HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

"The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly trouble, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Remedial Ingredients.

At a New York hotel a man who had sold his horse weekly from an 8-year-old to a 14-year-old left his family, and, in a letter to his wife, said that he had become ashamed to look at himself and had become almost afraid that he was not to be returned to the stable, and to the assistant keeper of his wife, "Where in the world have you been? You may be respected sailor." You have been in the complete, walking pet and con.

Laconic Advice.

When Atticus once discovered a treasure of gold while digging under a house he sent news of his discovery to the emperor, Nerva, from whom he received the laconic reply: "Use it." And when in his diffidence he protested that it was too large a sum for his own personal use, the emperor responded: "Then abuse it."

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

"I advised the boys when they enlisted for the Spanish war to take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with them, and have received many thanks for the advice given," writes J. H. Hoagland, Bedford, Iowa. "No medicine is more effective when traveling or at home should be without this great remedy." For sale by all dealers. Adv.

They Don't Know.

Miss Gall: "I know that they would do it, but $1,000,000 for such a old thing as that is absurd." Miss Pert: "Oh, but the best thing they would do with it is to buy a new one."—Boston Transcript.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured

"My attention was first called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by a friend nearly twelve years ago. At that time I was seriously ill with summer complaint. One dose of this remedy checked the trouble," writes Mrs. Mary E. Finnegan, Rockfield, Ind. For sale by all dealers. Adv.

A MATTER OF TIME

By MONCURE GILMORE STOTT.

There it was two o'clock in the town Hackley Hackley was standing in front of the lobby of the Lindell.

He looked cautiously, as would a conscious criminal, and then with a sudden movement of his right arm pulled out a half of dinner and two and a half of various denominations—bills helpful in numerous ways, and silver in plenty.

"Oh, well, I really live of Los Angeles," he said. "I always could succeed to make it a rector from the play. I'm bound to do one of these good directions. Richman does that."

There is a little cutting point just at the corner of Fourth and Olive. Hackley turned to it, and then, with a sudden movement of his right arm, he stopped a taxicab. "Where you going?" he asked. "Let us proceed two and avoid fuss. I'm a stranger here, and I'm not going to be robbed in numerous ways, and I'm not going to be robbed in numerous ways, and I'm not going to be robbed in numerous ways
