Church Attendance

The preacher as a public speaker is before the public more than any other man. He stands before the public people the week after week speaking, at a premium. If all the people who seek opportunity to hear the NEW preacher were consistently constant, it would revolutionize our social fabric.

Irreverence characterizes our age to a regrettable extent, and is manifested in many ways. Its effects are in constant evidence with a view to their disparagement and injury of character. A few months ago I viewed the Roman Catholic Cathedral in Covington. It was a week day. A few impressed with the reverential attitude of those who were about to worship, and of whom were seated in devotion, while others waited in silent reverence their turn for confessional. Some rules were suggested for the government of the worshipers, and were duly observed. Much like to repeat them here, if possible, as excellent were they. How different from services I have known us when young people have been allowed to run like wild colts of the prairies about the place dedicated to the worship of God, and the sanctuary of worship. The latter fact alone may not help but be detrimental to character. Keep in the minds of the rising between painful reverence and gross irreverence.

A prominent man told me a short time ago that was lacking a proper reverence for the ministry—Jesus said "A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, and among his own kin," and he that receiveth me receiveth him that sent me." Again—"He that heareth you heareth me; and he that despiseth you despiseth me; and he that despiseth me despiseth Him that sent me." Such scriptures as these and more links connecting mankind with Deity. He is God's ambassador, therefore he may be a little lacking in life, in his official relation he is God's representative, and your treatment of him is your treatment of God. Woe! Woe! Woe! to the despiser of God and the ministry.

Fidelity in church attendance is a manifestation of faith in God. In addressing an "Everybody at Church Day," in Atlanta, Ga., not long ago, one man said: "Men must vote for what they want. If they want to be governed, persons that are in open resistance upon religious services will hardly control more than a few who vote against religious service—a vote to remove them from society."

"Go to almost any one who is not a member of some church," he said, "and you will find that he is a church attendant and says: 'I see you don't do not believe in God.'

He will answer indignantly that he does believe in God, even if he does not go to church. He says that he has belief in Him by attending church and doing Him reverence. But how can he profess to know his sentiment if he does not cast his vote? The world is ruled by mere action of going to church a man says, 'I believe in God.'"

Fidelity in church attendance is a duty. B. T. MAYBERRY.

"He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad." There is faith and faith. One is in the heart, and another is in deed and word. The former is going to be unavailable to the individual. He is inactive more than a dormant seed. As illustrated by Duncan in "The Fortune Hunter." In that short story is revealed the effect of habit on the human character. Duncan in the "Saturday Evening Post" of June 17, 1916, and W. H. Ridgway says, "One of the real habits is the church-going habit. It is a valuable habit, too, for reasons entirely apart from religion. It compels one to get up early enough on Sunday to church every Sunday recreation far down in a week. Most grow accustomed to the observance, so that how you started down. The wicked fellow gets the good opinion of the community because he goes to church. The church-goer is associated with piety, honesty, truthfulness, reliability, purity, kindness, helpfulness and a dozen more virtues whether he has them all or not. Some years since a young doctor came to Goshen ville and hung out his shingle. He was a stranger to the people, but his training been raised that way. He arranged always to be in his seat Sunday morning. He married and lived in his little folks are with him. That young doctor has now become THE doctor of the town. Was his success phenomenal? Not at all. It was the church practice (?) they can't get out to church. The honest doctor in town" gets there. (Exod. 20:8; Ps. 122:1.)

In a woefully backsliden age of the church (?) said by the youth of its members, "I'll be glad when I get old. It is vain to serve God; and what profit is it that we have kept his ordinance, and that we have walked mournfully before the Lord of hosts? And now we call the proud happy, yea, they that work wickedness are built up; yea, they that tempt God are even delivered. THEN they that FEARED THE LORD SPAKE OFT ONE TO ANOTHER; AND THE LORD HEARKENED AND HEARD IT, AND A BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE WAS WRITTEN BEFORE HIM FOR THEM THAT FEARED THE LORD AND THAT THOUGHT UPON HIS NAME. AND THEY SHALL BE MINE, SAITH THE LORD OF HOSTS, IN THAT DAY WHEN I MAKE UP MY JEWELS; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him. Then shall ye return and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him that serveth God and him that serveth Him not."

