ESTABLISHED 1867--OLDEST NEWSPAPER IN NICHOLAS COUNTY

VOL. LI. CARLISLE, NICHOLAS COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1916 PAGES--NO 18

COMMENT

Dow Carlisle need a gymnasium and headquarters in which both bell, and most of her youth and her middle aged and left, for that matter, may be trained and kept fit? Everyone will admit that it would be fine to have such an institution; everyone wishes we had one, but there the matter rests, barred by the relief that Carlisle is too small a town to support a gymnasium and realize room. You will remember that there were many who thought that the town was too small to vote water works bonds, and the bonds being voted, created not to be flushing Thomases until the water rushed forth from the fire hydrants on Main Street. We say that Carlisle is not too small to have a gymnasium and realize room, and if the school Board and Civic League and City Council and Woman's Club and the citizens of the town interest themselves in a discussion of ways and means, Carlisle will have such a building. Carlisle will have one, whether the town is too small or not. Somewhere in this issue is an ably prescribed constitution of the question. Read it, begin to talk it and by this time next year such an institution may be a reality.

Most people are "From Missouri." If you don't believe it, just put up a "Fresh Paint" sign and see.

Census Taker: "How many children have you?"
Citizen: "Three."
Census Taker: "Altogether?"
Citizen: "No, one at a time."

"If" is a little word, but catch any car coming to town after 6th race at Latonia and you'll have to admit that it is one of the most powerful words in the English language.

That the video is blue, notwithstanding the shortage of German dyes, cause of the war, is a concrete to opine that the celestial member of the firm of Meinelli and Gird is not keeping up his agreement.

We imagine Will Shakespeare were he living today, wouldn't write a half dozen plays, if he could only draw the royalties and commandeer all moving picture rights.

The Lexington Herald informs an anxious public that Mr. William J. Bryan is out again women suffrage, but believes if the dear things want to vote they should go get together and vote to vote. The note writing now being over, it would appear that the suffragette folk have decided not to break diplomatic relations with Mr. Fields after all. In the light of a certain race run in the Ashland District not so long ago, we are undecided whether to prefer congratulations, or extend sympathy.

City Council Notes

At a meeting of the city Council Monday night it was voted to furnish, free of cost, the water for the fountain which will be placed on the vacant lot in the rear of the post office.

The Woman's Club has undertaken the beautifying of this and it was at their request that the water for a fountain is donated. The city reserves the right to cut off the water in the event of a shortage at the reservoir.

The Woman's Club requested that the council have the rubbish removed from the lots east of the depot. If the owner of the lots will permit, these will be planted with flowers by the club.

"John N. Rous was granted a permit to erect a residence on his lot facing Mulberry street.

An ordinance allowing $250 for a fire truck equipment was entered.

CAN WE AFFORD A REAL Y. M. C. A. IN CARLISLE?

Contributor Says We Can And Points Out An Easy Plan To Secure One.

The question, "Can we afford a Y. M. C. A. in Carlisle?" is one that receives thought and attention from the most progressive and truly interested citizens of the town. Quite a number of the town police spirited men and women in this locality. A lasting place of entertainment for such a place of gathering and refinement as that which would tend to develope the youth of the city into the finest, staikest citizenry that we all admire and to inculcate in them the virtues of good sports manship and fair play is most assuredly admitted by all. That our older business men need a place where fast stiffening joints and flabby muscles may be loosened up and hardened by the right sort of training is likewise a proposition that admits of no dispute.

The question has been agitated in the past by those who stand prominent in the community but Carlisle has been too small to support an institution of this sort. The town is not able to buy a location for the building and maintain, independent of all other sources, such an institution. Some have compromised by suggesting that the Y. M. C. A. be established either upon the establishment of such on the grounds that they have usually worked more harm than good on account of a lack of supervision.

During the past year and in the previous years have the necessity and the demand arisen for a well equipped gymnasium in connection with the public schools. The use of the building for a couple of nights each week by the boys of the town would be a great benefit to the pupils of the schools. Such a plan is certainly worth consideration but we are forced to put it aside when we view the failure of similar reading rooms in continuous localities. In fact the State Y. M. C. A. Secretary has rather oppose the establishment of such on the grounds that they have usually worked more harm than good on account of a lack of supervision.
