Still They Come

Ida M. Tarbell has announced her active support of President Wilson. "He is," she declared, "the first real progressive leader that this decade has produced."

Without slighting Mr. Hughes, for whom she expressed great respect, she said: "Certainly he has as yet not given any sign of understanding or sympathizing with the thing we call Progressivism, and, as far as I can see, President Wilson is the only leader we have who does."

Help Your Home Editor

If any one thing hampers the local newspaper more than any one thing, it is what might be termed neglect on the part of its readers.

Many things are happening every day in your town which your editor would be delighted to hear about and publish in proper form. Many a man who would be perfectly willing to help the editor out to that extent, simply neglects or forgets to inform him of the matter, or thinks it is not of sufficient importance.

If you would but stop and consider that it is not merely a matter of personally assisting the editor, but of benefiting your whole town by having a paper filled full of news, you would be glad to help him.

An editor, no matter how much he hustles, can do only a certain amount of work.

Are you helping your editor help your town—by giving him "all the news" you know of?

WHY I AM FOR WOODROW WILSON

By IRVING FISHER

Professor of Political Economy Yale University and Member of President Roosevelt's National Conservation Commission

I attended the three conventions in Chicago and St. Louis also and found that their platform committees were presented at Mr. Hughes' ceremony of acceptance and have read carefully the important documents and speeches of the campaign. After careful consideration, I have joined the Wilson Independent League. I thoroughly believe that the best interest of the country requires Mr. Wilson's re-election.

My chief reasons for voting for President Wilson follow:

1. The so-called issues of "Americanism," preparedness, the Lusitania incident, the Mexican situation, and all others that have grown out of foreign affairs appear to be merely red-herrings across the trail" intended to put the public off the scent. I have little doubt that, by diverting attention from home-issues to these trumped up issues, the Republican "old guard" hopes to "get over" on the public another "Payne-Aldrich" tariff. They expect to work the war and Mexico for all they are worth to both hide and guide their own private interests after the election.

2. Moreover, quite irrespective of the moral issue in "protection," it seems to me bad national policy to keep the tariff longer in politics. The election of Mr. Hughes would surely do this. That of Mr. Wilson would at least go far toward dropping the tariff out of politics and toward taking politics out of the tariff. It is worth nothing that if such a result can be accomplished through Democratic control, it will certainly not be through a tariff commission appointed by protectionists.

3. I believe, at heart, Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy is sounder than that which Mr. Hughes seems to endorse. Few of the American people realize, as Mr. Wilson realizes, that here, too, at present and a far worse one than American protection) of special interests capitalizing a government in their own behalf.

4. So far as our relation to European affairs is concerned, I do not think that we shall become more efficient by swapping horses while we are crossing a stream. A change may plunge us into war and it would certainly, in the four months between election and inauguration, paralyze our foreign policy completely. From November to March may be the most critical months of the war. If Mr. Hughes is elected neither we nor foreign nations will know, during that interim, exactly where we stand.

5. There is another great danger to our national efficiency in voting the Republican ticket. If Mr. Hughes is elected, the Senate will probably remain Democratic. Only a Republican landslide can make the Senate Republican and of such a landslide there seems no prospect.

6. The Democratic platform is more progressive and effective than the Republican. The plank on Woman Suffrage is more progressive than the Republican. Mr. Wilson is more careful than Mr. Hughes to avoid giving the impression of making promises beyond his party's platform, promises which he cannot give any guarantees of keeping. But he is, I have reason to believe, at heart more of a suffragist than Mr. Hughes, who seems to accept woman suffrage as a sort of necessary evil; he would marry the suffragette to get rid of her.

7. I think the Democrats have kept faith with the people and deserve re-election on their on record. Taken as a whole the Wilson administration has been more constructive than any previous administration for a generation. The Federal Reserve Act, the Farm Loan Act, the Underwood Act, the Child Labor Act and a half dozen others of importance are a monument, and an imposing one, to Mr. Wilson's efficiency in proposing, preparing and pushing legislation through Congress.

8. I also think that Mr. Wilson has withstood, with remarkable firmness, the tremendous pressure of office-seekers and maintained as well as any previous precedent, especially as a change of administration, the principles of civil service reform. The attempt to give to the country has failed.

9. Like many other voters, I am repelled, rather than attracted, by a campaign of carping criticism in which the speeches of the Republican candidate consist chiefly of fault-finding, while their facile aim is to be fooled. Ridicule is a cheap political device which ill befits Mr. Hughes.

