferer from asthma for many years. Deceased was the father of Mrs. Ed. Hedden of this place. W. W. Stickrod, of Richmond spent Friday and Saturday of last week with his parents here.

English Speech Lessons removes Harsh Tone of sallowness and Roughness from horses, also Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweenies, Ring Bone, Stifles, Sprains Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. You may save $50 by the use of one bottle. Sold by Foreman & Son, Druggists.

Mt. Sterling Court

There was an immense crowd at Mt. Sterling Court Monday and the report says that something like ten thousand head of cattle were in the pens selling at good prices with a buoy market. A great many suckling mules were bought at prices ranging from $65 to $175 per head. Yearling mules sold at from $130 to $160 per head. Fine horses were in good demand and many sales were made. Henry Bros. and A. L. Kerns of this county, bought several bunches of young cattle.
