What would he give for the coffee you serve?

Like a million other women, you can serve coffee that he would give most anything to have—coffee which starts the day "right" for all.

Everyone loves the rich flavor of Arbuckles' Coffee. Of all the coffees in America today, it is by far the most popular!

Today there are whole towns where Arbuckles is practically the only coffee used. In one State, alone, in a year, four pounds of Arbuckles' Coffee was used for every man, woman and child in the State—four times as many pounds of coffee as the population of the State! Arbuckle Bros., New York.

One woman says: "My husband used to swallow his coffee and hurry off. Now we have Arbuckles' and you'd think it was Sunday the way he lingers over his breakfast."

Until you try Arbuckles' you will never know what a difference good coffee can make in your home.

In 1920.

"One of my hens laid an egg with the date 1920." You want to encourage that breed. Those eggs are now sold of cold storage and sell as extra fresh."

WHAT'S INDORSE?

"Why, Bobbie! You've got a hole in your stocking! It wasn't there this morning when you put them on." "Well, if it wasn't there, where was it?"

No Compromise.

Luke was weighed down with a pair of feet of a size remarkable even for a mass of his color in the petty throngs of human kind. As he was sitting one day engaged in the game of chance which has to do with cubes of bone with black dots upon their sides. Sam approached. In his perspiration, Sam trod—planted there, Luke and reposed upon his indignantly. "Lift dem ol' feet," he commanded. "Git off. Git all de way off!"

THE LOST UMBRELLA

By CLARA COURTRIGHT.

She was young, tall, dignified and beautiful. Her clothes were of the most elevated style and decently adjusted once the most ancient soul Wagstaff recently watching her over the edge of his newspaper, decided that she was a new girl, indeed.

He kept taking one more look at the girl, her attention being evidently upon a book. By the time the train reached his station he was quite interested in her. He vaguely remembered having seen her on his morning train at intervals, but never before had she sat within the direct range of his vision.

The next morning he took special pains to catch that same train. Miss was sitting near the front of the car and dranged him into a seat beside him. However, Wagstaff lost all interest in Miss's baseball cluster as the train neared his station. The young girl had covered up the precious book and gathered up her roses and fond bag. Miss Wagstaff noticed that the