Bound to Have a Title.

One W. H. Young, who has written a merry book you his adventures as a buccaneer, used to South America, tells of a Brazilian, Senor Dom Jose de Braganza, whose eagerness for title would no for that he printed on his cards, "Ex-passenger, first class, R. R. and P. C." He had none taken a trip, first cabin, on a Royal Mail Steam Packet company boat.

Quick Benediction.

"It's too hot for preaching," said the Hillville brother, "and I don't want to shock my soul for four weeks if you have cheerful sinners may think I'm a quitter. So I'm going to touch the conscience out of you an make a break for the door, or tumble through the windows, as fast as any home preacher, while we are a-sing-ing of the hymn: 'There's a better time a-comin' by an' by!'"

Colonel James W. Judy

(Chicago Examiner)

"Did some one say something about Woman's Suffrage in connection with the Woman of record origin?" queried Colonel James W. Judy, picturesque war veteran of ninety-three years, with a knowing twinkle in his eyes.

"Why, that's wrong, all wrong. When I was an auctioneer sixty years ago I used to travel from Chicago to San Francisco and from Candida to San Antonio, and I would always open up a sale and draw the ranchmen around me by letting fire with a rousing speech on women's rights. It used to make a hit in those days, and from all about the states are voting now it still appears to be popular."

Colonel Judy was born in the blue grass region of Kentucky and since 1851 has made his home in Tallula, Ill., where he and his wife operate a 1,200 acre farm. At present he is paying his annual visit to his cousin, Miss Joan M. Davis, of 1310 North La Salle street.

"When I was a boy in Kentucky every one was his own boss and lived independent of every one else." the Colonel confirmed. "We grew a patch of flax and raised our own sheep, and had mother made every stitch of clothing we kids had. We flailed out our wheat and ground our own grain. We dug our own wells, made our own candles, built our own homes; in fact, we were dependent on absolutely no one."

Of course there was no such thing as a railroad, a telephone or an automobile. Great lumbering coaches were the only means of getting about. We have been in many marvelous discoveries and inventions that have been brought about the wireless telephone I just gave Denny.

The Colonel raised the 114th company of Illinois Volunteers at the first call of Lincoln, who was a close friend of his father. For this work he was commissioned a captain. He fought at Vicksburg and took command of the regiment. He was intimately associated with Ulysses S. Grant and U. S. Grant Indeed, Judy tells it, he was the Executive regiment of Billy Sherman's army. "Grant and Sherman," he says, "were always calling out to me for information from them—how to get there, or anything down on the map of the country. Sherman would often ask me to go up two miles ahead of the army and bring back reports on innocent women and children. Grant would ask me nothing but purely military matters.

When the southerners were surrendering to Grant, he used to select hard cases to send them to us and we, as a state had always that secret it was the duty of the 114th to receive them."

For forty-four years Colonel Judy was a member of the Illinois Board of Agriculture and served as State Commissioner at the World's Fair and was in charge of the Illinois Building.

Children, although still in their teens, have been married for many years and in all of his travels the Colonel has never missed a train. He also asserts he has never missed an engagement, and he doesn't know what it is to be real sick. Today he enjoys the perfect use of all his faculties and says he is good for twenty years more.

Lee Axworthy, 2:00 1-4 Will Start At Ky's Great Trots

On the first or second day of Kentucky's Great Trots at Lexington, October 2-14, the champion trotting stallion of the world, Lee Axworthy, 2:00 1-4, will start to beat his own record. Taken as a whole the William Howard Taft administration has been more constructive than any previous administration for a generation. The Federal Reserve Act, the Farm Loan Act, the Underwood Act, the Child Labor Act and a half dozen others of importance are a monument, and an imposing one, to Mr. Wilson's efficiency in proposing, preparing and pushing legislation through Congress.

I also think that Mr. Wilson has withstood, with remarkable firmness, the tremendous pressure of office-seekers and maintained as well as any previous precedent, especially as a change of administration, the principles of civil service reform. The attempt to give to the country has failed.

9. Like many other voters, I am repelled, rather than attracted, by a campaign of carping criticism in which the speeches of the Republican candidate consist chiefly of fault-finding, while their facile aim is to be fooled. Ridicule is a cheap political device which ill befits Mr. Hughes.

