WHAT AM I?

"I am for your comfort, convenience and peace of mind. With me your hours are worth days. I give you joy and happiness, for I am at your service always. I earn you dollars. Your investment in me is nothing, for I repay it a hundredfold.

"I am made of the elements, steel, copper, brass, rubber, platinum, wood, cloth, etc. These, fashioned after the notions of men, make me what I am.

"The pride of my manufacture is the marvel of the industrial world. Thousands from all corners of the globe visit my home monthly.

"My manufacturer built me for service, durability and economy first, and put a price on me afterwards. Because I am built in enormous quantities my price is low. I bring to you greater value, per dollar invested, than any other commercial article known. My utility is never sacrificed to lower my price; on the other hand, my utility is increased and when possible my price lowered."

And Still They Come

That Wilson's clear-headedness, courage and progressive tendencies are against the independent men of the country to his standard has been confidently expected. Now as the issues between the two presidential candidates, the men and the things they stand for, are being discussed and made clear the lining up begins. Besides the large number of progressive and independents leaders already in the Wilson ranks, in the last two weeks the following significant things have come to pass:

THOMAS A. EDISON comes out by a strong interview approving Wilson's courage, wisdom and course of action and announces his support of him.

EDGAR BANCROFT, Boston's famous statistician and financial expert, a life-long Republican, comes over to Wilson. He is won to Wilson by Wilson's high conceptions and course in dealing with great national and international problems.

LUTHER BURBANK, the world's most distinguished scientist in plant life and development, publicly declares his confidence in Wilson as "The Greatest President America has ever had."

MISS IDA M. TARBELL, one of the foremost leaders of thought in America, whose history of the Standard Oil Company was nothing less than epochal in its effect, announces her active support of Wilson. She said: "He is the first real progressive leader this decade has produced."

MISS ELLA FLAGG YOUNG, Superintendent of Chicago's schools for years, announces her support of Wilson and is actively at work for his re-election.

MRS. ANNOINETTE FUNK, of Illinois, one of the most distinguished suffragettes in the nation, and a leading Progressive, announces that she will support Wilson, "Because I am a Progressive," and because Wilson's record on the suffrage question is better than Hughes'.

THE SPRINGFIELD (MASS) REPUBLICAN, by many believed to be the most influential paper in the United States, a paper that during its existence of nearly a century has held an unswerving course of conscientious devotion to the right as it saw the right, leaves itself in the Wilson ranks.

THE REJECTION by the National American Woman Suffrage Convention at Atlantic City of Mrs. Howard Gerry Rishell's petition in favor of Hughes, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the veteran, life pioneer leader, believing in its defeat.

OVER TWO THOUSAND of the working women of Chicago have formed the "Wilson Working Women's League," to work for the re-election of Wilson, because "He places human values above property values, the common people on a par with 'Big Business.'"

A Deciding Question

Let every farmer, every other business man, ask himself the question:

"Where now is the seat of financial authority in the United States, largely? Is it in Wall Street in the offices of the magnates of high finance, or in Washington at the National Government?"

Also—Where does he want it located?

The Republicans have rung the changes on "Words Not Deeds," "Wrapt Words," "Watchful Waiting," "Base Inaction," "Dishonorable Patience," and the like.

But after one month of Hughes, campaigning the cry is changed. It is, "The Hour of Force Now." Action, inaction, or action are or would be all the same to them—matter for abuse. But they have never yet accused Wilson of inaction. Are they afraid to use the word?

Methods---Not Deeds

The great practical service rendered the people by any act of President Wilson, the more it enters into the fabric of their every-day lives, the more will come the assurance of their continuing to support Republican papers.

Wilson kept the country out of war. How they abuse his method of doing it.

He settled the strike situation by the firm adherence to the simple right. How Republican editors rave over his method of doing it. Heretofore their slogan of criticism has been "words not deeds", but now when his words are few and his action prompt they are even more vociferous in their abuse.

Unhappy is the lot of Republican editors under the Wilson administration, in every crisis to avoid palpable folly, they are forced to the tacit admission that either his action was right while his method only was wrong, or his method was right and his action wrong.

One can detect a wailing note, a minor chord of misery in all their objections.

HURRAH! RINGLING DAY ALMOST HERE

BIG CIRCUS AND GREAT SPECTACLE OCCUPY FIVE TRAINS CHARGED WITH WONDERS

The big event for which the youngsters and grownups have been impatiently waiting is drawing near, for on Thursday, Oct. 5, Ringling Brothers' circus is to exhibit afternoon and night in Lexington.

Expectancy never ran so high before and it is likely that this district will send a large delegation to feed the elephants. Unusual interest centers around the gigantic spectacle, "Cinderella," with which the famous showmen are this season opening their wonderful main tent program.

"Cinderella" is probably the best loved of all fairy tales and to see it produced with more than 1,000 persons, hundreds of dancing girls and glorious pageants indeed gives promise of making childhood's golden dreams come true." In the same great tent, will come the marvelous circus numbers in which 400 men and horses performers scorned fearful animals and a galaxy of special features are introduced.

The majority of the acts are entirely new to America, the Ringling Brothers having secured the pick of those European performers who have been obliged to seek engagements in this country because of the war. Thenall-new street parade will take place next day morning.
