Hodgenville, Ky.—Abraham Lincoln's Birthplace Shrine Attracts Lincoln first saw the light of day, President Wilson accepted on behalf of the government the humble little log cabin which was the 116-acre farm owned by the Lincoln family.

Here over the log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born, declined to preserve the Union and free the slave, a grateful people have dedicated this memorial to unity, peace and brotherhood among those whom it reads the inscription over the entrance of the granite memorial building that has been erected on the little farm. The log cabin is sheltered by the memorial building. The farm and log cabin were the gift of Robert J. Collier, of New York, who became interested in the matter several months ago, when he heard that the little farm was to be sold at auction. He also discovered the whereabouts of the cabin, which had been used as a chicken house by a negro family in Bowling Green where they were found by members of the Lincoln Farm Association, and by the new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Lexington, Ky.—The Lexington universities and colleges are making plans for the largest enrollment they have ever had. All will open within the next few days. Extensive improvements have been made at the University of Kentucky, and the physic department has been refurnished and is now one of the best in the South. One hundred and fifty feet of ground has been added to the athletic field. There will be few changes in the faculty this year.

Matriculation and classification at Transylvania College will begin on the first three days and classes will begin September 14. Many improvements have been made about the campus and the athletic field has been vastly improved. The application for reservations are larger than ever before, students from thirty states and from England, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Japan and sections having already made reservations.

RULING ON BOUNDARY LINE

Judge Field Says Kentucky Has Jurisdiction Over Ohio River.

Louisville, Ky.—"It is a temptation to go deeper into the stern history of a troubled era when an empire was to be made than the vanity of the question involved demands or judicial utterance warrants," says Judge William H. Field in an opinion handed down in the Federal District Court in common Pleas Branch of the Jefferson Circuit Court sustaining the validity of the act of the Kentucky Legislature approved on March 12, 1914, and popularly known as the "Fish and Game Law."

The opinion is in the case of Frank Nicosia, a fisherman making his living by fishing in the Ohio river, seine and otherwise," who was arrested August 4 on a charge of having taken fish by means of a seine from the Ohio river southwardly and on the side of the low-water mark of the Carside of Indiana side of the river. Nicosia's attorneys, Judge Henry Morris and John J. O'Brien and prosecuted by Commonwealth Attorney Arthur Overstreet.

In the brief for Nicosia it is urged that the act upon which the prosecution is based is unconstitutional because violative of a provision of what is familiarly called "The Compact with Virginia," a part of the Independence law of Kentucky, which is alleged to give the Commonwealth of Kentucky concurrent jurisdiction on the water that is their Mirror—"in a word," says the opinion, "that the Ohio river is a domain to be controlled jointly by the two states subject, of course, to the superadded powers of the federal government. The Kentucky law, not having been concurred in by Indiana, is therefore said to be without foundation in the Constitution.

MRS. STEWART TO TEACH

Will Be Instructor At Institute of City and County Teachers.

Winchester, Ky.—Prof. J. E. Lanier, superintendent of Clark county public schools, and Prof. O. H. Harris, superintendent of the public schools of Winchester, have arranged an interesting feature for the teachers' institute, which is about to be held. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of "Moonlight School" fame, will be the instructor. One day will be set aside and observed as "Parent and Children's day," and in the evening there will be a meeting at the opera house, when addresses will be delivered by Mrs. Stewart, State Superintendent V. O. Gilbert and Nat B. Stewart.

TOBACCO CROP IS VERY GOOD.

Henderson, Ky.—Many acres of tobacco have been cut and housed and will be cured within a few days, and the smoke is soon emitting from barns, showing that a majority of growers are "firing" the weed. Growers and buyers seem to be in the best crop in five years. Buyers who have inspected the crop over the county say that it is twice as large as the 19,000,000-pound crop of last year. The markets will open early in December.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES ACTIVE.

Paducah, Ky.—A change is to be made for new members and funds for the Associated Charity Organization, which consists of a merger for all of Paducah's charitable organizations. During the past month the number of members enrolled in the society was reduced from 729 to less than 100, and the society has weeded out many imposters and other frauds. Miss Margaret Strassburg, the visiting secretary, made an excellent report of the work of the organization.