The President Turned the Trick

Candidate Hughes is greatly worried over the way the president succeeded in averting the railroad strike and despises the passage of laws in advance of investigation. He is, there fore, attempting to belittle the whole business, but he will hate his labor for his pains. As Grover Cleveland said on one occasion, "A condition and not a theory," confronted Mr. Wilson and he did what the whole country approved. The new, big Democratic vote tried to embarrass the President in the matter, but he turned the trick and came out more than a victor and the country is pleased, and with the people. The laboring people especially are singing the praises of the man who wrote every emergency manfully and successfully.

Easy to Satisfy.

The Republican State Campaign Committee professes to be satisfied with the result of the cost of the poll tax which has been shown here to be $1.50 a piece, and the publication of a report that the success of the Republican party in national affairs will advance the welfare of the nation, but when state and their own bones."

Senator W. Bigger of Lexington, if the one hundred per cent candidate for Governor, has his work cut out for another think coming. Republicans generally are for culture and show by their votes, but they do not accept as truth everything that is told them. Mr. Bigger is likewise mistaken about the Democrats. They are not afraid of truth and are entirely unmanufactured by the Republican machine of the Kentucky Times is nothing about Mr. Bigger's record as Governor, and he who seems to stop short of the truth. Democrats are not to be fooled by anybody, and are perfectly well satisfied with conditions as they are. Mr. Bigger will be unable to realize, if such a realization were possible, that the people of the Republican party to power would advance them in the welfare of that party to the control of the government, and that they would be apologies to the taxation of many for the benefit of the few. The people do not permit themselves to be fooled—Democrats or Republicans—and there is no doubt about her this time, nor in her Nov. first, next and all times.

The Colonel Disgusted.

Authentic report is that Colonel Roosevelt is disgusted with the way the people in Kentucky Wilson than the Republican candidate for Governor, and that he has declined to make a campaign speech for Wilson in the state. Colonel Roosevelt is a patriot and has served with honor in the service of the United States and has been to the front more and from the limelight. It is not to be wondered at that he is disgusted with the Hughes performance in Kentucky. He has been in the habit of not playing second fiddle in the seat of the mighty, and he is not going to start by calling Americanism, he says and instead of demanding the German vote he has been treated with contempt, almost equal to cuff. The Democrats of Kentucky are not to be fooled, and few more votes for Wilson than it is possible for him to get for Hughes.

Looking Forward To Lexington Trots

As the Great Ten-Day Meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association, October 2-14, at Lexington draws nearer the admirers of this strictly American horse—the trotter—become more and more eager to hear the world acknowledge as the field in the first heat of this the Grand Circuit and the big Futurity meetings of the year. And no wonder, for amongst the $95,000 worth of events programmed there is the great classic, The Transylvania, a $5,000 race for 2:06 trotters, the field in which is indicative of an unusually hot contest; the $14,000 Kentucky Futurity for 2-year-old trotters, which furnishes the greatest test for the future youngsters of the entire light harness world. Then there is the big $9,000 event known as The Breeders' Stakes for 3-year-old trotters. The Board of Commerce, $5,000 pacing event for the 2:00 class—practically a free-for-all for all of which are the brazes every sensationally fast pacers in training; and the Castleton Cup, for 2:07 trotters, the field in which will be largely composed of "Transylvania" stallions. These are only a few of the good things in store and there are just numerous to recount here, but it is a safe prediction that with the ringing down of the curtain on the last day the most brilliant taste of trotting history will have been added to the records of the sport.

The Ninety-Sixth annual session of the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church, South, began at Nicholasville yesterday.

What would he give for the coffee you serve?

Like a million other w men, you can serve coffee that will give most anything to have—coffee which adds the day "right for all.

Everyone loves the rich flavor of Arbuckles' Coffee. Of all the coffees in America today, it is by far the most popular!

One woman says, "My husband used to lowalow his coffee and hurry off. Now we have Arbuckles' and you'd think it was Sunday the way he lingers over his breakfast."

Serve it in your home—see how the little early morning wrinkles disappear.

Until you try Arbuckles' you will never know what a difference good coffee can make in your home.

Arbuckles' Coffee is untouched by human hands. It is weighed, and sealed by machines,—machines which Arbuckle Bros. originated and which exclude any one the food effects in the world.

The grand jury in the final report to the Harrison Circuit Court Friday and adjourned. The report follows:

"We, the Grand Jury, at the September term of court, find we have examined 41 witnesses, and returned 10 true bills. We have examined the county jail and court house and find nothing to be in reasonably good condition.

