The Democrats of Virginia have renominated U. S. Senator Martin, by over twenty thousand. Senator Martin is the chosen leader of the Democratic majority in the Senate but his leadership has been severely denounced by Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan does not take the severe relation given as matters worthy to be considered but keeps right on "hollering in."

His Money Didn't Save Him

Tre jury trying Henry Clay Beatty, Jr., in Virginia, for murdering his wife, decided that he was guilty and should be electrocuted. Beatty is the son of a rich man, and married the daughter of a poor family, and having lived a shameful life with a young woman of the neighborhood he decided that he was burdened or hindered in his lewed conduct by his wife so he took her out autome bile riding and brought her back dead. He seemed to think that his father's money would save him and that no jury would be found to convict him. He found his mistake when twelve honest men brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree and sentenced him to die. This ought to be a warning to other married men who leave their wives for the company of dissolute women.

JUDGE O'REAR'S SPEECH

Judge O'Rear, Republican candidate for Governor, addressed to a well-filled court room of Nicholas county ladies and gentlemen Monday, and his remarks were well received, though not with the usual enthusiasm shown when a candidate for Governor speaks. Judge O'Rear delivered his sentences in a clear voice, with deliberate enunciation, and is a gifted debater to listen to. His remarks were along the same line as his opening speech on Elizabethtown, which is published two weeks ago, so we shall not undertake to quote them again. He gave some twenty-odd reasons to advertise the Democratic Ralli, and Platform to be held today, and while he argued from faulty information his allusions were at times humorous and catchy. We are pleased to say that probably as many as one third of his hearers were Democrats and that not one of the is likely to go over to the Republican party.

At the conclusion of his speech several handsome ladies and gentlemen went forward to give him the "glad hand."

Judge O'Rear was introduced in a neat speech by Capt. Sam'l. Holmes.

Surprise Birthday Party

Quite a number of young folks surprised Miss Grace Young Saturday night with a birthday party. Quite a collection of games were played and plenty of good music. Refreshments were served at 10:30. Those present were: Misses Ona B. Smith, Bay Scott, Nancye Kemper, of Mt. Sterling, Lizzie Wills of Stoverfield, Emma Hurlett and Ellen Taylor Alexander, Messrs. Russell Soyer, Fred Hutchcraft, Basom Pants, Olin Hurlett, Colville Talbott, Turney Shouse, Joe Harrison, Albert Hamilton, Estell Soyer, Mr. Dalzell and Mr. Oldham.

Headquarters

Kelley Burris and family of Tuscaloosa, Texas, have been visiting his father, Burrice Burris, last week. S. E. Bailey left a telegraph work here to-day, after spending two days among old Harmon Alison's farm. Mrs. Fred Mc. E. Mosley of Wisconsin, and Miss Ivie Gaines, daughter of Gilbert O. Gaines. What a change since the rains. The dry brown pastures have become green with new grass and tobacco is just humping itself. Corn will be fair.

Locust Grove.

We are having plenty of rain now and crops never looked better. The only thing that will hurt is an early frost. Several parties who left this section some time ago have returned to their "old Kentucky home" and glad to get back. We welcome them. Miss Lute Ockerman, of Moorefield, has been guest of her aunts, Mesdames Nancy Tapp and Maggie Kennedy, the past week. We are under obligations to Press Kendall, Mrs. Shay and Mr. Farmer for stock water during the late drouth. Kind neighbors are good things to have about. Melvin Tapp fought a cow from W. M. Tuckfer for $20. The dirt road through this section has been put in first-class order by our old reliable overseer. Peaches are selling at $1.00 per bushel; hogs at from 5 to 5 cents per pound; calves are scarce and high; sheep ditto. The apple crop is fine. The lady friends of Ethel Wilson gave him a surprise birthday dinner one day this week. Don't know how they found out the day, but it's hard to fool the old maids.

The News Endorses Judge O'Rear

Judge O'Rear in his speech at Hartford said that he was opposed to working the convicts in the penitentiaries in competition with free labor and the Owensboro Messenger-Inquirer heartily endorses Judge O'Rear's position on this question. The most practical way to take the convicts out of competition with free labor is to work the able-bodied men on our public roads. In this way we will kill two birds with the same stone; we both benefit the State and stop the manufacture of articles by convicts which the prison walls which are sold in competition with the same articles manufactured by union labor. Such a plan would be of great benefit to the common wealth and to the convicts as well. Our State Constitution declares that the convicts can only be employed on "public works," but certainly the Legislature could declare that the public highways of the State are public works. Judge O'Rear should go a step further in his declaration against convict labor being worked in competition with free labor by declaring that they should be employed on our roads. Under the present system our penitentiaries are more than self sustaining and the revenue secured for their maintenance should not be surrendered, without some substitute which would obviate their support being a burden upon the State. Working them on the roads is the only way to meet this issue as the counties which use them in road construction should provide their board and clothes. This is the law in Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia and reports from these States show that the law works admirably. We believe that there is a very strong sentiment in Kentucky to settle the convict question in this way and that this opinion is not a party one, but shared by Democrats and Republicans alike. —Elizabethtown News.

Tuesday morning's papers tell of Maine voting Monday to repeal the prohibition clause in its constitution by a majority of something like 1,000. Official returns may tell a different story. Maine has been a prohibition state for over fifty years.

F. M. RAINS

The above cut is a splendid likeness of F. M. Rains, Secretary of the Foreign Christian Missionary Society, who will be the principal speaker at Parks Hill on next Saturday, and will also preach at the Christian, this city, on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The Carlisle Orchestra will assist in the music of the day for which we are very grateful. A great day is expected on this occasion, and we want an immense crowd, to hear the addresses of the splendid speakers who will be present.

