GARNET AND A GROUSE

By FRANK M. O'BRIEN

It was the last day of the season and they stood together on the crest of the hill. Little had been said since they left the camp for the start, and now as the two stood looking down at the valley between them, each was busy with his own thoughts.

Me, the man of the world, and Lew, the boy, or, rather, the youth, on the threshold of life, trembling, trusting most. This thing here in Schaffhausen was the first real hunting trip Lew had ever taken, and that it should be a success in all respects and that it should accord the same success or flower darling each year to him.

Edgar Watling shook himself as if to throw off the spell of a bad dream.

"I hope I'll get," he said, "for it cannot matter, now that—" and each other's hearts.

"I am going away from here," he continued. "The city calls to me. I am a man of wealth, and I must answer. The city of love and the city of hate, but it is not all of these. The city must seek its destiny in the marts of the world. Keep it, Lew, I've come to claim Ellie's promise from it is not the sparkling thing acquired by cold reasoning, but a garnet, token of love and faith, and as it may appear it is real symbol."

So with many other and more they parted on the station platform, each full of thought.

Harshly had Mr. Gephart, the leading jeweler of Glasking City, looked his store the day nothing than Miss Kingdon entered with a collar-button. That transaction over Gephart, the second maker of the number something.

By the way, Mr. Gephart one and a lady friend of mine is very anxious of the little ring of which she has passed me to find out for her. What would you—"

Mr. Gephart, who had heard the same ingenious things on every day for a season for twenty years long and who was highly skilled in his line, he brought it back and said it, "Mr. Schaffhausen, three carats, a fine quality of stone on its face and a very reasonable price."

Miss Kingdon did not go to school with Ellie Weir's age to a tee—and called up Wildwood cottage, which had been granted by Lew's father especially for the set, which is a summer cottage. In fifteen years talks have been made in each town by digging a well in the ground and erecting a cabin across around it. But this new task is by two sections and one wagon. When the parts are cleaned together a task having a depth of about seven feet and thirty feet long by ten or twelve in width is made.

Mr. Kline has made arrangements for the appearance on Don Pizzo, the educated horse. The animal is said to be without a peer and has been on the big-time vaudeville circuits. About one month more he is one of the attractions on the Majestic Theatre bill. He is in charge of Prof. Elliott.

Princess Victoria, the miniature lion, Melba, will be one of the big features with the show. She is a most perfectly formed wagon in the world and has a suite of remarkable talent and beauty. The midget has been in the show business for and has made a lot of friends.

The Stanza Musical Company.

Johnson's Nonic show is a musical comedy production carrying 30 people. It is far superior to the average road show. The company is headed by the talking for a change of bill every day. Manager Johnson's reputation for the season and his in the members re-engaged is a guarantee of their being popular in the Northern States, where they will go without a break about the soon and women in the country where Johnson's Nonic show has been for the last four years. One of the features of the offering will be an all male battle. The show was planned and staged by Johnson and can easily carry eighty people and about thirty horses and wagons.

A moving picture is one of the big shows. The interior track has a steep incline and the cars will run at a speed of a mile a minute. Mr. Hardy's high-wire act, one of the best of its kind, will be put on the air under Mr. Kilney's control. Hardy is known as the "Human Fly" because of his wire performers in the world. He has been in the show business first of running Niagara Falls on a wire.

A. F. THAVIU, MUSICAL DIRECTOR

Thavin, the Russian band director, who has been engaged by the Kline Big Shows for the Blue Grass Fair, August 3 to 8, with his famous band of 24 musicians, is a musical genius, and a man of many artistic attainments. He was a violin virtuoso early—training that fitted him for his present work. He is a composer of note, and all without offending the taste of the most fastidious.

Accompanying Thavin is a company of singers and musicians that will make more popular grand operas. Each will be featured and their individual interpretation of these operas is a treat to the lovers of high class music. The coming of Thavin's band will be a real treat to all music lovers. His company is composed of artists who rank positive thousands of dollars per week and who are from the most exclusive to the very latest song that is being rendered in America. As a program maker, Thavin is the second to none. He combines a knowledge of what the public wants with the popular, in such a manner that the most critical and exacting people are pleased. The stricker for novelty and the man who comes home to have their ears tickled with the latest popular song are both pleased, and all without offending the taste of the most fastidious.