We examined several asylums in regard to game and fish laws, and while we make various recommendations have been committed, for the want of evidence we have no indictments.

We have also looked over the prescriptions the doctors have given for whiskey and find some doctor have been given them, mostly to men who are affected with the drink habit, and ask that they discontinue same. We find from the books that one doctor in the county gave prescriptions through the month of August that amounted to over 50 gallons.

We have information before us that minors, without permission from parents, are permitted to play pool, and ask the next grand jury to investigate more closely.

Richelieu King Wins

(Courier Journal)

Richelieu King, a golden chestnut son of Bourbon King, conquered one of the greatest fields that ever trod the tanbark in a five-gaited saddle ring in the Kentucky Championship, the feature of the entire week of the horse show at the State Fair. Last year this veteran of the show ring was second in the big event, but this year he came back better fortified to win, and in his night he would not be denied Ridden by Walter Briggs the veteran trainer for Powhatan Woodrides, Richelieu King took the lead at the start and never let the honors slip from his grasp. He was crowned king of the five-gaited saddle horses of Kentucky, though the event was open to the nation and two candidates from another State competed.

In winning the Kentucky Championship Richelieu earned the highest honors he could for his master before he is retired to the nursery. He will retire from the tanbark in the full bloom of his glory.

William Jesse Carpenter, of Shelbyville, and Mary Catherine Stretcher, of Louisville, were adjudged champion girl and boy baby of Kentucky at the State Fair last week.

Accident Averted

Louisville & Nashville Railroad officials are congratulating themselves on the fact that the recently installed block system was in operation Wednesday night, September 13th. About five o'clock a southbound train in charge of Conductor Sam T. Farris, with Engineer M. Myers as rear brakeman, pulled into a siding at Shacklette Station, six miles north of Paris, to allow the passage of the south bound fast passenger train No. 71, running between Cincinnati and Knoxville. The engineer of the passenger train, on approaching the block signal, noticed it was set for danger and brought his train to a stop.

After a reasonable time to allow the block to clear, and it failed to so so, he moved at a slow speed until he came to the freight train. There the horses of the train that the switch had been left open, which caused the block system to register danger. After the proper speed of the through train at this point on the road is about forty-five miles an hour, a serious wreck would have result ed had not been warning.

On the arrival of the freight train at Paris the conductor and trainmen were questioned closely one and investigation by the road officials.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Jesse Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without fee ling me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in the last 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Stop The First Cold

A cold does not get well of itself. The process of warding out a cold wears you out, and your cough becomes serious if neglected. Hacking coughs drain the energy and sap the vitality. For 47 years the happy combination of soothing antiseptic balsams in Dr. King's New Discovery has healed coughs and colds. Try it today. Adv.

Are You Looking Old?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

"I hear you've been fishing for several days," they replied to the absentminded. "I was fishing for fish and devoted several days to the alleged sport without getting a bite."

How To Give Good Advice

The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example. This remedy has been in use for many years and enjoys an excellent reputation. Obtainable everywhere. Adv.

Low Temperature.

The lowest temperature ever observed by competent scientists was at Werkojansk, Siberia, Jan. 15, 1885, when a minimum reading of minus 93.4 degrees Fahrenheit was registered. The monthly mean tempera ture for January at Jakutsk, Siberia, is minus 45.8 degrees.

Don't Neglect Your Cold.

Neglected colds get worse, instead of better. A stuffed head, a tight chest must be relieved at once. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is Nature's remedy. Honey and glycerine heal the irritated membrane, antiseptic tar loosens the phlegm, you breathe easier and your cold is broken up. Pleasant to take, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey is an ideal remedy for children as well as grown-ups. At your Druggist, 25c. Adv.

Clear Bad Skin From Within

Pimply, muddy complexions are due to impurities in the blood. Clear up the skin by taking Dr. King's New Life Pills. "I Have Found A Wonderful Remedy For Catarrh," Says Mrs. Smith, Of Milton, Ky.

"Yes, I have found a wonderful remedy for catarrh. It is Tanlac," said Mrs. Elon Smith, who lives at Milton, Ky.

Just think, I am able to do my work and don't have any pains at all. I am sure that anybody who tries it will find it good."

Tanlac is a tonic which aids digestion, promotes healthy, refreshing sleep and strengthens the nerves

There is scarcely a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system.

Next, it enables a weak, worn out stomach to thoroughly digest its food, permitting the assimilation of the nourishing products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle.