Ovation Is Given To Chief By Crowd of 25,000—President Enrolls His Name on Register of Visitors to Homestead of Martyred President.

Western Union Newspaper News Service.

Hodgenville, Ky.—On the little rose clothed farm in Larue county which has become a national shrine Wednesday became a national shrine when President Wilson on behalf of the American people accepted the tract of land and the humble cabin in which the martyr was born as treasured property of the United States Government. In the presence of distinguished guests, representatives of the nation and state and before an audience of 25,000 persons, Secretary Lane presented the place, whereby the Lincoln farm, the birthplace of the martyr, and the humble cabin and enclosure of land for the first time days and classes will begin September 14. Many improvements have been made about the campus and the athletic field has been vastly improved. The application for reservations are larger than ever before, students from thirty states and from England, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Japan and sections having already made reservations.

Hundreds of Auto Parties.

Soon after break of day hundreds of automobiles began arriving, bringing crowds that filled the streets of the little town of Hodgenville. Each incoming train added many hundreds. Roads in all directions for many miles distant, were choked with continuous lines of traffic.

The Chief Executive, upon his arrival in his special train, was greeted by Mrs. Wilson, was given an ovation as he stepped from his private car into a waiting automobile. Traffic was stopped on the roads when the presidential car set out for the farm. When the party arrived, the honored guest had proceeded and awaited only the arrival of Governor James B. Mc-Creary, of Kentucky, and the members of the act of the Kentucky Legislature approved on March 12, 1914, and popularly known as the "Fish and Game Law."

Enrolls Name on Register.

Previously the President was introduced by Governor McCreary to the same in the register and inspected the visitors' book in which he and Mrs. Wilson and others had written their names. Then he returned to his car, the solemnity of the day was broken when the crowds in good humor saluted him with political shouts, when his hand, many acclaiming him good for "more years" in the White House. President Wilson responded with a smile, and a short, carefully prepared speech, was delivered by the President.

Object of Democracy.

"The object of democracy is to liberate every man to the full extent of his station of society, the self-denial and self-sacrifice which will make men willing to make their lives an embodiment of the principles and purposes of the common people. The commands of democracy are simple. They are that all just hopes and opportunities are wide and general, and that no man shall be used as a tool but shall be treated as an end in himself. It will be great and lift a great light in the world if we can make it clear that if we are great and carry that light high we are not afraid to show it.

Following the words of invocation spoken by Rev. Charles H. Hemphill, President of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Louisville, Governor John B. Castleman, of Louisville, a Kentucky speaker who fought for the Confederacy in the Civil War and for whom Governor McCreary named as American War, stepped forward to introduce the Chief Executive. Governor the Lincoln Farm Association.

Lincoln Protected Him.

When Castleman, a soldier in the Confederate army, had been captured and was in prison in Indianapolis, in Lincoln threw a protecting arm around him and saved Castleman's sister, then living in St. Louis, had known Lincoln when he came to Kentucky courting Miss Todd. She hastened to Washington and by Mr. Lincoln's side secured from him the following order: "Let Mrs. Todd's brother be released from his imprisonment."

—Executive Mansion,

"Washington, November 25, 1864.

"Major General Burbridge: Please have charge at the proper time."Whereas on John S. Castleman's oath he be tried, if convicted and sentenced, release him on his subscribing the oath herein and send me the record.

"A. Lincoln."

Senator Williams followed Mr. Folk with an address on "Abraham Lincoln and the South." After Senator Williams' address the formal presentation of the deed to the Lincoln Farm to the nation was made by Robert J. Collier, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Lincoln Farm Association. The deed was handed to Secretary Baker, who formally accepted it. President Wilson's address and acceptance of the gift on behalf of the nation followed. Rev. Thos. J. Shahan, Catholic University at Washington, pronounced the benediction.

U. S. TO HIT ALLIES?

SENATE FAVORS DRASTIC LAWS TO STOP BRITISH BLACK-LIST POLICY.

