The California Mercury.
 By the Mercury.
 Here again in the vicinity of Los Angeles, and that of the members of the Los Angeles Free Press from the fact that we are not allowed to say many of the things that we would like to say, we are forced to do so. In consequence of this, we are especially glad that the Southern California Statesman, a paper published in Los Angeles, has taken up the cause of the Free Press and has written a delightful article on the subject. The article is a most interesting and accurate account of the Free Press and its history. It is a most interesting and accurate account of the Free Press and its history. TIGER, or Kindness Pays Best
 (Written by Albert Mann, Esq., a recent lawyer, but the case is his.)
 Bob was a little fellow, five or six years old, with a face as bright as the sun. He was a good boy, and his mother loved him dearly. One day he was playing in the yard, and he saw a large black dog, which he had never seen before. The dog was growling and snapping at him, and Bob was very frightened. He ran to his mother and told her what had happened. She went out and looked at the dog, and she saw that it was a tiger.

MISS FRANCES L. GRISSBY.
 (Written by Miss Frances L. Grissby, a recent lawyer, but the case is her.)
 Miss Frances L. Grissby was a young woman who had just graduated from college. She was very beautiful and very intelligent. She had a great many admirers, but she had never been in love. One day she was walking in the park, and she saw a young man who she had never seen before. He was very handsome and very charming. He was talking to her, and she found that she was very much interested in him.

T.E.H. HUTCHINGS, V.S.
 (Written by T.E.H. Hutchings, a recent lawyer, but the case is his.)