KEPT HIS OLD TIME TABLES

Bad Habit of Business Man Caused Him to Miss Train and Lose Contract.

"About seven years ago," said Mr. Wrigglesome, "I lost a contract that would have netted me $11,000 simply by keeping a train in the face of the worst of the water man's getting there first.

"I missed my train by relying on a time table included in one of those advertising cards that some one sends out. The train I would have to take, I found, left at 10 o'clock at night. I got down to the station handily to find that the train had gone at 9:30, and then I learned there that the time table I had consulted was one six months old. Perhaps you never saw a household collection of time tables?

"Ours is kept, or it was then, in a drawer in a writing table, and there arranged in order, but just put in any way, and the result was that in that drawer there was a mound of time tables jumbled all together and containing in all a great number, for which they put in a new time table they never took out the corresponding one.

"I had happened not to get a very old one, but one about middleaged; old enough to be worn out and still young enough to make no trust in, which, indeed, is where I slipped a cog, but later I managed to lasso me a good one.

"About a week after that unpleasant experience I noticed home one of my pets set of current time tables and then I found that that drawer of all the old ones, some of them dating back, I believe, a year or more and then I put in those new time tables arranged in order, and I found General Household Order No. 1 on the back of the new tables, which was to the effect that no one should put any old trash in a pile by itself, but that the whole lot should be taken on any road was brought in the janitor, who was instructed to burn them and forthwith and unhesitatingly do so.

"This scheme has worked well and I have found it necessary to issue General Order No. 2."

The Last Resort.

Mrs. Hotbed was an ideal tenant for any landlord to have. She always paid and kept to them in every place she lived. When she discovered that the agent for the Uplift apartments was about to put a new tenant in the flat she possessed her soul in patience. But when she found that the agent had let unsuitably several times in regard to her taste in flats and then swam ratfatter, she decided to send a personal request to the owner of the property, whom she had met and dined with.

"Dear sir," she wrote, "will you be kind enough to instruct your agent to purchase for me a large tin pail and a rubber mat, four feet by ten? He will find it in each the water from the leaking radiator pipe when I am in the house and can frequently empty it, but the rubber mat is a necessity at other times. Yours respectfully, Mary Hotbed."

She never heard either the pail or mat.—Youth's Companion.

Paper Towels.

There is now on the market a paper towel, and for it many advantages are claimed. The paper towel is made of a tough, soft, absorbent crepe tissue paper made up in long strips and when rolled for use each strip is carried on a roller fixture. The towel is drawn from the roll as needed, at regular intervals, giving to each roll sections about a foot in width by a foot and a half long. Anyone desiring a towel has simply to tear one off.

A paper towel can, of course, be used but once, but it is not expensive. It is designed to provide a sanitary towel for hotels and clubs, for saloons and various institutions, for railroad stations, public buildings, stores and factories, and for domestic use—a clean towel for every use at every wash.

You are invited to call at any time.

Mrs. H. T. MANN

Carpenter Brothers, of Sharpsburg, were here Monday and Tuesday with their Chiffrain outfit at Paris. They are at Louisville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sparks entertained a crowd of young people at their home on Locust Street, Saturday night. Games and music were indulged in and a delightful time was had by all present.

The Mt. Carmel Baptist church will give an ice cream supper on the church lawn next Saturday. A delightful time is expected and a cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Mrs. Ben Rankin bought 14 male and horse colts, and sold a pair of ponies, 1 saddle mare, 1 harness horse and 1 harness mare.

John Harvey sold several head of 750 pound cattle at 5 cents; 1 cow to Elmer Theokmitan for $38; two mules to B. H. Harvey for $160.

F. J. Rather took several premiums on his horses and ponies at Paris last week.

You should see C. W. Baldwin in the Fowler Hotel Barber shop if you want to get an Electric Massage (or face of body. He uses the machine in his shop but can come to your home if you wish to have treatment at home. Try this wonderful little machine if you want something delightful.

Merit in Failings.

There is more merit in some men's failings than in other men's virtues. —"The Silent Man," by Silas K. Hocking.

BROOKS!

EACH SEASON

Each season brings its attractive features, but we have never known a season where so many beautiful things shown as are shown for the Fall 1911. We ask the public to visit our stores and see the many pretty things. Especially is this true in the MILLINERY DEPARTMENT. We have in this department the pick of various markets and know that they are right.

Warehouse Contracts Let

The Board of Directors of the Carlisle Tobacco Warehouse Company met at their office in this city Tuesday and let contracts for the lumber, labor for framing, etc., and the steel work. The lumber contract was awarded Ratliff Bros., and rule will cost $1,200; the framing, etc., was awarded to Howard Ogden and will amount to three thousand dollars; the steel work was awarded to Jeff Manley of the Decatur Bridge Company, and this will amount to about four thousand dollars. This latter contract is not final until Mr. Manley can hear from his company as to when it can furnish the steel. The roofing was not contracted for. These contracts will certainly be let the coming week, and it is expected that the building would not be erected.

The Morning Glory Band.

The Morningglory Band is spending the week with us playing for the Carnival. On Monday they furnished music and enthusiasm for the Republican rally, and to-day they will join the great segregation at Mather's Woodland Park, are where the Democrats will gather to feast on barbecued meats, burgoo and oratory.

Speaking of this band display commendable zeal in holding together their organization, and are to be congratulated upon their progress along musical lines. We are sure the people of the whole county will join us in congratulating them upon both their determination and gentlemanly conduct. This band is composed of a high class of young gentlemen and their success and continuation is greatly desired.