If one goes anywhere, he or she should go to church, not that everybody else is going, but should go there not as long as they are able to travel; church-going should be primary. Giving vouchers and not going to church ought to be self condemnatory, and is to the plainly reflective. Faithfulness in church attendance is not an end in itself, but a means to an end, a mere indication of the supremacy of God's interests. It has been the practice of the best men and women in all ages. We may not hope, in this life, to be like Christ in many things, but in this one we can, i. e., in church attendance. "As his custom was." It is said of the great Apostle to the Gentiles, Acts 17:2—"As his manner or custom" was. Other eminent scripture examples might be produced. It is recognized as commendable of the best in all ages. "Custom is second nature," etc., etc., says Oliver Wendell Holmes. "A regular church-goer, should go for various reasons if I did not love it, but I am fortunate to find in attendance upon the house of God gratification, whether I can accept all their creeds or not. For I find that there is in the corner of my heart a little plant called Reverence, which wants to be watered about once a week."

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

On account of the terrible snow and the irregularity of the trains the attendance at the mid-winter meeting of the county superintendents held at Frankfort last week was not as largely attended as it otherwise would have been. There were present seventy county superintendents, ten or twelve city superintendents and other educational workers.

A splendid program was carried out. The lectures in the evenings were very interesting and helpful especially the one of Dr. Frank McMurry from Peabody College for Teachers.

Wednesday Governor Stanley and wife entertained us at the mansion, which was greatly enjoyed by the eighty invited guests.

The week was a helpful and profitable one and much credit is due Supt. Curry, the president, who presided so wisely and well. And many words of kindly things said of the great strides being made in the advancement of education in Kentucky by our most excellent Superintendent of Public Instruction V. O. Gilbert.

Next session Friday night and by 7:30 Saturday morning were in the office and found that Mr. J. D. Harvey and Farris Brother's had kindly had my office and the circulating room cleaned and ready for the teachers' meeting, for which we thank them. Mr. Farris Brothers has resigned his position at the court house to engage in new work always kind and courteous in keeping up my office. We were very fortunate in securing Mr. Brothers, whom every one likes. We shall miss him very much. We are very glad to have Mr. Harvey as we know will be a success also in the performance of his duty.

By 10 o'clock thirty-three teachers from the county, retired teachers and their wives and several others from the city gathered in the court room.

The volunteers of the town were called by telephone that no-ning and invited, or rather asked if women's help would be needed. Responses were all in the negative. Everybody busy, or were not feeling well enough. Mrs. Bolton, pastor of the Baptist church. We had hoped to have some minister open the meeting with prayer, another to sing, another to talk and the other to pronounce the benediction, as we usually do, but the only one we asked him if he would help us out by doing all and with that great big heart of his and that bright, sunny smile, born of a co-operative, Christian spirit back of it, he kindly consented to do his best. And every one present enjoyed him very much, both his talk and the two beautiful songs which he sang.

Miss Anna Mathies gave two most excellent readings in that pleasant and attractive manner of hers.

Next Prof. J. V. Chapman the new State Supervisor of Elementary Schools, was introduced by the superintendent. It is needless to say that he also was a treat and was well received. Prof. Chapman is one of the really great men, and one of the State and with the ability he has put to the experience and to a few of his work we know that much improvement will come to elementary schools through his wise and Christlike leadership. Prof. Chapman complimented our county as being in the lead in attendance, and expressed his surprise at the large attendance considering the deep snow and bad roads occasioned by same. We would like to wish to thank the faithful teachers who attend, some driving twelve miles to get here.

Prof. Squires and Mrs. Taylor made some excellent remarks to the teachers which were also enjoyed.

After this meeting the teachers were paid their fifth month's salary.

Prof. Chapman was taken by N. B. Woods to visit our Graded City School building and he said it was the best building for a town of this size in Kentucky. He also gave Mr. Woods a compliment as being a very enthusiastic school man, but we also know here know that already. We certainly appreciate the visit of Prof. Chapman and we hope he will have him back soon to give his address on "Two Different Conceptions of A Education." We have heard it and know what it is.

Don't forget the County Diploma Examination this coming Friday and Saturday, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. Don't be late and don't fail to do your duty in the face of the bad weather last month. Respectfully, Miss Ella Bramblett, primary teacher at East Union, had twenty-three little folks all week. She has had fifty-one enrolled and has averaged over forty in attendance.

I am in the office all week.