KLINE'S BIG SHOWS BLUE GRASS FAIR

INCLUDE NEW ATTRACTIONS AND SURPRISES FOR THE PUBLIC.

Company to Appear at the Blue Grass Fair Next and Most Complete of That Have Visited Kentucky.

This year as in the past the Kline Shows have added new attractions and surprises for the public, the former perfected only by great labor, patience and skill with no thought of time and money to make their organization that which it is now, the most complete and best equipped carnival company touring the country today.

The repertoire of new ideas and attractive features are far above the old worn-out and carnivals of a few years ago.

Most startling features will be presented in the Kline Shows being the most daring public. The new attractions, the ride, riding animals is the most unique and far removed from all others.

The Kline Shows have been made popular in their clean class and character of everything undertaken. Nothing of a questionable nature has ever been tolerated. The usual catch-penny devices are absent, and only such as have been conspicuous by their absence.

The company this season is the largest and most complete the Kline Shows have ever had on the road. It will be seen that the Kline Shows will be one of the first on a special train of twenty cars.

The equipment is in keeping with the aggregation of several hundred, from front to rear. The wagons and accessories are varied, comprising every thing that is modern and necessary to effect and amused when they arrive at the fair grounds. The tents are all clean, that is one thing about the Kline Shows that is very apparent. He has a reputation which has reflected in the Kline Shows being liked by the biggest and best fairs in the country for a number of years. The five years he has been showing at the Illinois State Fair, all unsurpassed, the Illinois State Fair and like places have been his regular annual visits. He has secured the New York State Fair for 1914.

The following are a few of the attractions that will be with the Kline Shows:

The Walter K. Sibley, International lady champion swimmers and divers who is one of the big attractions. A spectacular swimming tank has been constructed for the act, which is an unique catch. In former years tanks have been made in each town by digging a hole in the ground and erecting a cabin across around it. But this new tank is in two sections and one wagon. When the parts are cleaned together a tank having a depth of about seven feet and thirty feet long by ten or twelve in width is made.

For Children to Know.

Just as soon as he can cuddle out of doors teach your little boy his name and address. Here's a case in point: Willie Jones, 1376 Amsterdam avenue."

Willie is a precocious youngster and often when searching for a lost Johnnie they call him.

Teach Johnnie that a boy's best friend is his mother. Tell him never to say, "Oh! look at that slow man. If my little Johnnie should see a man who is slow he would probably call him a little goose, and some kind policeman to play with, and Johnnie would run there and have a lovely time till mother came after him.

Many a poor mite has gone into paroxysms when he wandered away from home and had to be taken charge of by the very policeman who had been the happy man of his babyhood. Remember that the police are friends and guardians of lost babies, and, if you are so foolish as to bring up your children by fear, find some policeman to take them away when they are naughty.

COMMENT

We have always had, and will always have, the greatest admiration and affection for those men who fought for a Cause, which, though it was futile, was none the less bravely upheld by them and as bravely surrendered when the God of Battles ruled against them. For this reason, if for no other, we regret to see so honorable and so honored a veteran of this host of valiant gentlemen, as is Colonel Bennett H. Young, enter the arena of party politics at a time so inopportune. That he will receive many votes is probable; that he will be elected as Senator from Kentucky is, to say the least, improbable. Senator Camden, whose appointment to serve out the unexpired term of Senator Bradley met with the universal approval of the party, has already entered upon the duties of his office. By the end of the term for which he was appointed he will have familiarized himself with the duties and requirements of the office, and be in a position to be of the greatest advantage the people of his State. That he is unexceedingly wealthy man had no more to do with his speeches by one of his opponents to prejudice his cause, though his wealth, we feel may not be urged as a barrier, nor particularly as a qualification, for the very fact the more emoluments of office mean little to a man of his wealth, is a handicap, in itself interest, which is, though unjustifiable, a reason why he should be placed upon every candidate, subconsciously, if you will, in the average voter. The Camden, we believe, desires chiefly to be of service to his State. True, the duties of the office means much to him—and it is natural and proper that he should; but he has shown, in numberless instances, that he is willing to give of his means and wealth at heart and that his service is wholly free from self interest. In this respect, as in many others, Kentuckians, we believe, will recognize the wisdom of the old adage about "swapping" horses when one is crossing a stream.

