Announcements

We are authorized to announce the following candidates, subject to the action of the Democratic party in the primary election to be held August 3rd, 1912:

For Representative:
JOHN M. HAMILTON
(Second announcement)

For Jailer:
JOHN W. BOWLES
(Second announcement)

For Assessor:
JOHN W. BOWLES
(Second announcement)

We want to ask the Carlisle Merchants if they know who it was that came to them with a petition against the Parcels Post?

An uninstructed delegation to the Baltimore Convention is a confession by the PEOPLE that they are too ignorant to know who they are for.

Have the Democrats of Nicholas sense enough to know who they want nominated for President? The big bosses who want to be sent to Baltimore uninstructed think not!

When Representative Bankers of Missouri, declared in Congress at Saturday's session that Speaker Clark would be the next Democratic nominee and was destined to be the next President, the cheering was such that the Speaker experienced considerable difficulty in restoring quiet.

The Democrats of Kentucky having been denied a Presidential preferential primary. The next best thing for them to do is to attend the County Convention on the 25th of May and give their delegates to the State Convention an idea of what they want. This is a year for the PEOPLE to be consulted.

The L. & N. Railroad Company has been directed to turn the Kentucky Midland over to the former stockholders. There hasn't been a greater misfortune befell the people along this route since railroads were first builded. The Midland will be without a station at Frankfort and Paris and will have connections with "nobody nor nothing."

Congressman Rouse of the Covington district has come out in favor of the Parcels Post. No man should be elected to Congress who does not favor the Parcels Post, and when the County merchants realize how they are being misled and robbed by the Express Companies they will quit signing petitions to Congressmen to vote against the Parcels Post.

Our judgment is that the Democratic voters of Nicholas are intelligent enough to know who they want nominated for President, and they are intelligent enough to know that an uninstructed delegation to Baltimore will trade Kentucky's vote for Collectorships, Post offices, Marshalships and other places at the pie counter. Let the PEOPLE speak out in their conventions on the 25th of May.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic Executive Committee at Louisville Saturday ordered a State Convention to be held at Louisville, May 29th for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Baltimore Convention.

County Mass Conventions will be held on May 25th to select County delegates to the State Convention. Nicholas will be entitled to nine delegates under the call. The newly formed Congressional district will be recognized.

Compartive Statement.

That our readers may the better realize the losses suffered by the sinking of the Titanic, we suggest that the cost of the ship ($6,000,000) would build one hundred miles of railroad at $100,000 per mile, that the loss of the ship and the estimated value of the cargo, money and valuables on board—said to be not less than $10,000,000, is more than the assessed taxable value of all the property in this Senatorial district composed of the counties of Harrison, Nicholas and Robertson; that the loss of lives was more than the number of men, women and children in Carlisle; and that every species of property in Carlisle including every house estimated by weight could have placed on board of the giant ship and would not overloaded her.

Champ Clark Club at Cynthiana

A Champ Clark Club was organized at Cynthiana Monday and the outlook for the Kentucky Missourist is good in Harrison. The Cynthiana Democrat is publishing some strong editorials in favor of Wilson and this makes the work of the Clark Club all the harder. But for all this Harrison would be almost solid for Clark.

Inconsistent Wilson Leaders

Last Saturday Hon. W. S. Hager, state leader of the Woodrow Wilson forces in Kentucky appeared before the State Executive Committee at Louisville and urged the holding of a state primary that the PEOPLE might express their preference of candidates for the Democratic nomination for President, and as soon as the Committee, which is controlled entirely by Wilson influences, decided that there was not time or funds sufficient to hold a primary, these same Wilson leaders began to advocate the sending of an uninstructed delegation. Why so sudden a change?

May 1st Rat Killing Day.

Every householder in Nicholas County is urged to celebrate May 1st by killing every rat possible. There is nothing so destructive as rats and they cause the people millions of dollars losses every year. You can save many dollars by making them scarcer.

Don't regard this as a joke but get busy and kill every rat about your premises if possible.
G. R. KELLER, Chief Rat Killer.

Auditor Bosworth.

Auditor Henry Bosworth is a live wire in the Frankfort administration and justifies the confidence of his friends who nominated and elected him, in defiance of the so-called "bosses" of the party. Strong efforts have been made to handicap Mr. Bosworth, but he has courageously met every issue and won every fight.

His work last week in raising the assessments in Kentucky is greatly commended. When designing politicians attacked Mr. Bosworth in the legislature and attempted to strip him of the power of his office, he met them more than half way and whipped them soundly. The charge was freely made that he would not have the courage to force the railroads and other corporations to pay their just share of the taxes. He has "come back" at that charge in the teeth of the men who made it.

Henry Bosworth is a "coming" Kentuckian.—[Cynthiana Democrat.]

An Illustration

—of the—

Value of Stock in a Well Managed Life Insurance Company

Two brothers (twins), whose names can be furnished on application, residing in Newark, New Jersey, in 1878, were left a legacy of $2,200 each. They decided to invest their money, the investment of these funds, and thereon walked into the office of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, and over the same counter each purchased stock to the sum of $2,200. One brother purchased a document labeled "Twenty-five Year Endowment Policy; Face Value in the event of death, $2,200," and the other stood to be $5,000." The other brother for the investment of the same amount, namely $2,200, received a document labeled "Stock Certificate."

