Are You Wasting The Price Of a Titan Engine?

TITAN engines burn kerosene.

Average cost of gasoline so far this year, 16.9 cents per gallon.

Average cost of kerosene 7.7 cents per gallon.

Gasoline costs over 100 per cent more than kerosene. Gasoline is going up steadily. Kerosene is not.

At present fuel prices Titan engines, burning kerosene, save their owners about 11 cents per horse power per hour.

Are you running a gasoline engine? What horse power is it? Figure what you'd be saving if you had a Titan kerosene engine. Rather surprising, isn't it? How long would it take that saving to pay for a Titan engine of the same size?

COMMENT

The Duty Of A Patriot

Thomas A. Edison, the world's greatest inventor and a life-long Republican, defines the duty of an American patriot, in the coming national election, in the following admirable card:

2Not since 1860 has any campaign made such a direct call on Simon-pure Americanism. The times are too serious to talk or think in terms of Republicanism or Democracy. Real Americans must drop parties and get down to real fundamental principles.

"More than any other President in my memory Wilson has been faced by a succession of tremendous problems, any one of which decided the wrong way would have had disastrous consequences. In each of these cases so far have not dot us into any serious trouble, but of they likely to.

"He has given us peace with Mexico. This talk about the United States being interfered with is nonsense. Neutrality is a mighty treasy policy, but but of it are international law, the rights of humanity and the future of civilization.

With reference to Mexico, I think that the President has acted wisely, justly and courageously. It is my right that the United States should not have restricted such murderous persecutity as Huerta. I do not believe that we should have interfered nor do I believe that we should intervene now. Mexico is a troublesome neighbor just now, but war and conquest is no going to make her a better one. Both against England and against human nature and the United States would not its salvation through force. Mexico is was a pretty slow trying process.

"It has been said that without at first was against preparedness. Perhaps he was, but when convinced that intelligent public opinion was overwhelmingly in favor of it, he changed. That is the proper thing for a President to do. President defendant of public opinion would be a dangerous element in the form of government.

"His attitude on the tariff shows an equal openness of mind. A tariff commission will take the whole problem out of politics. It is my hope that it will be speedily enacted and that it will be the first continuing a no-d vested interest with the tariff. The Supreme Court.

"They say he has blundered. Perhaps he has. But I notice that he usually blunders right. You can't get 100 per cent. efficiency in this world. I don't know that we ought to want it. We would be too expected to have to sacrifice too much of freedom.

"As I said at the start, it has been just one big thing after another with Wilson. I have always known so many dangerous questions brought up for decision by any one President. Now he has the personal status of the whole railway men, which, if carried out, will throw the whole country into confusion and prove a calamity that, in certain event, duties. We have results bound to extend over a long period of time. He is acting with his usual courage and sanity.

"In my opinion, Mr. Hughes, if President, would find it difficult to decide on the best course for the Government to take in this strike. His experience, indeed, as we learn from his speeches, is highly developed, but as to his practical sense we are not equally well informed.

"Mr. Wilson has now had about four years of experience and earned faith and trust. I do not think it a logical or sensible thing to change to an inexperienced and untried man just for the sake of change, or without any reasons being given for the change than I have heard.

"Roosevelt was my choice. He has had experience and is one of the best of Americans, but the machine-dominated Republican party would not have him. Therefore I am for Woodrow Wilson."

FIRE DAMAGES RESIDENCE OF MRS. ELLEN JUDY WEDNESDAY

Fate Seems To Have It In For East Main Street; Loss A Considerable One.

Fire, which presumably caught from a painter's torch, did considerable damage to the residence of Mrs. Ellen Judy, at the corner of Walnut and Main streets Wednesday morning. For a time it seemed that the building would be destroyed, as the fire was a difficult one to fight. Through the use of the new automobile fire truck, however, the flames which were mainly confined to the roof, were brought under control.

The loss, from fire and water will be considerable, but it is impossible to estimate it at this time. The building was insured for $1,500 and the furniture for $300.

Moorefield

Mrs. Ed Blunt has opened a store of notions, millinery, etc., in connection with the post-office building.