Trustees Of Rural Schools To Be Elected Aug. 1

The following is the list of substitutes where election for trustees will be held this year. Owing to the primary for county officers last year being on the same day as trustee election, people failed to vote, except in a few districts, and in such cases the old trustee held over another year, and in others the County Board filled the vacancies by appointment. Women are eligible to vote at these substitutes and are urged to do so. Remember that the polls will be closed at 4 o'clock p. m. sharp.

Bayley Tobacco agreage is given at 70 per cent., while the condition is estimated to be 95 per cent. Dark tobacco shows an average in acreage of 61 per cent, while its condition is given 61 per cent. Much of the tobacco was unable to be set owing to the drouth and what was set is reported to be in only fair condition and badly needing rain. It must be remembered, however, that there is a possibility for a great outcome in the Burley crop in case of rain within the next few days.

"Live stock is beginning to show the scarcity of water, although the condition of horses is given at 92 per cent; cattle at 91 per cent; hogs at 92 per cent, and sheep at 91 per cent. Poultry is reported as doing well under the high quality of your stock will not increase your profits.

The total school census for 1914 shows 257,810. For 1913 it showed 251,686. This increase is accounted for by the increase in population in coal-producing counties.

Stanley's Father Is Minister Of The Christian Church

It may not be generally known that the father of Congressman A. O. Stanley, one of the three candidates for the Democratic Senatorial nomination, is a minister of the gospel, but he is, his name is Rev. Dr. Wilbur Stanley, and he is a leading light of the Christian church at Burkesville, Cumberland county, Ky. Dr. Stanley, who came to Louisville a few days ago to see his son, who was there to fill a political speech, although 74 years old, is actively engaged in the ministry, and told a newspaper reporter who interviewed him that he can still ride horseback or a bicycle with almost the same ease he did as a young man. He has served in various pulpits throughout Kentucky in nearly fifty years of service. He personally knew Alexander Campbell, the founder of the Christian church, and is a large membership in this State. Dr. Stanley takes a most lively interest in the political vicissitudes of his distinguished son and is confident he will win the race.—Lexington Leader.

July Crop Report For Kentucky Discouraging

The crop report issued by Commissioner of Agriculture, Hobson Man for July shows the general condition of growing crops to be generally discouraging, by the lack of rainfall. Gardens and pastures are suffering and in many parts of the State have been parched and burned up by the dry weather. The report in part follows:

Corn is reported to be in fairly good standing the drouth better than any other of the growing crops. It has been well cultivated and so far reports show the condition of 91 per cent.

"Much of the wheat has not yet been threshed, but where it has been the final yield is reported as an average of 17 bushels per acre for the State and of a good quality. Oats promise an average of 17 bushels on the final yield, although in some sections they are reported as so poor that they were not worth cutting. Rye is given as making an average of 11 bushels per acre. Much threshing has not been done yet.

Burley tobacco acreage is given at 70 per cent., while the condition is estimated to be 95 per cent. Dark tobacco shows an average in acreage of 61 per cent, while its condition is given 61 per cent. Much of the tobacco was unable to be set owing to the drouth and what was set is reported to be in only fair condition and badly needing rain. It must be remembered, however, that there is a possibility for a great outcome in the Burley crop in case of rain within the next few days.

Kentucky Coke Production Is Increasing Rapidly

Coke is manufactured in Kentucky from coal mined in both the eastern and the western parts of the State, but although the coals of the eastern counties are in large part among the high grade coking coals of the Appalachian field, most of the coke, until the last two years, was made in the western district, which is part of the Illinois-Indiana field. Since the recent extensive coal-mining developments in the Elkhorn district of Pike and Harlan counties, however, coke ovens have been built and the principal coking activities have shifted to the eastern part of the State, and Kentucky is now assuming some importance as a coke manufacturing State. The production has increased from less than 50,000 tons in 1909 to 191,555 tons in 1912 and to 317,084 tons in 1913. During 1913 a plant of 54 Semet-Solvay by-product ovens and 50 new bee-hive ovens were constructed and by a coincidence 104 ovens were abandoned, so that the total number in existence at the close of 1913 was the same (1,049) as at the close of 1912.—U. S. Geological Survey.