Twenty-five years rolled by—both brothers have survived their period,. One brother received from his $2,200 investment his matured endowment of $5,000 —the other for his $2,200 investment, has received during the twenty-five year presents of additional stock until his stock interest in the Prudential now reaches the sum of $22,000, or ten times its original amount. On this stock he has received annual cash dividends of 10 per cent, which same, together with the present market value of his $22,000 of stock, would enable him to receive a total of $329,- 262.00 altogether for his investment of the $2,200 twenty-five years before.

In view of the above, is there any question about the value of the stock in a well managed life insurance company?

Note:—This illustration of the Prudential Stock profits is based on the actual facts as to profits as reported on Page 27 of the Massachusetts Life Insurance Report for 1905, and can be duplicated by The United American Insurance Company of Frankfort, Kentucky, which stock is now being sold in this city.

Some of our best business people and reliable citizens are taking stock in this Company. You should investigate its plans, officers and stock propositions.

Lime for Agricultural Purposes

Much interest is being manifested in the use of lime and limestone on our soils. The larger portion of our cultivated soils are either acid or contain only a small amount of carbonates of lime (limestone). For best results on such soil it is necessary to use lime in some form. The nitrogen gathering plants (clovers, alfalfa, etc) do not grow well on acid soils, hence the nitrogen of the air is not added to the soil available do no work well in the absence of the carbonate of lime, hence the non-nitrogen gathering plants do not make their best growth. There is an almost universal opinion that soils derived from limestone rock contain sufficient carbonate of lime. This is not true. Such soils are very apt to be deficient in lime because the rains dissolve it out. The purer the limestone the more readily it is dissolved. Caves and sinkholes of limestone regions are due to water dissolving away the rock.

The best test to determine whether limestone is needed is to prepare two plots of equal size and seed to clover or alfalfa, using ground limestone on one at the rate of 1 or 2 tons per acre, and weighing the yields of hay. The use of limestone on the experimental station farm increased the yield of alfalfa hay from 2650 lbs. per acre to 5690 lbs. per acre the first cutting.

Ground limestone should be applied at the rate of three or four tons per acre in the beginning and one ton per acre every four years thereafter. It is best to apply it after the ground is broken and thoroughly disk or harrow it in.

If burnt lime is used, about half this amount of the freshly burnt material should be applied, but it should be thoroughly slaked before application. Under no circumstances should we recommend burnt lime. If the ground limestone can be obtained in Where there is a good demand for ground limestone it is usually delivered on cars at plant for a dollar or less per ton, in car load lots in bulk.

City School Notes

The Honor Roll will be published next week. This will be the last honor roll published until the fall session.

Quite an interest is being taken now in spelling. All the pupils are very much interested and are doing good work.

Miss Ogden had a spelling match between the pupils of the forenoon and those of the afternoon; during this match she pronounced correctly like 250 or 400 words. Elmer Shea finally succeeded in standing up the longest time and won the race. Some of the other rooms have had like drills and found them very beneficial.

On Monday night, May 6th, at 8 o'clock, Miss Laura Walker, Teacher of Expression at M. F. C. Millersburg, will give a dramatic and humorous recital. She comes very highly recommended and I feel sure you will be greatly pleased with the evening's entertainment. The price of admission is 25cts adult and 15cts children.

For many reasons we should give Miss Wallace a good hearing but if for no other, in that she gives the School 50 percent of receipts.

Let our readers bear in mind the date of Mrs. Leland's lecture, "Liberty Day," Friday afternoon, May 10, come and bring a basket lunch.

Sanger's Greater European Shows

The Performance is Exceptionally Fine and Full of Interest to All Lovers of the Ring—Nearly Everything New and Novel—Menagerie and Hippodrome Unexcelled

Mr. Walter Taylor, of Birmingham, a famous English writer, says:

"The fact that over 10,000 people attended Sanger's Shows proves that the Summer Tour for circus still exists. It is born in our very flesh and blood. In youth it thrilled us, and in our middle age it is our comfort and solace. The smell of the sawdust in fragrant today as it was in the early morning of our lives, when the circus was heard and the smiling, bewhirled, bespangled adorable creature in blue tights was its particular angel and which shot by boundly by day and our dreams by night.

"Every time we visit a circus we vow we will never again: that it is the same old thing, the same old acrobats, the same old ground and lofty tumblings, the same old elephants, the same old horseback riding. And I am all true. Same old thing, nothing new. But when the circus comes again the fever breaks out once more, the roar and rattle of the heavy wagons and barking echo of their own, the tented city appears to the imagination as fervidly and as vividly as in the days when we carried water for the elephants, and when the coming anticipations as in the days of youth. It is well that this is so. When the man no longer loves the circus he has arrived at the lean and slippered age, where he has most ceased before the fire to warm his thin blood and mine sight the days that are gone. The first sign of old age is when we lose our love for the circus."

Don't miss seeing the big show, to exhibit at Carlisle, Ky., Wednesday, May 1, 1912.