NAVY TO ENFORCE EMBARGO

Belligerent Ships That Refuse to Accept Isle Goods Will Be Barred —Use of Mails and Wireless to Be Curtailed, Is Plan.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Legislation of the most drastic character that will be framed by congress to strike against the allies and effectually stop the British blacklist policy was written into the general revenue by the senate.

The administration emergency revenue bill, designed to raise $250,000,000 annually, was passed by the senate shortly before midnight Wednesday by a vote of 42 to 16. Five Republican senators, Cummins, La Follette, Norris and Clapp, voted with the Democrats in the favorable vote.

An amendment proposed by Senator Thomas of Colorado and adopted without a roll call provides that hereafter no refuse clearance papers to any belligerent vessel unless it shall have on board American goods unless, and only because of the lack of such goods, and until without clearance is made possible by the failure of the goods tendered for two years. The ship may be refused clearance papers.

Paris, Sept. 7.—A royal council was held Wednesday at the palace of Compiegne, at which the entire cabinet was present, and which was especially significant in view of the grave crisis that the president is here by empowered to employ such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as shall be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act.

Aimed at Great Britain.

The Thomas amendment is admittedly an emergency measure. Nobody attempted to conceal the fact that it was aimed at the acts of the British government. The senate has already performed that every diplomatic effort of this government to bring about relief for American citizens subjected to the blacklist proved futile.

Use of Mails Forbidden.

Another amendment which the opponents characterized as revolutionary, was offered by Senator Pittman, would "prohibit the use of the mails, the cable, wireless, express and other means of communication of citizens of the United States or of persons residing therein" with any belligerent country which shall establish a blacklist against countries of the United States. This amendment also was adopted without protest.

DICTATOR RULES ALL GREECE

Zaimis Seizes Reins of Power—Official Proclamation Is Sent Out Freeing From Allied Troops.

London, Sept. 5.—The entrance of Greece into the war is now a matter of days. Her neutrality is a matter of hours. The allies have given her an ultimatum, and her decision is expected momentarily. The Greek people are said to be almost unanimously behind King Constantine, who holds the portfolio of premier, as well as the office of governor.

Greece has surrendered utterly to the dictatorship of the entente powers. Britain that her mails and telegraphs are under the control of the censorship and that all German and Austrian consular officers have been withdrawn. An official of the Austrian legation staff has been killed by the Greek police while in the act of destroying documents.

In addition to the arrest of the Austrian consul, Baron von Schoen, the German chief agent in Athens, has been arrested and placed under military guard, together with a number of German residents.

The advanced cost of wheat, sugar, lard, meat and flour—the superiority of wheat—is given as the cause for raising the prices of bread. The increase over the price of flour rose from $4.50 to $5.20 per barrel. The flour this advance the average profit of the manufacturer on a 24-pound sack was three-tenths of a cent; now, with the advance, it is said, he says he will lose nearly half a cent on each sack.

BOTH BRITISH AND FRENCH WIN BATTLES ON SOMME

Berlin Admits Loss of Village of Chilly —8,500 Prisoners Taken—25 Towns Captured.

Paris, Sept. 7.—French troops have captured the village of Omiecourt, Hospital farm, Hallowes wood and the northern part of Martaines wood, and progressed in other points north of the Somme, according to the official communication issued by the war office. South of the Somme a furious battle raged throughout the day. The French captured a line of German trenches which stretched from Omiecourt to Feuillaucourt and counter-attacks. The prisoners captured since Sunday number 6,000, and the cannon 26.

The capture of Soyecourt and Chilly by the French places a total of 25 villages taken since the start of the offensive on the Somme front.

London, 6.—The British war office, in an official announcement, says that the operations in the Somme river region in the course of the whole German second line from Mouquet farm to the point where the British line joins the French.

The British forces pushed forward 1,500 yards east of Guillemont village and obtained a foothold in Leuze wood. Further south a strong German system of defense on a front of 2,000 feet around Falfemont farm was captured.

