Carlisle Real Estate Co PROHIBITIONIST MCCHESNEY WOULD "COME HIGH" TO A BANKRUPT KENTUCKY AND A BEATEN DEMOCRACY

> There Would Still be No Legal Barrier to the Shipment of Whiskey "For Personal Use" Into Kentucky From any Other State Under a "State-wide Prohibition Law

> The U. S. Supreme Court Decision Just Rendered In the Webb-Kenyon Case Settles that Point---The Courier-Journal Makes this Clear in Commenting on the Burden of Taxes Prohibition Would Place Upon Property.

> With Nothing Gained Prohibition Would Cost Kentucky More Than It Has Cost Bankrupt West Virginia-Loss of Revenue Would Have to be Made up by Increased Taxation or Increased Assessment.

> Higher Taxes on Other Kentucky Property Would Have to be Collected if the Distilling Industry's Revenues to Kentucky were Abolished—The only Prohibition would be the Prohibition of the Collection of Kentucky's Income---The Distribution of Whiskey would Continue.

The Courier-Journal Ridicules those "Stumpers" who Seek to Misrepresent the Magnitude of the Distilling Business and who Seek to Mislead the People as to the Facts.

The "Times" Says Kentucky Must be Prepared for an Increase to 57 Cents on State Taxes, and a Bigger Increase in Local Tax Rate---Prohibition an Expensive Farce.