Down South We Learn To Spell

I can spell my name: S-O-V-E-R E-I-G-N. And I know what it means—good blood and right stock—the finest ever!

My! Isn't there a lot to learn! Have to keep your eyes and ears open. And the Governor says you can't get it all out of books.

My folks keep telling me: "Remember you are a Southern gentleman. Be clean; be sweet; be good. A good cigarette burns to a smooth, even ash—it never parches the tongue nor dries the throat."

So I'm saying to you—it doesn't matter how you spell cigarette, if you pronounce it –SOVEREIGN. You can rely on real old, smooth, mellow Virginia and Carolina tobacco. Quality tells—and

You Folks of the South KNOW good blood!

Something For Nothing

Did you ever have a agent or spectacle peddler ask to see your glasses? Then while inspecting them, begin to knock the man who does not travel? The usual line of talk is "Who Fitted Them?" You answer and say, "So and So." They look wise and give you the key place and say, "How can you trust your eyes to such a man?"

HOW MUCH DID THEY COST?

Etc. Then they usually say, "Why I can fit you for one-half of that; being from a larger town makes me much more intelligent than if I was from your burg."

This talk of promise bargains does not mislead thinking people. The man who offers you glasses at a ridiculously low price is either a fool or a faker. If the glasses are worth $5, he can get $5 for them. If they are only worth 35c, or a $1, you do not want to pay $5 for them.

Whether you pay $ 2 or $5 or more for a pair of glasses, by consulting me you are assured of a correct examination made with modern instruments in rooms and light and distance and proper charts for that special purpose. In this manner you are assured of full value and in no other manner are you when it is a question of Eyesight? Think of this when, next, the agent or doctor from the city knocks at your door. I am here every day to make good. I employ no agents or peddlers.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. "Before I began to use Cardui, my back ached and my head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big store."

I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always helps me.

Headache, back ache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, are sure signs a woman's health is suffering. Start using Cardui at once. You cannot take a better medicine. It is helping Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

Obituary

On the night of January 13, 1917, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Burke, and took from them their precious little darling, Howell Tilden, aged 7 months and 17 days. He was spared them but a short time. All was done that loving hands could do, but God in his infinite mercy doeth all things well.

We know not, dear parents as those who have no hope for the Lord giveth and He taketh away. Bless his holy name.

"We loved him; yes, we loved him, But angels loved him more; And they have gently called him To the golden shore.

The golden gates were open,
And a gentle voice said, 'Come';
And angels from the other side
Welcomed little Howell home."

SMILE MIRRORS ROBUST HEALTH

Dayton Man One of Many Who Have Shaken Off "Grouch."

"Cheerfulness is the first essential to success in life," said the Teacher Man.

"Good health is the first essential to cheerfulness.

"Robust health is reflected in a man's face. His smile indicates his physical condition just as a glossy look betrays health worries. Take the following case of a Dayton man.

"For months Charles Emrick, foreman of the Blue Back & Penn Tobacco company, suffered from various bodily aches. Sometimes he couldn't eat a bite of breakfast, but that was before he tried Tanlac."

Mr. Emrick said:

"Some nights I acted as I had to get up to eat, and my grouchy appetite in the morning I would refuse any breakfast. I was so nervous I was afraid to go to my mouth, because I was a friend advised me to try Tanlac. It did me lots of good. That's why I'm advising others to try it. It toned up my whole system and drove off that grouchy feeling."

To The Good Citizens And Farmers Of Nicholas County

We appeal to you to assist in trying to save the quail, pheasants, and song and insectivorous birds from perishing while the earth continues to be covered with snow and ice, by scattering a small amount of feed on your plantation while passing about. Nature has been very kind to us this year, as we have had and the little creatures are now in a suffering condition, and as a Christian people we should give this matter attention at once. It is impossible for the Game Wa den to get over the country in time to save the birds, and we appeal to the ladies from the citizens and farmers all over the country. Please give us a helping hand, and send amount of bill for feed used for this purpose with name and address to

Wheat $1.90

There was an advance of ten cents in the price of wheat to $1.90 a bushel on the local market last week. Flour has advanced forty cents on the barrel to $11.30, with a twenty-four pound sack now selling for $1.40, the highest price in many years.

Thanks

Congratulations to the excellent Carlisle Mercury—30 years old and still young.—Cynthiana Democrat.
