Why Can The Ford Automobile Be Sold At The Price?

Not because it contains cheap material, but on account of the perfect system employed in manufacturing. You cannot think of any other manufacturer in the United States that has so perfect system.

The same quality of material used in the manufacture of the Ford, were it used in other makes of low priced machines would put them out of business by reason of their lack of the perfect machinery and system used by Ford. If you desire a machine with a starter and lighting system we will equip it with a Westinghouse, better than which you cannot buy for money, and we guarantee it far ahead of anything you can get on any machine under a thousand dollars, and guaranteed to give satisfaction on FORD CARS. Come into our place and let us demonstrate this starter

Remember we have everything you need in automobile line, and not necessary to mention the different articles.

SCHOOL NEWS

County Diploma Examination Friday and Saturday of this week. Every child who has completed the 8th grade who has not taken this examination should do so, otherwise you cannot attend the high school at the County expense. Examination will begin at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning.

We were in Frankfort two days last week attending Institute. Instructors Convention. Many interesting resolutions were passed relative to a better System for institutes.

State Superintendent V. O. Gilbert is very anxious that the work of the institute amount to something worth while and that much of the outside matter be cut out. This we heartily indorse.

One of the best institutes ever held in our county was held last week with Jno. E. Calfee as instructor, and we are glad to say that we have had the pleasure of having him to secure his services again for this year, which will be a benefit to another good week.

Don't forget that the third Friday and Saturdays in May which will be the 19th and 20th will be held the first Teachers Examination. Every teacher should try to make as high grade as possible this year, since the salary schedule next out by the State Department says that grade on efficiency, and something over a per cent will be added above the amount required to get that grade.

In Memoriam

In the beautiful cemetery at Carlisle peacefully rests the form of Miss Lydia Mae Coates, whose heart but mortal life closed on Sabbath afternoon, April 25, 1915.

She was the only daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Jno. Coates, and leaves to a large circle of friends and relatives a life consecrated to Christ. Her untimely departure to the sanctuary was always on presence. She loved to read and study God's word. Was devoted to her home, school at Mt. Pisgah, of which she was the efficient teacher for four years, and co-operating with her methods. She was a faithful member for the past five years.

Miss Coates united with the Methodist church under the ministry of Rev. Jno. Hedgeman, Brookfield, and continued her membership there until the day of her death. She was loved by Rev. Robert Lear, her pastor, who was called to bury her.

After failing health the past year had impressed her with premonitions of her departure. Sometimes she would be unable to attend the Sunday School or other services, but always insisted on the family going and would gather say on their return, "I have spent the morning in prayer." If she ever saw a tear on the mother's cheek, she would tenderly remonstrate and add, "I told you it is all right with me, I am ready." She bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude and complete resignation. Eight weeks of intense suffering she was refined her spiritual life and her heart enjoyed sweet fellowship with God. Only a few months before she died she told her parents could do to prolong her life was done.

The funeral service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. H. Cassell, assisted by the writer, at the home near Mt. Pisgah, Monday afternoon, April 26.

Oh, Joyousness

Boston, May 4. "Keep on laughing, girlie; don't be afraid of the germs." This is the advice given by Dr. Chas F. Page, head of the Health School on Tremont street, after openly criticising the remarks of Dr. C. V. Chapin, the Providence health officer, who, in his talk before the Harvard Medical School, put the ban on all kissing.

"We're getting germ crazy," said Dr. Page. "Now we have put the bug into kissing. Do you remember a toastmyst about kissing will be heeded? Why should we have germ counting couples? I've been a physician a long time, but I've spent all my time in rebutting testimony from physicians, which is more speculation, and does more harm than good, and I can prove it."

Bow! Wow!

A young lady of Maysville went to church. That is not the end of her story, as she is naturally quiet. He was not after dinner called for by the Rev. Mr. Sharpsburg, a Christian minister, and he is supposed to be a small, tan male of dog wood. Miss Frank Shaw, in Dover News.