The enemies' losses in the fighting for villages of Chilly on the Somme front are the official statement by the German war office. In the Italian theater the Austrians have been driven from the Doberdo region, it is announced. Troops are being used in the Somme fighting.

BAKERS DOWN NICKEL BREAD

Advanced Price of Materials, Especially Flour, Given as Excuse—Boost Is Made at Chicago Meet.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Another time-honored institution of this country seems doomed. The nickel loaf of bread, which for years has been as inseparable as ham and eggs, was given its death sentence by the executive committee of the National Association of Master Bakers in Chicago, Wednesday, wants to increase the size of the loaf and raise the price to a dime.

The advanced cost of wheat, sugar, lard, meat and flour—the superiority of wheat—is given as the cause for raising the prices of bread. The increase over the price of flour rose from $4.50 to $5.20 per barrel. The flour this advance the average profit of the manufacturer on a 24-pound sack was three-tenths of a cent; now, with the advance, it is said, he says he will lose nearly half a cent on each sack.

ussian Guns Are Turned Upon Roumanian Troops Who Yield.

—By Leased Wire—

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

London—Glad and sad tidings were brought to London Thursday from the battlefields of Eastern and Southeastern Europe. The glad news, the announcement from Berlin that the German and Bulgarian troops had occupied the Roumanian fortress of Turtukai—and subsequently Petrograd—had that more than 20,000 Roumanians had been killed, wounded and taken prisoner. This was the sad news, the big one for the Central Powers in their invasion of Roumania, and moreover a big obstacle in the way of the Germans and Bulgarians driven away. Turtukai is one of a series of fortresses defending the Roumanian capital from the south. It is situated on the southern bank of the River Danube, opposite Giurgiu, from which town a railroad runs to Bucharest.

SUBMARINE MINE LAYER CAPTURED

Strange German Craft Is Caught Off East Coast of England.

DARING DEED BY OFFICER

Goes Down In Diving Suit and Detaches Detonators From Mines—Novel Boat Is Laid Up in the Thames.

London.—A queer German submarine, caught just as it was about to put to mines off the East coast, has been placed on exhibition in the Thames and viewed by hundreds of thousands of sightseers.

This is not one of the fast, big Ehas which have preyed on shipping, but a little fellow without guns or torpedo tubes, built solely for mine-laying.

Some weeks ago a British destroyer was out escorting off the coast. When she sighted this submarine, the German boat was in difficulties. It was rainy weather. The submarine was close and the English seamen noticed that all the crew of the U-boat seemed to be on deck.

The British commander called out for the Germans to surrender. The latter hauled down the flag and put their hands above their heads. At a word from their commander they jumped into the water and swam for their life away from the ship.

Saves the Ship.

Internal explosives followed and at once, due to the war across the seas. The knowledge of this threatened crisis in the country's affairs has not made her less warlike. This fact cannot be overlooked. Before the visitor has chewed some laurel leaves. Fifty of the men were carried off by the explosion from this new source of raw material.

HATCHES A BROOD IN TREE

Hen Belonging to Delaware Man Makes Her Nest Twenty Feet in Air.

Georgetown, Del.—Perched 20 feet in the air, an old hen on the farm of Senator United States Marshal Henry Cannon Short, has hatched out ten chicks and is caring for them in a tree.

The hen selected a large tree and in reaching the limb on which she built her nest climbed an adjoining building. She has been seen to fly from the roof of the house to the tree and there she hatched out the brood. The chicks are said to be not yet set their feet on the ground, but in the limb carrier their food up to them. The owner highly prizes the hen and will allow no one to disturb her unique abode.

Gives Skin to Save Wife.

Tulsa, Okla.—To save the life of his wife who was believed to be fatally burned by a gasoline explosion, Joseph Hall, a Tulsa negro, has given a piece of skin from his body, according to physicians in charge of the case. Hall's wife was burned over 100 square inches of cuticle which was grafted on her body from that of her husband. Hall's wife is at her home in this city recently. H. L. Hall, a brother of Joseph Hall, who is also a negro,
