Don't Suffer!

[illegible] Woman's Tonic

You may wonder why Cardui is so successful, after other remedies have failed. The answer is that Cardui is successful, because it is composed of scientific ingredients, that act curatively on the womanly system. It is a medicine for women, and for women only. It builds, strengthens, and restores weak and ailing women, to health and happiness.

If you suffer like Mrs. Fincher did, take Cardui. It will surely do for you, what it did for her. At all druggists.

Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent free. J 86

After the Wedding

Joshua Graham Potts

Joshua Graham Potts, [illegible] ly esteemed citizens of Cartersville, is Joshua Graham Pott[illegible]. He is also one of the best cook[illegible] it has been our pri[illegible] to know. We are sure a short sketch of his [illegible] and useful life would be perused with pleasure by hundreds of Courier-Journal readers.

Joshua Potts is a native of [illegible]nshy, having been born in Nicholas county, April 20, 1823. His father was a North Carolinian and his mother a Virginian. The Potts family traced their ancestry back to Scotland, from which they settled in Pennsylvania.

It was in Pennsylvania in which Mr. Potts grew up to manhood and was the delightful abode of the stork. The household of which he was composed of six females, all united together at harvest time to cut the wheat grown with help-hook hands. Among the names of these blades [illegible] are those of Sarah Potts and Henry Potts. Sixty-four children placed about the homes of these half dozen families, fifty four of whom grew up into manhood and womanhood. Joshua Potts was one of the seventeen children that called Henry Potts father. No letter is his mind, and bright his memory that he can name each of the sixty three playmates of his old Kentucky home boyhood days. Mr. Potts says his father the high compliment of being a splendid farmer and a good man.

Mr. Potts married one of the dear companions of his youth, Miss Margaret Hall, in 1849. She was also of a large family, there being seven children, nine girls and one boy reaching the age of maturity. To this union twelve children were born, seven of whom are still living, namely, Winfield, Jeffrey, William, Thos. Gra., Mrs. Ridgeway, and Mrs. McKamey. John H. died about two years ago and Mrs. Dr. C. C. Holton a number of years since. That this is no longer an age of large families, and Mr. Potts has only seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. Potts cast his first vote in 1828 for Zachary Taylor, the Whig candidate for the presidency. He participated with his father in that campaign and voted the Democratic ticket, a habit he has kept up regularly every four years after. In 1861 he united with the Christian church at Hickory Grove under the preaching of "Racoon" John Smith and has since been a veritable tower of spiritual strength to the congregation where he has held his membership. He has lived a peaceful life, never having had one law suit, an unavoidable case in Indiana. He has been temperate in his habits, never having used tobacco in any form. He has never sought preferment at the hands of his party, and school director and road overseer are the extent of his office-holding.

By habits of insanity and economy Mr. Potts has been successful in a business way.

On February 5, 1850, Mrs. Potts was called home, and since that time Mr. Potts has resided with his grand-children. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hulen. His general health is fine, writing fair, eating and sleeping well though he doesn't have much strength. He still reads and takes an active interest in the affairs of the church and state. He is blessed by children who love and appreciate him and whose lives are an honor to his name. He also has the consolation of having thousands of loyal friends who regard him very highly and hold him in great affection and esteem.

Sometimes the sun seems to hang for a half-hour in the horizon only just to show how glorious it can be. The day is done; the fervor of the shining is over, and the sun hangs golden—say redder than golden—in the west, making everything unspeakably beautiful, with the rich effulgence which it sheds on every side. God seems to let some people, when their day is done, hang in the west, that men may look upon them and see how beautiful they are. Such a life is Joshua Potts'. He is a respendent old man and as he points above the western horizon a moment, he fills the sky of this community with the glory of a well-spent life. May he linger long with us, a blessing to those about him, an inspiration to all who come within the radiance of his beneficent influence.—[Centralia (Mo.) Courier.

Nicholas County School Fair

Arrangements are being made for the annual corn show of the Boys' Corn Club and the Better School Fair, of Nicholas county, to be held at Carlisle [illegible] March 2. The corn club for the year 1912 will be organized and seed distributed. A boys' fruit-growing contest will be inaugurated, and a poultry and flower show by girls' club of girls organized.

