FRANKFORT IS ON JACKSON ROAD

LOCAL BOOSTERS RETURN FROM HIGHWAY MEETING—A BIG CROWD ATTENDED.

NASHVILLE HONORED VISITORS

2,000 Representatives Reported to Have Been in Attendance—Form Permanent Association.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)

Frankfort.—The Frankfort-Jackson Highway delegates returned from Nashville with glowing reports of the success of the convention. They reported about two thousand representatives in attendance and royal entertainment at the hands of the citizens of Nashville. Although the Tennessee State Fair was in progress at the same time, the city opened its doors to the strangers and every one was comfortably quartered.

The Jackson Highway now is officially mapped out by the permanent Jackson Highway Association, all the way north of Nashville as far as Chicago on the western division and through Frankfort, Lexington and Maysville on the eastern division.

National Guard Shoot.

The company teams, First and Second regiments, R. N. G., went to the rifle range at Burlington, where they remained from September 22 to 30. Second regiment team left those respective stations the morning of September 23. The company teams consist of five men and an alternate—all of whom must have performed 75 per cent of all military duty since October 15, 1914. The company teams compete for a first prize of $100, second prize of $75, third prize of $50, fourth prize of $25 and fifth prize of $10. All officers below the grade of major and enlisted men may enter the Governor's match (individual) for the gold medal and 60 per cent of the entrance fee; a second prize of 25 per cent and a third prize of 15 per cent. Trophies composed of six officers and men from each regiment making the highest aggregate individual scores in the company team match will compete in a regimental match for the regimental trophy, now held by the Second infantry.

After New Members.

A state-wide membership campaign for the Insurance Federation of Kentucky, to begin late in October, was mapped out at a meeting of members of the Executive Committee with Mark T. McKee, of Detroit, secretary of the National Council of Executive Insurance Federations, present. The campaign conducted by Mr. McKee, will be held prior to the formation of organizations in each county. Representatives of all lines of insurance, fraternal orders and buyers of insurance will be solicited. The state federation is now leading a fight against the adoption of state insurance in Kentucky.

Secretary Issues Notice.

A majority of the candidates nominated in the August primary have filed their certificate of nomination, but notice has been served by Secretary of State C. F. Crecelius that certificates must be filed in his office before October 4 in order that the names to go on the ballot may be certified to the county clerks and all those candidates, whose petitions to get their names on the primary ballots were filed with the secretary of state, must file their certificates of nomination with him also.

Education Association to Meet.

The annual meeting of the Seventh District Educational Association will be held in Frankfort Oct. 15 and 16, and some of the best home talent features in the state will be present and deliver addresses. The executive committee of the association at a meeting of the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington selected Frankfort as the place for holding the annual meeting and outlined plans for the meeting.

Hundreds of Volunteers.

All but 36 of the 120 rooms of the state have been reached during the speaking campaign which on July 1 under auspices of the state Illiteracy commission, and hundreds of volunteers have been added to the teaching force in the effort to eradicate illiteracy by 1920.

New State Bank Examiner.

Commissioner Thos. J. Smith has appointed Henry F. Mansfield, of Monticello, bank examiner, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John B. Chenault, who recently resigned to become a national bank examiner.

Permanent Forestry Exhibit.

State Forester Barker is taking up with the timbermen of Kentucky the project of erecting a forestry exhibit at the State fair. He believes it will be of incalculable value, not only in exploiting the timber resources of the state, but also in educating the people to the importance of the industry, awakening interest in reforestation and conservation and bringing the department more closely to the attention of the land owners. His plan is to establish in a rustic exterior, to show the lumber in its native state.

Railroad Assessments.

Assessments of the tangible property of railroads will remain at the same mileage assessment as in 1914, when the total was $19,631,071. When the additions to their property and deductions for property disposed of are computed, the total tangible assessment will be practically the same as last year. The commission has concluded its hearings, and the state board of valuation and assessment is hearing the railroads on the final assessment of their capital stock.

Railroads' Responsibility.

Reversing the judgment of the lower circuit court in the case of the Tennessee City Railway Co. against the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railroad Co., the opposition court held that the railway company did not have to contribute to the railroad company over part of the damage awarded to William Haden. The $1,000 judgment given to Mrs. Malissa Chambers against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. by the Jefferson circuit court was reversed by the appellate court. A box car belonging to the railway was backed through a fence and within a few feet of the residence of Mrs. Chambers. The $500 verdict given to Edgar Hohenbach, of Pulaski county, against the Western Union Telegraph Co. for failure to deliver a telegram was set aside by the appellate court. Hohenbach is a guard at the Frankfort reformatory. His uncle died in Pulaski county and he claimed that the telegram was not delivered to him in time to permit him to attend the funeral.

Good Presentation.