Famous Citizen Of Bath County Visits Lexington

The Lexington Leader had the following last week in its "Heard About Town" column:

"Lieutenant-Colonel Henry T. Allen, who accompanied Assistant Secretary of War Henry S. Breckinridge here from Washington yesterday, is one of the most distinguished officers in the American army. Col. Allen, who is a native of Sharpsburg, Bath county, has made two trips of exploration to Alaska, chartering and naming rivers and mountains there. He has been United States military attache at St. Petersburg and Stockholm. He was in Cuba during the Spanish American war and just before the battle in which Schley wiped out the flower of the Spanish navy, Col. Allen went with Gen. Lawton to the top of a hill overlooking Santiago Bay and with him studied the positions of the great ships, and they mapped out for the best means of storming the defenses of the city from the land. Col. Allen does not come to Kentucky as often probably as he would like to, but when he does come, he is warmly received. He has many friends in Lexington and throughout Central Kentucky."

What Esau Saw, Esau

Esau Moore rescued a woman from drowning, according to a mountain exchange and the Frankfort Journal proceeds to tell how Moore, a member of the poor Juvenile Mutt whose Mission in life is to be Ornament Indoors.

Rufus would be aroused each Sunday by the Sunday band of 60 Pieces playing "Hail to the Chief who in Triumph Advances."

Between the Buckwheats and the Moores, the two Family Records would slip him the pleasing Information that never since Methuselah pulled their first Harmonies had there been such a Wealthy and Aristocratic Prodigy of Intellectual Brilliancy and Physical Valor.

Consequently when Rufus hit the Pike with the Medaller under the Arm, he was his Chest about a foot in Front of him.

He acknowledged with a Slight Nod the Plaudits of the Populace, and Refused to Kiss the Babies.

Edgar, stationing under a Tree of Knowledge, and getting a Drink of Water from the Public Fountain, Refused to Eat Anything, and Refused to Drink Anything but Water.

They had corraled his Goat, so he had to play the Part himself.

It had been dinged into him that Three Fifteenyear means to wait until everyone else has been Served and then murmur a few Thanks for the Leavings.

Finally, his Parents had overtaxed him that if he want Fishing he couldn't get a Nibble, and if he attended a Tree he would fall and break his Leg, and if he tried to make anyone more than Two Dollars at one time, he would go Broke.

Therefore, when both were in College, Rufus joined an ginseng Half-back, with Blue Smoke coming from his Nostrils, and achieved the undying Distinction of being singled out by Walter Camp.

Edgar and up on the Bleachers with Some other Nice Students and is answering Tenor to a Song about Alma Mater.

Even the Undergrads could not take the Dam out of Rufus.

He was Prosher than Green Paint and his Work was Raw, but he was so Resilient that no one could pin him to the Mat and keep him there.

When a Boy has been told 877 times a Day for many Years that he is the Principal Feature of the Landscape, it Does not take very much Deducting to Cure him.

He left College thoroughly convinced that the World was his Oyster and that he had an Opener in every Pocket.

He began grabbing Public Service Utilities by Strong-Arm methods, whereupon a lot of Uplifters became excited and wanted some one else to lead him.

He put things across because when he tackled the Bull under his Arm and began to dig for the Goal of his Immediate Ambition, all the Friends of Public Weal were seared Blue and retired behind the Bushes.

Edgar took his Degree out into the Great World and began to make Application Inquiries regarding Humble Employment which would involve no Responsibilities.

He became Co-Office Lawyer of the dull gray Variety with a special Aptitude for drawing up Leases and advising Abstracts.

Then he met Jane, a Jury or Eight a Short Acquaintance and Rushed Her Off to Church and Married Her.
