Grocery Staples Automobile Staple

Sugar and Coffee FORD

The above is no joke but a solid fact, and the way we have been selling them in the last two weeks proves it.

We have sold out, borrowed one from Lexington and ordered a carload from Louisville (part of which is sold) which will leave us but 4 more due us on our years estimate of forty.

Now if you want a FORD this season you had best give us your order at once, as the few we have will not last long.

We have the best Blacksmith-Iron and Steel worker to be found anywhere. When you want nice work in that line bring it to us.

Bring your old lawn mower you think ready to throw away and let us grind it (not file) and make it cut equal to a new one.

Cantrill For Slate Campaign Chairman

Lexington, Ky., May 25.—Representative J. Campbell Cantrill, of the Seventh district, returned to Washington last night to hold a conference with Gov. J. M. Stanley, Senator Ollie James and other leaders who in general think that there was a strong demand that he accept the State campaign chairmanship in the coming presidential election. It is also assured Mr. Cantrill that, in their opinion, he can wage a more effective campaign for Woodrow Wilson than any other.

In that representation, Mr. Cantrill agreed to accept the trust, and it is understood the State Central and Executive committees will elect him at a meeting this summer.

"Baby Belle" Gets Home.

(Bourbon News.)

Getting a home for a baby is the usual means of legal adoption as was discussed at the Paris Grand Saturday night, when "Baby Belle," the bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked kidlet, whose name has figured in the public printing ten cent, for several weeks, was drawn by Mrs. John Snyder.

The first winning number, 124, was held by Mr. A. E. Johns who upon finding the infant was was of the feminine species, and being a confirmed bachelor, promptly refused to claim the prize, owing to the high cost of living. The next win was Mission Fund, 736, was held by Mrs. John Snyder.

Ross Fisherman

James Davis, of Mt. Lebanon, Pendleton, is the champion fisherman so far as reports go in this section of the state. About two weeks ago he and John Bowman were fishing in Bird and rod at the mouth of Mayhew Creek in Kentucky river with a log chain known for bait was picked up a seventy-pound muskie. Mr. Davis and his partner were in a skiff and the fish towed them down the river over two miles before he was finally landed.—Jessamine Journal.

Mr. McClintock's Will

The will of the late Mr. Thos. McClintock, who died some days ago at his home in Millersburg, as ordered put to record in the office of the Bourbon County Court, after providing that all his just debts and funeral expenses be paid, bequeaths the balance of his estate to all kinds to his wife, Mrs. Addie McClintock, to do with and to dispose of as she pleases. The document, which is in her own handwriting, is very brief. He directs that his son, Mr. William G. McClintock, of Paris, be appointed to administer upon his estate, without bond being required and without compensation for such services.

In accordance with the terms of the will Mr. W. G. McClintock has appointed executor of the estate and will qualify as such in the proper manner. Mrs. McClintock, named in the terms of the will as executrix, has declined to serve.

Shop Windows

Have you ever walked up city with a man by your side? Stopped at every dress window and simply must, to save your bide?

Stood on one foot, then the other, doing your blamedest to look blind—

Writhed yourself in fur Alaska, or Zanzibar, or the Bank? Turned a cold drowning shoulder to your friends that passed along,

Felt the laughing eyes upon you and a grunting, heathen thing,

While she looked at skirts and nighties, waists and maid's misfortunes,

Calling out, in glee incessant, unashamed and unabashed,

"Ain't it precious? Ain't it got the cutest? Ain't it darn? Ain't it sweet?

"Ain't it lovely? Ain't it darling"; Oh, ain't it neat?

"Ain't it stunning? Ain't it classy? Ain't it sporty Ain't it swell?

"Ain't it striking" Ain't it modish? Ain't it pretty?" Ain't give the performances that are given twice daily in the "big hell?

Paris Man Sued By Winchester Seed Dealer

(Bourbon News)

A suit against Mr. N. Ferd Brent, of this city, was filed in the Clark Circuit Court at Winchester Tuesday by Mr. R. P. Soshee, of Winchester, acting as judgment in the sum of $6,750.20. The same sued for is at the amount of a promissory note signed by Soshee and executed by Brent to Soshee in June, 1911.

Soshee, in his petition, alleges that he agreed to deliver to Brent a certain amount of blue grass seed at a stipulated price, and that there was a great advance in price and he was unable to deliver the seed, and that Brent demanded $11,000 of him. He alleges in the petition that he gave Brent $5,000, and executed the above note for the remaining $6,000. Plaintiff alleges that the Deposit and Peoples Bank of Paris now asserts that Brent has a claim against said fund for a part of