Kentucky was well represented at the Mississippi Conference of Tuberculosis held at Indianapolis. Gov McCreary and Dr. T. F. Williams, member of the state commission, were on the program, and Dr. Dunning Wilson, of Louisville, Roy L. French, retiring secretary of the state commission, and his successor, Col. L. M. Mann, attended. Mr. French was the recipient of a gavel, formerly on the commission staff, which was presented by the organizing sectional meetings to supplement the national association's efforts. Miss Jackson was on the program to discuss the range the program. Especial attention was given to the work among children and medical inspection in the schools. Other subjects were separate anatomia, the best tuberculosis hospital management and conduct of tuberculosis clinics, and visiting nurse work.

Associated Charities.

The associated charities, for the purpose of preventing duplications of relief, which means a saving of cost to the source of charity, and to that extent deserving deserving poor of a full share are of benefit, is proposing to become a clearing house for charity cases this winter. To this end correspondence has been opened with various lodges, societies and organizations in the city and county, to the end that the sort of work, and a meeting of representatives of all of them probably will be held in the near future at the Associated Charities rooms of the plan to be proposed it is expected that prompt and more systematic relief will be given cases of charity this winter. The associated charities, while relieving immediate necessities, investigates every case reported and assures that relief is what is needed.

Millions of Fish in Streams.

Not counting the 10,000,000 pike perch planted by state game and fish commission's own car and the 20 carloads of matured fish delivered by H. H. Denhardt through cooperation with the national bureau has distributed in streams of every county of Kentucky 8,400,000 pike perch, 210,000 small-mouth black bass, 14,000 crappie, 12,651 large-mouth black bass, 8,320 catfish, 1,000 trout, 600 rainbow trout, 1,350 rock bass, 1,925 sunfish, 1,625 goldfish perch, and 380 yellow bass. Securing Evidence.

Internal Revenue Collector T. Scott Matthews has ordered deputy collectors in the field collecting information and warning druggists, saloon men, patent medicine brokers and others, who are violating the internal revenue laws to refrain from the operations until progress of the special government tax law, enacted October 22, 1914. Mr. Matthews says that after all such operations will be instituted through the office of the United States Deputy Attorney.

Louisville Convict Flees.

Charlie Smith, a one-armed negro convict, escaped from the Louisville reformatory farm just 24 days before the expiration of his sentence on parole. When the prison farm hands quit work Smith failed to fall into line where he had been working, but went back for it. He had not been seen since. He was serving a term of one to five years for chicken stealing.

State Fair Plan to Wait.

Secretary Commissioner of Agriculture, returned from Louisville, and the fair board will not take up the matter of a new site for the Capitol Commissioner Newman said nothing will be done in regard to the 1916 fair until after the November election.

Erect Sanatoria.

Dr. J. M. Mason, secretary of the tuberculosis commission, said that it is his hope that within the next few years Kentucky will build one or more properly equipped sanatoria for the treatment of consumptives. He said the treatment has become a special science, requiring properly regulated environments, careful nursing and good nourishment, with pleasant surroundings and rest. These are too often lacking in small homes, imperfectly equipped institutions, where the watchful care of the patients is lacking.

Parolee Granted By Board.

Parolee granted by the state prison board were: Robert Lee Mitchell, Garrard, one to five years, for false swearing; Will shephard, Harlan, two to eleven, false swearing and burglary; Asa Slade, Warren, two to ten, housebreaking; Wesley Biggles, Trimble, one to two, and larceny; James Gibson Henderson, two to ten, carbreaking; Alex Hamilton, Boyd, two to twenty-one, manslaughter; Chas. PHONE TO EUROPE?

LONG DISTANCE WIRELESS TELEPHONY IS SUCCESSFUL—HEARD 3,000 MILES.

TO TALK TO SHIPS AT SEA

Human Voice Transmitted Between Arlington, Md., and Mare Island, Cal.—Secretary Daniels Announces Successful Outcome of Tests.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Long distance wireless telephony the dream of scientists for years, became a reality on Sunday when the human voice was transmitted from the Arlington radio station, on the outskirts of Washington, to the Mare Island station at San Francisco, almost 3,000 miles.

It is believed now that telephonic communication by wireless between the United States and Europe is well within the realms of possibility.

It was demonstrated also that the land telephone can be connected with the wireless.

To Talk to Ships at Sea.

Consequently it is thought that the day is comparatively near at hand when it will be possible for a person anywhere in the United States to take the receiver off the hook, call up one of the coast wireless stations, obtain connection with the wireless, and hold conversation with persons aboard ships in midocean, or with persons on land or elsewhere in Europe.

The following official statement was given out by the navy department:

Secretary Daniels is pleased to announce the successful outcome of experiments which have been conducted during the past few months by the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the Western Electric company in cooperation with the navy department for the long distance wireless telephone which has been made possible.

Talks 2,900 Miles.

Wednesday, September 29, speech was successfully transmitted from the Arlington radio station to the radio station at the Mare Island navy yard, and there successfully received by means of apparatus with various lodges, societies and organizations in the city and county to help in this good sort of work, and a meeting of representatives of all of them probably will be held in the near future at the Associated Charities rooms of the plan to be proposed it is expected that prompt and more systematic relief will be given cases of charity this winter. The associated charities, while relieving immediate necessities, investigates every case reported and assures that relief is what is needed.