Why He Stayed Away.

"We keep four young sons now," said the retired woman, "since he left me and his legacy has grown. I remember just as well as yesterday—how he used to stay at the dining table. It open till six times got in the house."—Indianapolis Press

What He Saved

Patterly, as well as amusing is the valedictory of a western editor: "We are grateful for the kindness and forbearance of our subscribers in not asking us when the price of subscription will take my hat—the savings of a lifetime—and go."—Kansas City Times.

Middle Course Difficult.

To see the right and follow that is persistent, and this is easy. To see the right and follow that is opportunist, and this is not difficult. But to see the right and follow that is statesmanship, and this is to no wise easy.—Ivan Panin.

PUBLIC SALE

Having rented my farm, I will sell at the premises the following property, to-wit:

Wednesday, February 28, 1912,

Beginning at 10 o'clock, a. m.

1 Roan Cow, with calf by her side. A good milk and butter cow, 8 years old.

1 Black Cow, 6 years old, will be fresh in April.

1 Jersey Cow, 9 years old, will be fresh by day of sale. A good butter cow.

1 Yearling Jersey Heifer.

1 Heifer Calf, 7 months old.

1 Shorthorn Bull.

1 Yearling Colt, by J. E. Whaley's horse.

1 Bay Mare, good driver, or foal.

1 team Draft Mares, 7 and 8 years old, on foal to jack—will sell her sure on them.

1 Family Horse, a good worker.

1 The great noted Saddling Stallion, Peter Finley.

1 Mitchell Wagon, in good condition.

1 Riendel Harrow, 1 Binder.

1 Wood Drill. 1 Mowing Machine.

1 Hay Rake. 2 Walking Plows.

2 Double Shovel Plows.

1 One-horse Cultivator.

1 Riding Cultivator.

1 Set Johns Riding Plow.

1 Drag Harrow. 1 Wheat Fan.

15 or 20 Shoats, will weigh 60 to 80 pounds.

1 Brush Cart. 1 Hog Frame.

1 Hay Frame. 1 Saddling Box.

1 Buggy. 1 No-Top Buggy.

1 Good Bird.

And many other articles to numerous to mention.

TERMS made known on day of sale.

Sale Rain or Shine.

CHAS. W. DURHAM.

Carlisle, Ky., R.F.D. 2.

WEST STRONG FOR WOODROW WILSON

Rank and File of the Party in That Great Section Recognize His Worth.

HAS REDEEMED HIS PLEDGES

His Actions as Chief Executive of the State of New Jersey Show His Pledge Fidelity and Integrity—Love to People.

BY CHARLES G. HEFNER,
Chairman of Logan County State Committee of Washington.

I know practically the sentiment of the rank and file of the democrats of the State. They are strongly in favor of Woodrow Wilson for our Presidential nominee next year. I am sure that his nomination will hold good in every county west of the Mississippi River, possibly a great many in the east on business that they have to do with the west. Both of my colleagues in the Senate, both of the [illegible] I have had occasion to discuss political matters with and I am sure to say that regard to the [illegible] affiliations, I find them strongly in favor of Governor Wilson. It will be difficult to associate the name of Governor Wilson with any one [illegible] ward, wage workers and business men in the political world as Woodrow Wilson. He kept the pledges he made as a candidate for Governor of New Jersey to the people of that State and the integrity of the people of that State. Governor Wilson has always had a profound respect for the people of that State. He has always regarded as a man whose performances were with him. Just such a man is important as needed as the next executive of the United States. Having demonstrated his practical capacity as a statesman, things in his own state, through our branch of the democratic party, the opposite political faith, it is not surprising that there is a growing demand for the election to the presidency.

At Favorable Wilson.

I believe the people of Washington would send a delegation to the next National Democratic Convention favorable to Governor Wilson for our next President, and I might say that I believe he is the choice of the majority of the democratic voters of that state, and other states. We democrats are proud to see the people of this great commonwealth of the merit of Governor Wilson, which either already are receiving at the hands of citizens throughout the country, but we believe Governor Wilson is worthy than any other democrat in the country to receive the democratic nomination for President. He is