Rev. Humphrey of Millersburg College, who told us in a very forceful way how we could "Give God Our Best." Rev. Humphrey of Moorefield gave a cordial welcome address and in a second speech impressed all present with his zeal and earnestness. The Lenten season of Winning Children For God in Early Life. There are fourteen Sunday schools enrolled in Nicholas county. We failed to get the total enrollment of teachers and scholars. The number present was meager compared with what it should have been, only about forty officers, teachers and scholars present. The attendance, as a whole, was over one hundred.

The good people of Pisgah had prepared and served well one of the most bountiful and well cooked dinners it was ever our privilege to partake of. Everywater, ice tea and fruit in abundance. These folks know how to serve God's children. Those who failed to be present at the feast of good things, both for mind and body, missed it.

MRS. C. W. DURHAM.

SCHOOL NEWS

We are very much pleased at the reports brought in by Mrs. Tom Lin-ton, who reports that we have employed to assist me in visiting schools. Of course, some of them are not so good as others. I have engaged Mrs. Taylor to supervise each school in the county, except Carlisle and Mrs. Taylor knows just how we want the schools, who knows the system we want and she knows a good teacher when she sees one. She has already been spent in each school I shall visit, and I feel sure that every efficient time in each school to again thank you for it.

We have, as a whole, a very efficient corps of teachers and are willing to do anything for the betterment of the schools.

We have finally decided the building, the public is invited. A good program will be rendered. The school people will be taught there this year. Mary E. White is principal and Mary J. Williams assistant.

Last Wednesday we went to Oxford to witness the entrance of school graduation of Mason county.

Pisgah Meeting

The fall and last annual meeting of the Southern Methodist Sunday School Association met in Pisgah church Sept. 7, 1916. The officers were all present. The president, W. E. Pearce, and the secretary, Jas. A. Cameron, had prepared a most excellent program. Of the seventeen on the program only nine were present. These nine had their subjects well in hand and some spoke on two subjects. Dr. Vaught of the Carlisle Methodist church impressed the audience with the value and importance of "Earth Training," as did Dr. Fisher, of Millersburg College, who told us in a very forceful way how we could "Give God Our Best." Rev. Humphrey of Moorefield gave a cordial welcome address and in a second speech impressed all present with his zeal and earnestness. The Lenten season of Winning Children For God in Early Life. Scarlet Fever And Diphtheria

Again we have scarlet fever and diphtheria reported this fall in Mt. Carmel school district. And again, the same neglect on the part of the physicians in complying with the law of quarantining dangerous diseases. One child was permitted to go to a party last Friday or Saturday night, who was just recovering from scarlet fever, and on Sunday the same child was presented to Dr. Kash to ascertain if she could go to school Monday and Dr. Kash requested that the child be kept at home for another week, and yet the attending physician had never quarantined the family and children of this district, and yet people are very slow to subject to a chance for this disease for this child's presence.

Next week we will publish in circular form the law for the handling of contagious diseases and we earnestly appeal to the physicians, trustees, County Health League and all citizens to help us in our efforts to check infection to prevent, if possible, the spread of these diseases. None previous Nicholas county children died of these two diseases last year. It began last in this year in one district and by want of the law enforced over all of the whole county.

County Superintendent.

CARLISLE VISITED BY A $10,000 FIRE LAST WEEK

Archdeacon Family Has Narrow Escape From Burning Building. About $6,000 Insurance.

One of the most destructive fires that has visited Carlisle in some time occurred last Wednesday night shortly after midnight. The origin of the fire is unknown. When it was first discovered by Mr. James Archdeacon, it had already made considerable headway and the rear of the building occupied by Mr. Archdeacon and his family was in flames.

So rapidly did the fire spread that the Archdeacon family with difficulty escaped down the already smouldering stairs in their night clothes.

The flames spread to adjoining buildings, all of which were frame structures. The fire department did splendid work and succeeded in saving a portion of the rooms occupied by Joseph Mathias and John Mathias. The loss will reach about $10,000 with $6,000 insurance.

The following is a list of the losses:

James Archdeacon—Building totally destroyed, with stock of groceries and household furniture, jewelry and $100 in money. Loss, $4,500. Insurance, $1,200 on stock and fixtures; $1,500 on building; $500 on household furniture.