BIG DAMAGE CAUSED BY STORM AT NEW ORLEANS

Five Persons Known to Have Perished in Hurricane—Million Dollar Loss.

New Orleans, via wireless, steamship Excelsior and Creole to Mobile, Sept. 20—Five persons are known to be dead and many injured and property loss reaching into the millions, is the record of the storm which severed gulf storm in the history of the city. The storm with a velocity of 66 miles swept the city at six o'clock, demolishing scores of buildings, uprooting trees, roofs from hundreds of other structures and blowing the streets with broken glass and debris.

A West Indian cyclone ravaged the bounds of the Gulf of Mexico, stopped around New Orleans at the rate of 60 miles an hour and began a circuit around up the Mississippi river.

It cut New Orleans off from rail and telegraphic service. Communication south of that city raised Lake Pontchartrain 12 feet and swept the government weather recorders a 90-mile-an-hour velocity for several minutes.

A dozen ships, chiefly coasting schooners and fishing boats were driven ashore. Shortly Pacific car ferry 8 was stranded for hours on dead face below Avondale near New Orleans.

From Mobile came reports of a terrific windstorm to the west, and from Dallas came similar reports of disaster to the East, indicating that the hurricane was headed from the Gulf of Mississippi river valley centering its attack on the city between these points.

The Southern Pacific liner Creole notified the shore by wireless at five o'clock that it had the broken levees down the river from New Orleans between seven and eight feet deep and bodies had been seen.

The steamship began bringing in refugees to New Orleans from Milneburg and all the territory followed from that city. A railway car barn was blown down and at three o'clock the wireless station was out.

Warnings were sent out through the central South and by all gulf ports warning shippers to be on the watch for the storm. While only reports of a few windstorms were received at Chicago from the country north of New Orleans the weather bureau officials predicted that the effects of the storm would be felt all the way up the valley until atmospheric conditions in the great lakes checked the storm.

R.W.MUELLER AND WIFE SLAIN

Hunters Find Summer Home of Millionaire Banker in Ashes—Further Search Is Ordered.

Milwaukee, Sept. 21.—Col. Gilbert Mueller, millionaire banker, and the wife of this city were murdered at their summer home near Pittsburg. Robbery probably was the motive. Mueller was shot to the house before the evidence of their crime, is believed. A quick-wide search has been started. Coroner Mueller formerly commanded the state's only cavalry troop. Hunters saw the smoke of what appeared to be a big fire. They went to the Mueller home and found it almost consumed. Coroner's Deputies set to work the ruins and found the bodies of Colonel Mueller and his wife.

TURKS REPORTED IN RETREAT

British Rout Sultan's Men in Mesopotamia—Many Prisoners and Guns Taken.

London, Sept. 20.—A sweeping victory for the allies in the Dardanelles is reported. It was announced in the house of commons that the British army had routed the Turks in Mesopotamia with heavy loss and that the Turks were in full retreat toward Bagdad. Many prisoners and guns were taken. The entire loss in dead is described as severe.

GERMANS HALT DRIVE

TEUTONS CHECK FRENCH ARMY IN THE CHAMPAGNE DISTRICT.

20,000 TEUTONS CAPTURED

Official Statement Issued at Berlin Admits Repulse—French Push Energy Back on Fifteen-Mile Front—British Take Five Miles of Trenches.

London, Sept. 26.—While the great allied drive in France has been temporarily checked by the Germans, particularly in the Champagne district, where their counter-attacks have been carried out at a terrific cost in men and guns, the French and British have reached the second line of the German trenches and are subjecting them to a heavy bombardment.

Field Marshal French reported that the offensive of the British east of Loos, which was announced Sunday, is progressing favorably. This movement is aimed to outflank the Germans around Loos, and already the British have bent the German line back to the north of the rich mining section of Lens and are struggling desperately to break it.

Germans Repulsed.

Northwest of Hulluch the Germans were repulsed in counter-attacks against the British lines, but were repulsed with heavy losses, according to General French's report.

The capture of Loos on both sides since the big drive began last Friday, according to the official statement by the belligerents now total as follows:

GERMANS.	Men.	Guns
	6,000	14
ALLIES.
French	21,500	47
British	2,853	50
Belgians	60	—
Total	24,403	98

20,000 Germans Captured.

London, Sept. 21.—The greatest victory for the allied arms since the battle of the Marne, when the strategy of General Joffre saved Paris, is declared Paris, has crowned the first day's attack on the German positions to hurl the Germans from France.

Along a front of fifteen miles the allied offensive began, striking at the strongest of the fortifications built with the purpose of finishing both an invasion of France and the capture of Paris. More than 20,000 unwounded prisoners.

The French, on the southern line of the German triangle, have smashed their way for a half miles before the sacred
