Nicholas Teachers' Institute In Full Blast

The Court House presents a busy appearance this week. Monday the Nicholas County Teachers' Institute convened and with nearly every teacher in the county present, Miss Lida Hargrave, the County Superintendent, presiding, Prof. W. S. Layne of Ashland, Instructor and Miss Mary Lee Bonny, Instructor in Primary work, Prof. W. R. Ward, Supt. of Paducah Schools and Editor of The Mountain Journal, is the writer of the Institute and has given some splendid talks on practical subjects. He is a man of broad experience, a close observer and a great student of human nature.

Mr. Layne as an Instructor is very practical and entertaining. His experience as City and County Schools Superintendent gives him a wide experience. He has for several years been very prominent in Educational circles of Kentucky. So far the Institute has been very interesting.

Mrs. M. C. Freeman of Ashland, who holds several high positions with the Temperance Union and with Equal Rights Association is here, and she is an accomplished musician, and is also conducting a most excellent address on Equal Rights and Temperance. She has favored the institute with several solos.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Chas Firth, of Covington, entertained a good audience with a song which she had composed. It was splendidly rendered. Afterward she delivered a very entertaining and instructive address. The Federal For Women Society certainly a charming speaker and Miss was privileged to hear a recitation. The Sinking of the Titanic by Mrs. Freeman, which was fine. Misses Darnes and Shaw also sang a beautiful duet. Miss Mary F. Fisher presided at the piano.

That is all to Wednesday morning. A good program follows.

The program is furnished by our own piano firm here, Templeman & Company.

Mothers, E-Teachers are Teacher Day Thursday. A good program all day.

Recital Thursday evening.
